ITEM 4 ADVISORY BUSINESS

Impactful Wealth Solutions is a full-service financial planning firm providing Insurance, Retirement Plans, Investment Management and Tax Planning. Our mission is simple: to make financial principles easy to apply and comprehend while helping our clients achieve financial independence. We provide our clients trusted counsel and valuable financial solutions so they can achieve their goals and realize their dreams.

IWS provides advisory services to individual investors, trusts, and smaller employee benefit plans. Our services include a broad array of equity and fixed income products designed to meet their financial goals. Our clients entrust in our investment philosophies designed to deliver superior, risk-adjusted returns.

IWS was built on the cornerstones of intelligence, experience, and conviction and transparency that we believe clients expect from their investment managers.

Intelligence | Intelligence is more than an ability to learn. It is also the talent to discern important information and identify opportunities. From idea generation and proprietary research to portfolio construction and stock selection, IWS advisors employ keen insight and intelligent processes to build portfolios that seek to add alpha over time.

Experience | There is no substitute for experience in the investment world, where lessons are taught and learned during every market cycle. Experience provides valuable knowledge into portfolio and stock-specific risk and enables our managers to construct portfolios that we hope limit downside risk.

Conviction | Staying the course is often a manager's greatest challenge. At IWS, we are committed to a long-term investment approach. We do not endeavor to chase short-term market favorites. This sometimes will hurt performance in strong bull markets, but we do not believe that chasing trends adds value over the long-term.

Transparency | Transparency is an essential element for building trust. It is paramount in creating and developing client relationships and encourages the open sharing of information and accountability at all levels. IWS demonstrates transparency through our company culture and throughout the industry.

IWS also offers comprehensive financial planning and consulting services to both prospective and existing Clients. The Financial Planning Program services include one or more meetings, via any means of communication, between the Advisory Consultant and Client. The Client will then provide financial data that is used to prepare a financial report. This report constitutes the "financial plan" for purposes of the Financial Planning Client Agreement. The financial areas of consideration for these services may include some or all of and are not necessarily limited to: your overall financial position, including cash flow; asset protection and risk; income tax strategies; retirement; education funding; investments; legacy and/or estate planning; and other topics depending upon your specific financial situation.

The extent to which you engage in examining some or all of these financial areas will depend upon your specific financial situation and goals that you provide in the Financial Planning Questionnaire.

Financial Planning Program services involve general recommendations that are appropriate for your risk tolerance and investment objectives. These may include information regarding asset classes (e.g., equities both domestic and foreign), debt (both long-term and short-term), government securities, municipal securities or general types of investment vehicles (e.g., mutual funds, variable annuities, variable life insurance, partnerships, tax-advantaged retirement savings and education savings vehicles), concentrated equity strategies, stock option analysis, private money management alternatives, retirement planning strategies, estate planning strategies, philanthropic planning, margin transactions, and education suggestions in which Client can choose to invest. Investment techniques and strategies recommended in a financial plan generally will involve long-term or short-term holdings of securities or other investment products, and insurance and trust strategies, depending on Client's financial goals, objectives and desires. IWS is under no obligation to update the financial plan after it is delivered to the Client.

Some or all of the following factors may be analyzed:

- Risk Tolerance
- Income Requirements
- Tax Implications
- Liquidity Needs
- Investment Objectives
- Time Horizon
- Investment Experience

The Financial Plan incorporates some or all of the following standard modules:

- Summary of Financial Goals
- Summary of Action Plan
- Analysis of Personal Net Worth, including Balance Sheet
- Education Planning
- Debt Management / Cash Flow Analysis
- Asset Allocation
- Retirement Planning
- Insurance Needs Analysis
- Estate Planning, including estate valuation, federal estate tax estimates, and planning strategies

Services offered by the Advisory Consultant for the Financial Planning Program may include:

- Client education
- Gathering data to be used in the preparation of the plan
- Creating and presenting the Financial Plan
- Presenting the portfolio recommendations and allocations based on the information provided
- Researching and recommendations of specific asset classes

Services provided by IWS for the Financial Planning Program may include:

- Collection and processing of financial planning fees
- Maintaining the registrations of IWS and Advisory Consultants with appropriate state agencies
- Supervision of activities of all Advisory Consultant

Unless otherwise specifically agreed to, IWS shall have no duties or obligations with respect to the implementation of Client's financial plan and shall have no duty or obligation to provide investment advisory or investment management services to Clients that are outside the scope of the services discussed above. The advisory relationship can only begin upon Client's written acceptance (through a separate written agreement) to engage in financial planning and ends upon delivery of the financial plan to Client. By providing a financial plan, neither IWS nor your Advisory Consultant is acting as a fiduciary for purposes of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (ERISA) or section 4975 of the Internal Revenue Code ("the Code") with respect to any ERISA-covered employee benefit plan or any individual retirement account in either the planning, execution or provision of this analysis.

