The EU Market

The European Single Market, Internal Market or Common Market is a single market which seeks to guarantee the free movement of goods, capital, services and labour “four freedoms” – within the European Union (EU). The market encompasses the EU’s 28 member states and has been extended, with exceptions, to Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway through the Agreement on the European Economic Area (EEA) and Switzerland through bilateral treaties.

The European Union is the second largest economy in the world in nominal terms after the United States according to purchasing power parity or PPP. The European Union's GDP was estimated to be $18.8 trillion in 2018, representing about 22% of global economy.
