Covid-19 Policy Updates & Information UF Quest Office UF Quest Office is open Monday-Friday during normal business hours. If you would like to speak in person or by Zoom, please make an appointment. You can reach Dr. Andrew Wolpert, Director of UF Quest, at 352-273-3702 or wolpert@ufl.edu and Ms. Kendall Kroger, Academic Assistant II at UF Quest 1 and IDS 1161, 352-273-3803 or kendall@ufl.edu. Most Quest courses in Fall Courses will be offered 100% online in sync for Fall 2020. Please refer to the Course Calendar for the days and hours that departments will meet online. If a Quest course is to be taught equally 100% online, no meetings are listed for that course within the course schedule. Descriptions of individual Quest 1 courses are available on the UF Quest website. Quest Course Development and Quest 2 Rollout Quest 1 and Quest 2 courses continue to be developed. The Quest Curriculum Committee has completed a review of more than 30 new Quest course ions for the Spring 2021 semester. In addition, UF Quest invites faculty members to offer new Quest courses for Fall 2021. Please refer to Call for Quest 1 and Quest 2 Course Offers. Quest 2 is on track for full implementation scheduled to take place in the 2021-2022 academic year, but UF Quest is also working with departments that need to make adjustments to their schedules during the trial phase due to staffing constraints as a result of covid-19. After the full implementation of the Quest 2 program, incoming students do not have to complete the Quest 2 requirement until their second year (i.e. before the summer of 2023). This gives departments a lot of flexibility over the next two years when they need to adjust course offers due to disruptions caused by the outbreak. Transplant students who take A.A. from a non-public Florida institution are required to consult a counselor about the overall educational requirements they must complete. Why are new students taking quests? On May 1 and May 4, most new students were sent a Quest survey to find out what semester the quest 1 course was and how they could choose Quest 1. During the preview, new students designated Summer B or Autumn 2020 to complete the Quest 1 requirement will be able to see the Quest course organized for them in their programs. New UF Online students, PaCE students, honor students and student athletes did not receive surveys. During the preview, they will be able to select Quest courses. Are all the new students taking the survey? UF Online students, PaCE students, honor students and all new students except student athletes receive surveys. Students with AA degrees are required to complete the UF Quest survey. The first question asks if there is an AA rating. If the AA comes from a public institution in Florida, you'll be hurt that you don't have to enroll in a Quest 1 course. If your AA comes from another institution, you should consult a consultant about the general training requirements you need to complete. Do I rank my preferences in the survey? No, summer B is your period and you are asked to list 3 preferences and 7 preferences for the fall 2020 period. As you noted in the survey, every effort will be made to assign you a Quest course based on one of your non-ranking preferences. During the preview, you'll know which course you're assigned to. If you prefer a different course, you can check the openings in other sections during the program adjustment. If the 2021 Spring Semester is the period you specify, the list of Quest courses for the 2021 Spring Semester is not yet available, so it is not possible to specify your preferences. In the fall, you'll receive an email with a link to the 2021 Spring semester Quest 1 course offers, so you can decide which Quest 1 course you want to take. When registration opens for spring 2021, you will be able to choose your Spring Quest course. Why are students set a semester to complete the UF Quest 1 requirement? (Updated 5/14) In order to complete the UF Quest 1 requirement, students are set for Summer B, Autumn 2020 or Spring 2021 to have sufficient clarity to choose from quest 1 courses, which will be of the most interest to students each semester. Why did I choose a Quest course for Summer B or Autumn 2020 through the survey, not during preview? During each Preview session, the seats are randomly released in various classes. In this way, each student has the chance to have a class that they want or need when they join their Preview. If the seats for Quest are published in Preview, you may see one or two Quest seats in your session, but they may not be in the Quest course that interests you the most. By ingesting students ahead of preview for Summer B and Fall Mission courses, an algorithm can be used to match one of the largest number of students' own (uns ranked) preferences. A survey is not required for students designated to complete the UF Quest 1 requirement during the spring semester because advance enrollment for the spring semester occurs in a shorter time frame than preview. You'll be able to see seats in many different Quest courses, so we don't need to book you before spring registration happens. What happens after you complete the survey? Students will be made every effort to assign Quest 1 lessons according to the preferences specified in the survey. However, if you prefer a different Quest 1 course, you can publish the course during Preview and check the openings in other Quest courses during program setup. If 2021 is the period set for spring semester, you can select a Quest 1 course at the time of pre-registration for the spring semester. If you choose to complete the requirement in Summer B or fall 2020, you can check for clarity during the scheduling adjustment. What happens if I didn't complete the survey by May 8th? If you haven't entered the survey by the deadline, don't worry. We protected you! If you want to complete this requirement in Summer or Autumn, you can check for clarity during the scheduling adjustment. What if I didn't complete the survey and I have an A.A. degree? If your A.A. comes from a Public Institution in Florida, you've completed your Gen Ed requirements and don't need to enroll in a Quest 1 course. If your A.A. isn't from a Florida public institution, you should consult a consultant at Preview about the Gen Ed requirements you need to complete. If you need to complete the UF Quest 1 requirement, you will be able to select a Quest 1 course for spring 2021 when pre-registration for the Spring semester begins. What if I have another question?