Although this is a detailed list of possible topics, not every item is applicable to all Clients, and the Advisory Consultant and Client will agree to the topics/modules to include in the financial plan.

Neither IWS, nor your Advisory Consultant will provide legal or accounting advice, and any fees payable by Client under the Financial Planning Client Agreement or Retirement Plan Services Agreement cover only the services rendered by IWS and Advisory Consultant. IWS and Advisory Consultant are not responsible for drafting or providing any legal or other documentation, or taking any action relating to or arising from implementation of Client's financial plan (subject to the considerations set forth in the following paragraph). Each of the advisory services we offer is tailored to the Client and designed to work toward their individual investment objectives, financial needs and tolerance of risk. They are drawn from research and analysis we believe to be reliable and appropriate to your financial circumstances.

Advisor shall discharge its investment management responsibilities consistent with the Client's designated investment objectives. Unless the Client has advised the Advisor to the contrary, in writing, there are no restrictions that the Client has imposed upon the Advisor with respect to the management of the Assets. Client agrees to provide information and/or documentation requested by Advisor in furtherance of this Agreement as it pertains to Client's objectives, needs and goals, and maintains exclusive responsibility to keep Advisor informed of any changes regarding same. Client acknowledges that Advisor cannot adequately perform its services for Client unless Client diligently performs his/her responsibilities under this Agreement. Advisor shall be fully protected in relying upon any direction, notice, or instruction until it has been duly advised in writing of changes therein. Advisor shall not be required to verify any information obtained from Client and is expressly authorized to rely thereon.

Impactful Business Solutions, LLC is wholly owned by Tiffany Tippins and organized as a corporation under the laws of Texas in 2014. Impactful Business Solutions, LLC operates under the trade name Impactful Wealth Solutions (IWS) which is also registered as the assumed name in the State of Texas. Currently, the firm manages $1,356,161.52 assets on a discretionary and non-discretionary basis. The amounts were calculated as of 7/29/2021. IWS is a registered investment advisor in the State of Michigan. The firm is also registered in Texas. Registration of an investment adviser with the SEC or state does not imply a certain level of skill or training. IWS's principal owner is Tiffany Tippins, who owns 100 percent of IWS's voting shares.

ITEM 5 FEES AND COMPENSATION

The following information describes IWS's compensation for the advisory services it provides to each type of client account. In most contracts, advisory fees are paid quarterly based on the market value of assets in an account as of the last day of each calendar quarter. However, certain accounts, such as mutual funds, calculate advisory fees based upon average daily assets. Fees are negotiable and are based on a client's need. IWS representatives are also licensed to sell insurance products and may receive commission from the sale of insurance products. IWS does not impose investment minimums on financial planning services.

General Information about Fees

Fee Deduction Arrangements

Financial Planning Fees can be paid by check or electronic transfer at the client's discretion as to what date the fee is selected to be drafted. Assets under management will be deducted from the investment advisory account in advance and billed on a quarterly basis. Additional fees such securities fees including trades, custodial fees, brokerage or mutual fund expenses will be drafted on the last month of the quarter from the client's account balance. Clients will receive a quarterly billing statement that will reflect the details of each the transaction.

Conflict of Interest

After the completion of a financial plan, recommendations are based on the outcome of plan results. Based on gaps or deficits of the plan an Advisory Consultant will recommend specific products or services that will assist a client in improving their probability of successfully achieving their goals. IWS representatives are also licensed to sale insurance products and receive commission from the sale of insurance products. The client is in no way obligated to implement any of these recommendations with IWS and has the option to purchase these products or services through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with IWS. IWS is cognizant of client's incurring additional fees and strives to select products with minimum fees while also providing the best value. Such products or services advised by IWS may pay additional fees, such as commissions, etc. from entities related to IWS in addition to the advisory fees paid to IWS. IWS does not reduce its advisory fees to offset commissions or markups. IWS policy dictates that the firm will not take action regarding class action suits for stocks owned by its clients. Clients are advised to consult their attorney to determine course of legal action.

