L. James. It is distributed by Universal Studios and stars Dakota Johnson and Jamie Dornan as the lead roles Anastasia Steele and Christian Grey, respectively. Sam Taylor-Johnson directed the first film,[2][3] and James Foley directed the second and third films.[4] The first film, Fifty Shades of Grey, was released on February 13, 2015, while the second, Fifty Shades Darker, was released on February 10, 2017.[5] Fifty Shades Freed, the third film, was released on February 9, 2018.[5] Worldwide, the series grossed over $1.32 billion, making it the seventh highest-grossing R-rated franchise of all-time. Development Two years after the trilogy's first novel was released, several distribution companies had bid for the rights of the trilogy. Warner Bros., Sony, Paramount and Universal, as well as Mark Wahlberg's production company, put in bids for the film rights.[6][7] The winning bid went to Universal Studios and Focus Features, at $5 million.[8] With James gaining control over the process of the making of the film, she hand-picked Dana Brunetti and Michael De Luca as the producers. James Dana Brunetti Michael De Luca Marcus Viscidi Fifty Shades Freed February 9, 2018 (2018-02-09)[5] Directors On June 19, 2013, Sam Taylor-Johnson was chosen to direct the first film. On February 6, 2015, Taylor-Johnson announced the sequels, prompting she would return to direct the sequels.[2] It was later revealed that Taylor-Johnson would not return.[4] On August 20, 2015, it was revealed by Deadline Hollywood that James Foley was the front-runner to direct the sequel and third film Fifty Shades Freed.[11] Screenwriters Kelly Marcel was chosen as the screenwriter for the first film.[12] On April 22, 2015, it was announced that James' husband, Niall Leonard, would write the script for the sequel.[10] Leonard also went on to write the script for the third film.[13] Casting The casting for the lead roles was considered controversial. Many contenders considered for the film included Ryan Gosling, Garrett Hedlund, Theo James, Alexander Skarsgård, François Arnaud, Charlie Hunnam, Scott Eastwood, Luke Bracey, Ian Somerhalder and Billy Magnussen as Christian Grey. Alicia Vikander, Imogen Poots, Elizabeth Olsen, Shailene Woodley, Alexis Bledel and Felicity Jones were all considered for the role of Anastasia Steele.[14] On September 2, 2013, Dakota Johnson and Charlie Hunnam were cast as Anastasia Steele and Christian Grey respectively.[15] As a result, the displeasure of the casting from fans caused controversy. In response, Brunetti stated, "There is a lot that goes into casting that isn't just looks. Talent, availability, their desire to do it, chemistry with other actor, etc. So if your favorite wasn't cast, then it is most likely due to something on that list. Keep that in mind while hating and keep perspective."[16] On October 12, it was announced Hunnam had quit the role of Grey and the studio was in the process of searching for a new actor.[17] On October 23, Jamie Dornan was cast as the replacement for Christian Grey.[18] In October 2013, Jennifer Ehle was cast as Carla Wilks.[19] On October 31, 2013, Victor Rasuk was cast as José Rodriguez, Jr.[20] On November 22, 2013, Eloise Mumford was cast as Kate Kavanagh.[21] On December 2, 2013, singer Rita Ora was cast as Christian's younger sister Mia.[22] On December 3, 2013, Marcia Gay Harden was cast as Christian's mother, Grace.[23] On January 28, 2016, Kim Basinger joined the franchise to play the role of Elena Lincoln in the sequels, Grey's business partner and former lover, while Luke Grimes, Eloise Mumford and Max Martini would be returning for the sequels.[24] On February 5, Bella Heathcote was cast as Leila, one of Grey's former submissives.[25] In the same month, Eric Johnson was cast to play Jack Hyde, Ana's boss at SIP.[26][27] On February 18, 2016, Robinne Lee and Fay Masterson joined the film's cast.[28] On February 20, Brant Daugherty signed on to play Luke Sawyer, the personal bodyguard for Anastasia in the third film.[29] Filming For Fifty Shades of Grey, principal photography was filmed in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, which began on December 1, 2013.[30] Scenes were filmed in the Gastown district of Vancouver.[31] Bentall 5 was used as the Grey Enterprises building.[32][33] The University of British Columbia serves as Washington State University Vancouver, from which Ana graduates.[34] The Fairmont Hotel Vancouver was used as the Heathman Hotel.[35][36] The film was also shot at the North Shore Studios.[37] The production officially ended on February 21, 2014.[38] Reshoots involving scenes between Dornan and Johnson took place in Vancouver during the week of October 13, 2014.[39] For Fifty Shades Darker and Fifty Shades Freed, principal photography was to commence in June in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.[40] This was later to be impossible, due to the script being unwritten at the moment.[10] In November 2015, Universal Studios announced that both films would be shot back-to-back with principal photography scheduled to commence in early 2016.[41] Filming began in Paris and Vancouver from February 9, 2016, to July 12, 2016, under the working title "Further Adventures of Max and Banks 2 & 3."[42][43][44] Filming on Fifty Shades Darker concluded on April 11, 2016.[45] Films Fifty Shades of Grey (2015) Main article: Fifty Shades of Grey (film) When Anastasia "Ana" Steele, a literature student, goes to interview the wealthy Christian Grey, as a favor to her roommate Kate Kavanagh, she encounters a handsome, brilliant and intimidating man.
