

☐

I'm not robot

reCAPTCHA

Continue

The highwayman cyberpunk

Side Behind The Gods O'Rama in Rancho Coronado East The Highwayman is a hidden side found in the game world by V in Cyberpunk 2077. Walkthrough To begin this side job, first, head over to Rancho Coronado East and travel up the street to the Gods'O'Rama gun shop. Around the back you'll find an accessible garage with a deal of a ghost horse to the left of it.

Once there, V and Johnny will comment on the scrapped Apollo hood inside. To officially start the side job, access the terminal on the opposite side of the garage. After reading the data stored, exit the terminal and W will pick up the photo of James and Josie resting next to it. This prompts V and Johnny to look for James to find more about their situation. To find James, travel to Japantown West and head south to the nearby public space with a 24/7 convenience stand. James is sitting on the same bench in the photo, in front of the 24/7 stand. Talking to him will begin your investigation into what happened to Josie. James and Josie's bench in front of the 24/7 stand To find out what happened to Josie, head to Metro: Glen North on the map. From the metro, travel east on the sidewalk with your scanner active until your near a drop point. Your scanner will pick up a dried blood splatter on the ground. Immediately to your right is an alleyway; and behind a dumpster, Josie's body. There will be a shared labeled "Bad news" which details Josie's cause of death as well as information on the location of the bike she stole from a Tyler Claw boss. After having an exchange with Johnny, it's time to return to James in Japantown and confront him about what you've discovered. What happens to James after confronting him is up to you. After the confrontation, you will need to find the Tyler Claw boss's bike in order to complete the job. The shard found on Josie's body mentions it being stowed on Maestros turn by bus stop. This will send you to the All Foods plant in the Northside of Watson. Across street from the travel point, you'll see the "ghost house" that Josie also mentioned in her diary. The bike is in the nearby garage. Pinned in the date that James and Josie met (02/14) into the keypad next to the garage and it will open. Journal Entry There's a still of some young guy in the garage who looks like he has a crush on Josie. He calls himself "Tsuumaade". She told me his name was Josie. She said they were going to get married. I don't know if she was kidding or not. But I'm pretty sure she wasn't. It's weird how she died. I wish I could have seen her one last time before she went home. I guess she didn't want to go home either. I mean, I can't let side what he did to this poor girl. Another mystery, another missing person in Night City. Used to be the cops would put out a search for people like her. Today, her fate's in your hands. Objectives Find James. Find out what happened to Josie. Find James and confront him. Find the stolen Tyler Claw bike. Notes This is one of the few still jobs in the game not explicitly labelled on the map. When confronting James, the first dialogue choice, "So you had a choice...", results in a peaceful resolution but the second causes him to attack. It is up to you whether to revenge Josie or let him live with his guilt. Trivia The Highwayman is a poem by Alfred Noyes published in 1906, with a story arc closely tied to the themes of the quest. The last two stanzas include imagery of a ghostly horse and rider. Gallery The garage where V starts the side job James' location on the map James and Josie's bench in front of the 24/7 stand Josie's location on the map The alleyway where Josie's body is found Location of the Tyler Claw bike on the map The package containing the ARCH Narcan "Itsuumaade" Add a photo to this gallery Community content is available under CC-BY-SA unless otherwise noted. The Highwayman is one of the Side Jobs in Cyberpunk 2077. The Highwayman can be acquired from a garage in Rancho Coronado. Completing Side Jobs (Side Quests) in Cyberpunk 2077 rewards you with experience points and may reward you with items. These Side Jobs can also influence the main story outcome. The Highwayman Objectives Find James. Find out what happened to Josie. Find James and confront him. Find the stolen Tyler Claw bike. Talk to James. The Highwayman Walkthrough James & Josie When you arrive at Josie's garage in Rancho Coronado, go inside and scan the area for clues. This will lead you to check the laptop and read a message sent by James, as well as a photo of the couple on the desk. Next, head to Japantown and look for James. You'll find him sitting on a bench, north of the bridge that's leading to the south of Kabuki. Approach him and show him the photo. After speaking to him and telling him you'll get in touch, your next location is the metro station, south of Memorial Park, near the Glen North fast travel station. Look for the metro by the DROP Point (Directly East of the fast travel Glen North). Use your scanner and you'll find a trail of blood, follow it until you reach a nearby alley. Here, you'll find Josie's body behind a dumpster together with a message that was unsent to James - go back to James and confront him. After talking to James, head to Josie's secret garage which is across the road from All Foods Warehouse. The door to Josie's garage is locked, but if you paid attention earlier when you were talking to James, you'll learn about the code. (02/14.) Inside the garage, you'll find the stolen Tyler Claw motorcycle which you can claim if you want to - this closes the job. How to unlock The Highwayman Complete the Ride first. To formally trigger this job, head to Josie's garage which is at the foot of the dam in Rancho Coronado, scan the motorcycle and take the key. Then, head to the Tyler Claw bike in the garage in the Northside of Watson. Once you're done with the mission, you can finish it easily by going straight to it. This is a walkthrough for The Highwayman, a Side Quest in Cyberpunk 2077. Read on to learn all the available choices for completing The Highwayman, how to get the best possible result, tips and strategies for the Quest, and all available rewards. Quest Type Side Act 1 Quest No. Lifepath All Enlarge The Highwayman becomes available after completing The Ride. First Josie's garage in Rancho Coronado and check the message on her laptop to start this Side Job. Quest Rewards The full list of Rewards for this Quest is coming soon! Objectives 1 Enlarge Find James.You can find James sitting beneath a tree at the western edge of Japantown, near the bridge leading to Watson. 