Refunds of Pre-Paid and Unearned Advisory Fees

Either party to IWS's Advisory Contracts may typically terminate the contract at any time upon written notice to the other party. If an Advisory Contract terminates, IWS will return any unearned and pre-paid advisory fees no later than 30 days after the termination notice has been recieved. Returned advisory fees paid for financial planning will be return in the method it was paid and calculated based on the time of the original contract was signed to when termination notice was given. If a financial plan has been completed and delivered to the client there will be no refund given.

Portfolio Values for Fee Calculations

Calculation methods for each client type for asset-based fees owed and payable to IWS are as follows:

As set forth in the client's contract with IWS, portfolio valuations are determined by either (i) the client's custodian or (ii) IWS, using its own asset valuations. IWS's valuations are generally based upon information IWS receives from third party pricing vendors and may be higher or lower than the portfolio valuation calculated by a custodian bank. If no pricing vendor information is available or IWS does not agree with the vendor's valuation, IWS uses various factors to determine a fair value.

Additional Expenses

If IWS invests a client's assets in a mutual fund, or exchange-traded fund, the client may incur additional expenses and fees as a shareholder of those mutual or exchange traded funds. These additional expenses may include advisory/management fees, distribution fees, administrative expenses, and other fund operating expenses. Clients wishing to obtain more information about the fees and expenses that may apply due to investing in mutual funds or exchange-traded funds should contact IWS. Clients may also obtain more information by reviewing the relevant prospectus(es) for the underlying mutual funds or exchange-traded funds in which the clients' assets are invested. Attention is also directed to Item 12, for additional information about the types of brokerage and other transaction costs that IWS's clients may incur.

Tax Implications; Liquidation of Existing Positions upon Transition to IWS

Unless IWS is otherwise directed by a client, pursuant to a contract, will liquidate all securities deposited into an account if the securities are not suitable or consistent with IWS's investment models for a particular strategy. IWS will then re-allocate the cash resulting from the liquidations according to the IWS strategy the client selected. IWS will consider a client's tax consequences when liquidating securities deposited into an account that it will manage.

ITEM 6 PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE

MANAGEMENT

IWS does not generally charge performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client). On a very limited basis, IWS may receive performance-based fees for its investment advisory services, but these services are limited to qualified clients and are negotiable. The performance-based fee is based on the excess return of the net assets under management against a baseline return. The baseline is fixed but may be modified by IWS due to changes in average market conditions over time; however, qualified clients will receive written notice of any change prior to any modification and may opt out of the program by terminating their agreement.

Performance-based fees create certain inherent conflicts of interest. Specifically, performance-based fees create an incentive for the Advisory Consultant to take risks in managing assets that they may not otherwise take in the absence of such arrangements. To minimize this conflict of interest, the performance-based fee includes a base-advisory fee calculated on assets under management, so that the Advisory Consultant's incentive to grow capital is appropriately balanced with an incentive to preserve capital. Since performance-based fees reward the Advisory Consultant for strong performance in accounts which are subject to such fees, the Advisory Consultant may have an incentive to favor clients who pay performance based fees over clients that pay fees based solely on the amount of assets under management in their account. IWS actively monitors accounts managed by Advisory Consultants with performance-based fee arrangements to ensure that discretionary trades in individual securities executed by the Advisory Consultant are aggregated and allocated to a qualified client's account based upon the average price of the securities purchased or sold.

ITEM 7 TYPES OF CLIENTS

All Programs are designed for individuals, profit-sharing plans, charitable organizations, corporations or other businesses with investment portfolios valued at $25,000 or more, although exceptions can be made in the sole discretion of IWS. IWS does not have a minimum account size for its financial planning services. Third-party advisory programs each have their own account minimums which are further outlined in the respective advisory program manager's brochure.

ITEM 8 METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

Each Advisory Consultant has the independence to take the approach that he or she believes is most appropriate when analyzing investment products and strategies for clients. The Advisory Consultant chooses his or her own research methods, investment style and management philosophy. It is important to note that no methodology or investment strategy is guaranteed to be successful or profitable. When developing recommendations for you, Advisory Consultants compare your financial goals with your investment risk tolerance and the risk and potential return of a specific investment. Advisory Consultants have wide latitude in designing investment strategies.

