Next is Hasbro's FurReal Friends Toys mechanical plush animals that interact with their owners. Owners play with the animal, caressing it or feeding it a game of food. The pet reacts by moving its body and making noise. Some FurReal friends even respond to your voice or let you ride them. Initial setup Although most furReal pets come pre-assembled, larger pets may require some basic build before use. Butterscotch Pony, for example, requires you to place his head on his body; Simply snap your head in place, insert three screws into the sides of the pony's neck, and zip up the fur closed to cover the neck joint. Pull off the plush flap that covers the battery compartment, which is usually on the pet's underbelly. Unscrew the lid of the battery compartment with a screwdriver. Insert the batteries you need into the battery compartment. Replace the battery cover and screw it in place. Turn on the power switch next to the battery cover to turn on. FurReal Friends have several sensors on their bodies so they can feel you petting them. Pet your FurReal friend to see how he reacts to one. Try scratching your cheeks, petting your back or grabbing his tail. See how he reacts to each type of interaction, and listen to the sounds he makes. Find out what your FurReal likes and what doesn't. Some FurReal friends come with accessories. The cookie, furReal dog, comes with a cookie treatment that you can feed it as a reward. Butterscotch Pony comes with a brush that you can use to look after her. Use accessories to add another layer of interaction with your Friend FurReal. Some FurReal animals have additional interactive features. Biscuit responds to voice commands; try to tell him to sit or lie down. Butterscotch Pony will make walking noises when you sit on your back and press its rear. If you leave your FurReal friend alone for three to five minutes, he will sleep. Scratch your head or pat it back to wake him up again. If you're going to leave your friend Alone for a long period of time, turn on the power switch to save battery life. Care and precautions to clean your FurReal friend, brush his fur with a soft brush and wipe it with a damp cloth. To prevent staining, clean any dirt from your pet FurReal FurReal as soon as you notice it. Never put a furReal pet in the washing machine. If the FurReal pet gets wet, remove the batteries immediately and let it dry. Replace the battery when it is completely dry. Never leave the animal under direct sunlight or near a strong heat source, as high temperatures can damage the animal. What it is is not surprising - Ricky's FurReal Trick-Lovin' Pup is one cool interactive dog toy. With over 100 sound and motion combinations and a very cute look, this puppy is all about providing a realistic pet experience with some paw-some surprises along the way. Ricky comes with puppy treats and a container to hold them and a special bone. It has various activation points to start the fun, including the nose, upper lip, cheek, back and right paw. In addition, there is a hidden microphone on the forehead. You can also pose for Ricky by moving his hind legs so that he can be in a sitting or standing position. If you want Ricky to do the trick, place the bone toy on his nose and make a loud sound to watch Ricky flip the dice and catch it in his mouth. Or tap Ricky's right front paw to hear him sing. If you pat both cheeks, Ricky will give you a dog lick. You can also feed Ricky his treats one at a time. Make sure it sits, though. Then, pat his back to get his poop treatment back! Funny? This toy dog is adorable! Ricky has the kind of dog look that makes you just want to scoop him up and give him a big hug. Add in interactive features and you have a pet toy that kids will have a lot of fun to play with.