2 Enlarge Find out what happened to Josie.Head to the metro station by a drop point north of The Glen and start scanning the blood trail on the ground. At the end of the trail, you'll find Josie's body beside a dumpster. Pick up the shard to continue. 3 Enlarge Find James and confront him.If you replied with the second dialogue option, you'll have to kill James in front of the crowd. 4 Enlarge Find the stolen Tyler Claw bike.The bike is in Josie's secret garage. You can find it just across All Foods (where you got the Flathead) but the door is locked. The password is the date on the bench where you found James, which is 02/14. If you're on PS4, press the numbers using the ○ button. Once the garage is open, the Nazaree "Itsuumaade" is yours. If you're playing Cyberpunk 2077 using PS5, you need to use the ○ button to type the code to the garage. Type in 02/14 to open the door and claim the Nazaree "Itsumade". Complete Story Walkthrough Quest Types Main Quests Side Quests Gigs See more comments (4 Comments)Opinions about an article or post go here. Cyberpunk 2077's The Highwayman side job sends fans to find James, Josie, and a stolen Tyler Claw bike, and its guide is here to help. The Highwayman is a side job in Cyberpunk 2077 that sends players to do some detective work, first tracking down a character named James, then finding out what happened to Josie, and finally picking up a stolen Tyler Claw bike. However, there are no in-game waypoints associated with these objectives, making them somewhat difficult to complete. It is with that in mind that this guide is being written, and indeed Cyberpunk 2077 sends players will find the locations of James, Josie, and the Tyler Claw bike in what follows. To begin with James, players that are trying to locate him in this Cyberpunk 2077 side mission should turn their attention to the bridge that connects Watson and Westbrook. More specifically, the character can be found situated on a bench just north of that bridge on the Westbrook side, and his red mullet haircut should catch the eye. For those fans that need further instruction, the video below highlights James's exact position. Continue scrolling to keep reading Click the thumb below to start this article in quick view. Start now After speaking with this Cyberpunk 2077 character, players will be instructed to find out what happened to Josie, and they should look to The Glen area of Heywood. In this area, fans should make their way to the Metro Eburike station and activate their scanners near the Drop Point that is located there. Doing this should reveal a blood stain on the ground, and a trail of blood should lead to Josie's body lying face down against a wall, and they will receive a short dialogue after clicking the spot. This new objective sends players to find the stolen Tyler Claw bike, and it is in a garage just northeast of the All Foods Plant fast travel point in Watson (Northside). To enter this garage, fans must simply input 02/14, the date that was scrawled on James's bench, onto the adjacent keypad. As soon as the garage doors opens, players will receive indication that they have completed the Highwayman mission and acquired a vehicle. That vehicle is the Nazaree "Itsumade" motorcycle that is found within the garage, and fans will be able to summon it, just as they can in Cyberpunk 2077, moving forward. They are also free to hop on the bike straightforwardly, drive it out of the garage, and head to their next mission with the help of their brand new set of wheels. Cyberpunk 2077 is available now on PC, PS4, Switch, and Xbox One, with PS5 and Xbox Series X versions coming in 2021. More: Cyberpunk 2077: All Fast Flight Locations (& How To Beat Them) Super Smash Bros. Ultimate 'Leaker' Makes Unlikely Claim About Next DLC Characters Added The Author William Parks (1450 Articles Published) William Parks is an editor at Game Rant with a background in visual arts. Upon graduating from the University of Southern California's School of Cinematic Arts, William entered the realm of fine arts administration, assisting curators, artists, and film art professionals with the realization of contemporary art exhibitions. All the while, William's passion for games remained. William's first console was the NES, but when he was eight, it was The Legend of Zelda: Link's Awakening on Game Boy that fully cemented his interest in the format. This interest reached a height with MMORPGs like Asheron's Call 2, Star Wars Galaxies, and World of Warcraft, on which William spent considerable time up until college. Now, William enjoys playing Super Mario Maker 2 on the Switch with his daughter and finding time to sneak in the newest From Software game when possible. So too, an interest in Magic: The Gathering has persisted since William's youth, and he can frequently been found watching Magic streams on Twitch and reading over the latest set spoilers. More From William Parks

[illegible]