IWS generally manages accounts with full investment discretion. However, clients may place reasonable restrictions on the management of their accounts. Clients may also direct IWS to sell, or to avoid selling, particular securities for the purpose of realizing a capital loss or avoiding a capital gain.

A method of evaluating a security that involves analyzing individual companies and their industry groups, such as a company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line, the experience and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company's industry. The resulting data is used to measure what is deemed to be the true value of the company's stock compared to the current market value. The end goal of performing fundamental analysis is to produce a value that an investor can compare to the security's current price and whether the security is over or under priced.

Asset Allocation Analysis –

Asset allocation aims to balance risk and reward by apportioning a portfolio's assets according to an individual's goals, risk tolerance, and investment horizon. The three main asset classes - equities, fixed-income, and cash and equivalents - have different levels of risk and return, so each will behave differently over time. Through this process, clients become better educated about the multiple factors that can affect the portfolio's performance.

Fundamental Analysis –

A method of evaluating a security that involves analyzing individual companies and their industry groups, such as a company's financial statements, details regarding the company's product line, the experience and expertise of the company's management, and the outlook for the company's industry. The resulting data is used to measure what is deemed to be the true value of the company's stock compared to the current market value. The end goal of performing fundamental analysis is to produce a value that an investor can compare to the security's current price and whether the security is over or under priced.

Technical Analysis –

A method of evaluating securities by studying past price patterns and trends in the financial markets in an attempt to predict the direction of the overall market, specific stocks or both. Technical analysts do not attempt to measure a security's intrinsic value. Instead they use charges and other tools to identify patterns that suggest future activity. When looking at individual equities, a person using technical analysis generally believes that performance of the stock, rather than performance of the company itself, has more to do with a company's future stock price.

Cyclical Analysis –

A type of technical analysis that involves evaluating recurring price patterns and trends with the goal buying or selling securities based upon expected price movements or "market timing." The risk of market timing based on technical analysis is that charts may not accurately predict future price movements. Current prices of securities may reflect all information known about the security and day to day changes in market prices of securities may follow random patterns and may not be predictable with any reliable degree of accuracy.

Descriptions of Material Risks

Credit Risk – If debt obligations held by an account are downgraded by ratings agencies, go into default, or if management action, legislation or other government action reduces the issuers' ability to pay principal and interest when due, the obligations' value may decline and an account's value may be reduced. Because the ability of an issuer of a lower-rated or unrated obligation (including particularly "junk" or "high yield" bonds) to pay principal and interest when due is typically less certain than for an issuer of a higher rated obligation, lower rated and unrated obligations are generally more vulnerable than higher-rated obligations to default, ratings downgrades, and liquidity risk. Political, economic, and other factors also may adversely affect governmental issues.

Derivatives Risk – An account's investments in derivatives involve risks associated with the securities or other assets underlying the derivatives, as well as risks different or greater than the risks affecting the underlying assets. Risk unassociated with the underlying assets include the inability or unwillingness of the other party to a derivative to perform its obligations to an account, an account's inability or delay in selling or closing positions in derivatives, and difficulties in valuing derivatives.

Foreign Investment Risk – Investments in securities of foreign issuers may involve risks including adverse fluctuations in currency exchange rates, political instability, confiscations, taxes, restrictions on currency exchange, difficulty in selling foreign investments, and reduced legal protection. These risks may be more pronounced for investments in developing countries.

Interest Rate Risk – When interest rates increase, the value of the account's investments may decline, and the account's share value may decrease. This effect is typically more pronounced for intermediate and longer-term obligations. This effect is typically more pronounced for mortgage and other asset-backed securities, since value may fluctuate more significantly in response to interest rate changes. When interest rates decrease, the account's current income may decline.

Liquidity Risk – Due to a lack of demand in the marketplace or other factors, an account may not be able to sell some or all of the investments promptly or may only be able to sell investments at less than desired prices.

Management Risk – IWS client accounts are actively managed portfolios. The accounts' value may decrease if IWS pursues unsuccessful investments or fails to correctly identify risks affecting the broad economy or specific issuers comprising the accounts.

Market and Economic Risk – An account's investment value may decline due to changes in general economic and market conditions. A security's value held in an account may change in response to developments affecting entire economies, markets, or industries, including changes in interest rates, political and legal developments, and general market volatility.

