PVE/PVP Builds Note: This is only to be used to report spam, advertising, and problematic problematic fighting, or rudely) posts. There are a number of types of servers in Conan Exiles, some of which are PvP-oriented. You don't need to burst other players down in PvE, after all. Tricks that work in PvP don't necessarily translate too well into Conan Exiles PvE or PvE Conflict. This is why you should be well aware of these differences before venturing into the exiled Lands.Follow our guide below for all the Conan Exiles PvE tips and tricks that you need when running on your adventure attempt. PvE Rules and Strategies The main differences between the three types of servers are as follows: PvE servers allow players to damage NPC and creatures, but not other players, thralls, or their buildings. PvP servers offer a full player vs player experience in which they can hurt each other as much as they want. However, damage to the building is only active in prime time (5-11pm). PvE Conflict is a combination of PvE and PvP in which players can hurt each other, but only in prime time. Damage to the building is inactive at all times. Most players will probably choose the PvP segment of the game, but the PvE experience can be just as satisfying, if not more so. The Resource Collection Survival Element is common in PvE. In the beginning, it is important to collect food and resources such as wood and stone to build your first shelter. You will be able to improve it over time and turn it into a real private fortress. Get ExperienceIn Conan Exiles you get XP points to explore unknown territories, so don't be afraid to go out. However, don't forget your own safety, and craft at least the simplest axe to protect yourself. Creating and killing creatures also provides an experience that opens up new recipes that you can use to create even better weapons and equipment. Clans and ReligionLater on, you can create or join the clans of other players. Together you can do much more and it will make you individually and your clan stronger. This is your one-way ticket to take on more challenging tasks. Having and making sacrifices for one of the gods in the game is also important. As a result, you will be able to get a unique weapon and armor. Best PvE WeaponStill Trident Damage: 32 Armor Penetration: 8.1% Longevity: 1260 Weight: 5.25 Steel Trident is an exceptionally effective weapon in PvE because it has a large range, giving you a huge advantage over any type of enemy. However, the trident is mainly used against large creatures where stopping power is more important than accuracy. In order to craft a steel trident, you need the following elements: 8x branch 30x steel bar 8x Twine Blacksmith's Bench Warhammer Damage: 36 Armor penetration: 24.3% Longevity: 1440 Weight: 6.3 Warhammer a little heavy, but its penetration armor for all ever seen. It's also a bit slow, but you can always switch your weapon when you need it, and use a hammer at a more appropriate time. For example, when you need to break through the armor and break some bones, all you have to do is make sure it connects. If you want to craft this, then you need: 6x Shaped Wood 50x Steel Bar Blacksmith's Bench Ancient Onion Damage: 12 Armor Penetration: 8.1% Longevity: 800 Weight: 4.2 Melee Weapons Are Great, but What Do You Do When You Need to Take The Target Out at a Distance? That's when you really need a bow, and there's no better than an ancient Bow.Craft it and use it with razor arrows and you'll understand why bows are so highly valued in PvE. Craft recipe is a bit expensive, but you have to manage it, however: 6x Shaped Wood 13x Thick Leather 13x Silk 5x Steel Bar Carpenter Bench Best PvE BuildsStrength Build Strength: 35 Vitality: 25 Grit: 20 Encumbrance: 30 Survival: 10 Central Point of this assembly revolves around the Lion Axe - a massive weapon with 53 points of damage that gives a high bonus to your strength. Another element that can add an incredible amount of strength to build is the Hyperborean Slaver Armor. If you're going to build strength, then that's the way to go. Precision Build Precision: 50 Vitality: 25 Grit: 30 Encumbrance: 15 This assembly is made for archers. There are some amazing bows in Conan Exiles, so if you like this style of play, be sure to invest your points in precision. The higher it is, the more damage your bows will deal with. Some of the best bows in the battle game are Bessie and Eye Khan. You will also need a Shemite Armor, which gives a bonus to your accuracy as well. Grit Build Vitality: 20 Grit: 50 Agility: 30 Encumbrance: 20 This build is very mobile, as it revolves around endurance that allows you to chase creatures. That's why you need a spear - a great choice for sand to build. The best choice of Spear Black Dragon Pike.The best armor for this type of Vanir Settler build is a set that gives a bonus to your sand. The best basic building locations Are, if you're planning to settle in a place that's as protected as possible, there's probably no better place than Shattered Springs, located in the desert biome. It is almost completely surrounded by mountains that do not allow anyone inside except through a few holes you can use to protect yourself. Another feature of this area is that it constantly produces toxic fumes that keep the NPC from this place. Of course, you can get around it and equip a sandstorm mask that will protect you from fumes. The Mounds of DeadAnother is a great place to settle located in the western part of the biome tundra. It's a pretty dark and unattractive place, but there's a lot of forest around, albeit a complete undead. This place is also several ununlockable unlockable that can be found around the lake region. Thugra's Stand is located north of the Invocation Place and east of the Creator's Hand. It has a fairly high plateau that can be used for basic construction. The fact that your base is located above the ground in a completely hard-to-reach place makes it a really great place. Conan Exiles PvE Conflict Tips and TricksBase Defense TipsSince PvE Conflict servers allow other players to attack you, there is a great need to properly defend your base. The first thing you need to do is increase the resistance of your walls with the help of the Sandstone Foundation.Then, you have to make sure that you can survive the raids. Build your base in a remote area and strengthen it. You should also leave as few things as possible before you log out. This means that you need to use most of your materials, so the Raiders are left with nothing to steal. Finally, if you still want to keep a few valuable things safe, then create a hidden stash from the base, and keep your stuff there.Combat TipsIf you choose a weapon, whether it's an axe, bow, or sword, be sure to recognize it as well as you can. You need to know the exact range and damage it produces in different situations. Never attack first, but let other players come at you. When you are in a protective position, you have a better understanding of your situation. Always carry aloe potions, yog meat or ragweed. They will keep you alive. In addition, you can carry at least one good shield to protect yourself. Conan Exiles PvE Fast ServersHere is a three-popular U.S. PvE server with active player bases.
