3. Boarding Conditions

The mare will be boarded according to the agreement with her owner, either in a pasture or in a stall. The mare will receive all necessary care. If needed, the mare owner authorizes the manager to call a veterinarian of their choice to treat the mare and/or her foal, and the mare owner agrees to pay all costs. As caretaker, the manager is insured for civil liability for the horses present at their residence.

It is the mare owner's responsibility to take out personal insurance to cover any events involving their mare and foal. Any mare showing aggression toward the stallion or posing a risk will be put aside. The owner will be informed of any changes in boarding or breeding conditions. A boarding agreement will be established between both parties.

4. Rebreeding

This contract includes a live foal guarantee. A live foal is defined as a healthy newborn surviving 48 hours after birth.

Rebreeding privileges will apply only to the following breeding season. If the mare miscarries, aborts her foal, or does not produce a foal capable of standing unassisted, the stallion owner will allow the mare owner to use a rebreeding for the same mare or an acceptable substitute mare, provided the mare owner supplies a veterinary certificate from a licensed veterinarian within 48 hours of the event.

The costs of collection, handling, and shipping are the responsibility of the mare owner.

Pregnancy loss or confirmation must be reported to the stallion owner by the end of October of the breeding year.

5. Semen shipping

All shipping costs and import duties are the responsibility of the mare owner. The stallion owner declines all liability for any accidents that may occur during the transport of the semen.