Prepayment Risk – Decreases in market interest rates may result in prepayments of obligations in the account, requiring the account to reinvest at lower interest rates.

Real Estate Risk – An account's investments in real estate investment trusts ("REITs") are subject to risks affecting real estate investments generally (including market conditions, competition, property obsolescence, changes in interest rates and casualty to real estate), as well as risks specifically affecting REITs (the quality and skill of REIT management and the REIT's internal expenses).

Risks Affecting Specific Issuers – The value of an equity security or debt obligation may decline in response to developments affecting the specific issuer of the security or obligation, even if the overall industry or economy is unaffected. These developments may comprise a variety of factors, including but not limited to management issues or other corporate disruption, political factors adversely affecting governmental issuers, a decline in revenues or profitability, an increase in costs, or an adverse effect on the issuer's competitive position.

Smaller Company Risk – Investments in smaller companies may involve additional risks because of limited product lines, limited access to markets and financial resources, greater vulnerability to competition and changes in markets, lack of management depth, increased volatility in share price, and possible difficulties in valuing or selling the investments.

Structured Products Risk – An account's investments in structured finance arrangements, including Collateralized Mortgage Obligations (CMOs), Collateralized Debt Obligations (CDOs), Collateralized Loan Obligations (CLOs), involve the risks associated with the underlying pool of securities or other assets, as well as risks different or greater than the risks affecting the underlying assets. In particular, these investments may be less liquid than other debt obligations, making it difficult for an account to value its investment or sell the investment in a timely manner or at an acceptable price.

Inflation Risk – If any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar at the same subsequent time, because purchasing power is eroded at the rate of inflation. Inflation tends to erode returns on investments, as well.

Portfolio Turnover Risk – Active and frequent trading of securities and financial instruments in a portfolio can result in increased transaction costs, including potentially substantial brokerage commissions, fees, and other transaction costs. In addition, frequent trading is likely to result in short-term capital gains tax treatment. As a result of portfolio turnover, the performance of a portfolio can be adversely impacted.

Currency Risk– Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.

Reinvestment Risk– This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (e.g. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.

Business Risk– These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it (a lengthy process) before they can generate a profit. They have a greater uncertainty of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like

The above list of risk factors does not claim to be a complete list or explanation of the risks involved in an investment strategy. Investing involves the risk of loss, including loss of principal. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Your investments are not bank products and are not insured or guaranteed by any governmental agency, entity, or person, unless otherwise noted and, as such, may lose value. You are encouraged to consult your Advisory Consultant, legal counsel and tax professional on an initial and continuous basis in connection with selecting and engaging in the services provided by us. In addition, due to the dynamic nature of investments and markets, strategies may be subject to additional and different risk factors not discussed above.

ITEM 9 DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

Neither IWS, its management personnel nor Advisory Consultants, has been the subject of any material legal or disciplinary action.

ITEM 10 OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS

IWS has no business dealings with any affiliated person(s) related to the advisory services we offer our clients at this time. We also do not recommend or select other investment advisors for our clients. Nor do we have any applications pending to register with a broker-dealer or a register representative of a broker dealer.

ITEM 11 CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

IWS has adopted a Code of Ethics to address its fiduciary relationship and its investment advisory supervised persons' fiduciary relationships with their clients; specify or prohibit certain types of transactions deemed to create conflicts of interest (or the potential for or appearance of); establish reporting requirements; and enforcement procedures under federal, state, and all other applicable securities laws. In recognition of the trust and confidence placed in IWS by its clients and to stress IWS's belief that its operations are directed to the benefit of its clients, IWS has developed and adopted the following general principles to guide its employees, officers, and directors deemed to be Supervised Persons of IWS's RIA ("Supervised Persons") under the Code of Ethics. IWS defines the investment adviser to be the entity that supports and drives the provision of investment advisory products and services. Supervised Persons also include all investment advisory personnel defined as key officers, home office associates, all Advisory Consultants and all associates of an Advisory Consultant's office, including licensed and non-registered fingerprinted people who have direct contact with our advisory clients.

The interests of clients are paramount and all Supervised Persons shall strive to conduct themselves in such a manner that the interests of clients take precedence over all others, and to prevent access to non-public information about IWS's securities recommendations, and client securities holdings and transactions, except to those associates that need such information to perform their duties.

