It has since expanded to become the most informative and thoroughly researched resource for male fashion dolls and clothing from 1961 to 1987, with more than 5,000 images. The collection focuses on Ken, but includes Mattel allan, Brad, Curtis, and even Donny Osmond and the heart of the family's father, because they were all designed to wear Ken's clothes. Various clone copies of Ken and others, non-Mattel, male fashion dolls are also listed here, but as there is very little documentary evidence available these sections are very work-in-progress. As a guide for collectors, the site presents the basic facts of 'what, where & when'. I'm not affiliated with Mattel in any way. The information is derived from my own ongoing research, so it is possible to change how the new facts come to light. Original documents such as mail order catalogues, department store guides, Mattel promotional material and, of course, the items themselves help me put it all together. In almost every case, I include these documents in order to verify my research. In addition, the items and variations I didn't know existed are still turning up. To help other collectors and finish the picture, I've included photos of some catalogs and original packaging I don't personally own – thanks, by the way, to everyone who has sent me scans and photos over the years. All dolls and clothes are for reference purposes only. For more detailed information and photos of the vintage look at VINTAGE KEN® BOOK, available in PDF format. Beautifully illustrated throughout, it shows every real Mattel Ken and Allan doll and outfit from 1961-1967. It can be purchased and downloaded here. It's a great hearing from other collectors! Need help identifying something? Have you discovered a rare variation that's missing here? Did I make a mistake in the description? Do you have more information? Do you have a foreign Ken I mentioned? I am especially grateful for good scans of catalogues and brochures that I miss or have only in poor quality. Please write/send pictures to: contact@somethingabouttheboy.com. When Ruth Handler and Mattel introduced Barbie in 1959 it created quite a sensation! She was inspired by Ruth's daughter, Barbie (of course), as an alternative to their weekly shopping for paper dolls. Today, vintage Barbie dolls and clothes are loved by collectors for their quality and representation of the clothing era. As styles have changed, so has Barbie. Of course there were many others and as the little girls who played with Barbie grew up, the whole industry of collectible dolls has developed for those of us who still love playing with our dolls! This is a 1960 Barbie TV ad! Click the arrow in the middle of the screen to watch. My goal is to provide a comprehensive resource for vintage Barbie dolls, clothes, accessories and other collectible fashion dolls, starting with barbie's debut in 1959.