IWS Supervised Persons must comply with all federal and state securities laws. Further, no Supervised Persons shall, in connection with the purchase or sale of securities, directly or indirectly:

- Employ any device, scheme or artifice to defraud.
- Make any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact.
- Engage in any act, practice or course of business which would operate as a fraud or deceit; or
- Engage in any manipulative practice.

All personal securities transactions by Supervised Persons must be accomplished in such a way as to avoid any conflict between the interest of IWS's clients and the interest of any Supervised Persons. All Supervised Persons shall strive to avoid actions or activities that allow personal benefit or profit from their position with regard to IWS's clients. Each Supervised Person is required to provide quarterly reports of all transactions in securities in which the person has, or by reason of such transaction acquires, any direct or indirect beneficial ownership to IWS's Chief Compliance Officer or designee. Each Supervised Person is also required to submit appropriate holdings reports to IWS's Chief Compliance Officer, or his/her designee, which shall be reviewed to determine whether a violation of the Code of Ethics may have occurred.

Our Code of Ethics includes specific provisions outlined in the Insider Trading and Gifts and Gratuity sections of the IWS Investment Adviser policies and procedures manuals. Supervised Persons are required to comply with these policies and procedures. Supervised Persons are further required to report any violation of the Code of Ethics to the CCO, or his/her designee and submit written acknowledgment of receipt of the Code of Ethics and any amendments at least annually. If you want to obtain a complete copy of IWS's Code of Ethics, we will provide it upon request

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

IWS and our Advisory Consultants may recommend or effect transactions in securities in which an IWS director, officer, employee or another Advisory Consultant may also invest directly or indirectly. This poses a conflict of interest to the extent that transactions in such securities on behalf of IWS Clients may advantage such related persons. We do monitor equity trading activity in client accounts to ensure that Advisory Consultants' trades are not placed ahead of client trades which may result in the Advisory Consultant receiving a better price. Advisory Consultants are prohibited from using discretion to purchase BCOR in their clients' accounts.

ITEM 12 BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Research and Other Soft Dollar Costs

Soft dollars are revenue programs offered by broker-dealers whereby an Advisory Consultant enters into an agreement to place security trades with the broker in exchange for research and other services. IWS does not participate in soft dollar programs offered by any broker-dealer.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

IWS does not consider, in selecting or recommending broker-dealers, whether we or a related person receives client referrals from such broker-dealer or third party.

Directed Brokerage

All Clients are serviced on a “directed brokerage basis”, where IWS will place trades within the established account[s] at the custodian designated by the Client. Further, all Client accounts are traded within their respective brokerage account(s). The Advisory Consultant will not engage in any principal transactions (i.e., trade of any security from or to the Advisor’s own account) or cross transactions with other Client accounts (i.e., purchase of a security into one Client account from another Client’s account(s)). In selecting the custodian, IWS will not be obligated to select competitive bids on securities transactions and does not have an obligation to seek the lowest available transaction costs. These costs are determined by the designated custodian.

Aggregating & Allocating Trades

The primary objective in placing orders for the purchase and sale of securities for Client accounts is to obtain the most favorable net results taking into account such factors as 1) price, 2) size of order, 3) difficulty of execution, 4) confidentiality and 5) skill required of the broker. IWS will execute its transactions through an unaffiliated broker-dealer selected by the Client. IWS may aggregate orders in a block trade or trades when securities are purchased or sold through the same broker-dealer for multiple (discretionary) accounts. If a block trade cannot be executed in full at the same price or time, the securities actually purchased or sold by the close of each business day must be allocated in a manner that is consistent with the initial pre-allocation or other written statement. This must be done in a way that does not consistently advantage or disadvantage Client accounts.

ITEM 13 REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

Frequency of Reviews

Accounts & Financial Plans are monitored on a regular and continuous basis by Tiffany Tippins, Principle of IWS. Formal reviews are generally conducted at least annually or more or less frequently depending on the needs of the Client.

Causes for Reviews

In addition to the investment monitoring noted above, each Client account shall be reviewed at least annually. Reviews may be conducted more or less frequently at the Client’s request. Accounts may be reviewed as a result of major changes in economic conditions, known changes in the Client’s financial situation, and/or large deposits or withdrawals in the Client’s account. The Client is encouraged to notify IWS if changes occur in his/her personal financial situation that might adversely affect his/her investment plan. Additional reviews may be triggered by material market, economic or political events.

Review Reports

The Client will receive brokerage statements no less than quarterly from the trustee or custodian. These brokerage statements are sent directly from the custodian to the Client. The Client may also establish electronic access to the custodian's website so that the Client may view these reports and their account activity. Client brokerage statements will include all positions, transactions and fees relating to the Client's accounts). The Advisor may also provide Clients with periodic reports regarding their holdings, allocations, and performance.

ITEM 14 CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

IWS primarily receives its compensation directly from its Clients. Advisory Consultants of IWS, in their separate capacities, may receive commissions for implementation as detailed in Item 10 above. IWS may refer Clients to various third parties to provide certain financial services necessary to meet the goals of its Clients. Likewise, IWS may receive referrals of new Clients from a third-party.

IWS actively educates consultants, clients and other financial intermediaries (collectively, "Consultants") about its advisory services. IWS sponsors educational events where its representatives meet with Consultants and sometimes their clients. Sometimes IWS will use its own resources to pay for part of the costs associated with educational events. Clients should ask their Consultant for details of any IWS payments they receive.

ITEM 15 CUSTODY

IWS does not accept or maintain custody of any Client accounts. All Clients must place their assets with a qualified custodian. Clients are required to select their own custodian to retain their funds and securities and direct IWS to utilize that custodian for the Client's security transactions. For more information about custodians and brokerage practices, see Item 12 - Brokerage Practices.

ITEM 16 INVESTMENT DISCRETION

IWS generally has discretion over the selection and amount of securities to be bought or sold in Client accounts without obtaining prior consent or approval from the Client. However, these purchases or sales may be subject to specified investment objectives, guidelines, or limitations previously set forth by the Client and agreed to by IWS. Discretionary authority will only be authorized upon full disclosure to the Client. The granting of such authority will be evidenced by the Client's execution of an Investment Advisory Agreement containing all applicable limitations to such authority. You may rescind this authorization at any time by providing written notice to Chief Compliance Office at the address on the front of this Disclosure Brochure. Your Account will then be traded only on a non-discretionary basis. All discretionary trades made by IWS will be in accordance with each Client's investment objectives and goals.

ITEM 17 VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

IWS does not accept proxy-voting responsibility for any Client. If a client wishes to vote by proxy they may contact their custodian directly to receive proxy materials, annual reports and other related issuer material.

ITEM 18 FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Neither IWS, nor its management has any adverse financial situations that would reasonably impair the ability of IWS to meet all obligations to its Clients. Neither IWS, nor any of its advisory persons, has been subject to a bankruptcy or financial compromise. Also, we do not require prepayment of fees at any dollar amount more than 6 months in advance.

3. Disciplinary Information

This section of the brochure supplement details any legal or disciplinary events that may be material to your evaluation of your Advisor. Additional information about your Advisory Consultant is available at brokercheck.finra.org.

There are no legal or disciplinary event(s) to disclose.

4. Other Business Activities

Many Advisors derive substantial income and spend considerable time providing other investment related services to their Clients as registered representatives of Impactful Wealth Solutions or as insurance agents. When providing investment or insurance services to Clients, Advisors typically receive payments in the form of commissions, sales loads, mutual fund 12b-1 fees, financial planning or servicing fees.

In addition, Advisors may derive substantial income and spend considerable time providing non-investment related services to their Clients such as tax preparation and planning, payroll and employee benefit consulting. Although Impactful Wealth engages in these services, we do not provide legal services. The primary responsibility of our investment clients relates specifically to offering approved securities and investment advisory or insurance services.

5. Additional Compensation

Tiffany Tippins does not provide or receive any economic benefit from a non-advisory client for the provision of advisory services.

6. Supervision

Impactful Wealth Solutions (IWS) maintains a supervisory structure designed to detect and prevent violations of securities laws, rules and regulations. IWS requires all supervisory personnel to meet appropriate qualification criteria and to exercise diligence while supervising IWS activities. Qualified supervisory personnel use various systems and supervisory tools to monitor transactional and account activity to ensure adherence with IWS policies and procedures. In addition, the supervisory structure and its personnel are regularly evaluated for their effectiveness, compliance and adherence to our standards.

Your Advisor does not recommend advisory programs over other programs or services based on compensation factors. IWS intends, to make all recommendations independent of any compensation considerations and based solely on our obligations to consider your objectives and needs. IWS has a supervisory structure in place to review for potential conflicts of interest. Below is the name and contact information for your Advisor's Supervisor.
