Jannat ke pattay novel is one of her masterpieces of a long-running novel based on Urdu. this novel is for children, but because unconventional sets the romantic history of the modern era, related to Pakistani society. jannat well pattay here the whole novel in the PDF layout. read haalim Well, I'm done with this book. I kept reading it for a month. Just a few days ago, I was reading KKTM. Here are my some comments on this. I won't rate it as Islamic fiction, it's basically a love story. First, things admired me the most: For all it was a pleasant effort. The idea of Jannat Kay Pattaya was inspiring. Jannat Kay Pattay is everything you use to hide yourself during embarrassment, to use as a mode or tool to win respect again. So figuratively, Jihaan in the form of Wa Good, I'm done with this book. I kept reading it for a month. Just a few days ago, I was reading KKTM. Here are my some comments on this. I won't rate it as Islamic fiction, it's basically a love story. First, things admired me the most: it was all a nice effort. The idea of Jannat Kay Pattaya was inspiring. Jannat Kay Kay This is all you use to hide yourself during embarrassment, to use as a mode or tool to win respect again. Thus, in the figurative sense, jihaan's form was also waraq'al'Jannah. This book gave a strong position for hijab girls. And brilliantly defended all lame pointers against parda. Information about Turkey really made me visit once (Yes, just like Rakaposhi :3). The Turkish language, their trends and traditions are worth reading. The girl I liked the most in the novel was not Haya, her DJ. Her mischief, quick answers and funny comments about Turkey were wonderful. Ayesha Gul's statements about Achi's larks were pleasant, ❀ Chochi Billy was sweet. And finally, Major Ahmed, his wickedness and seriousness and concern for his loved ones, not letting them know the full stop :P Now, what annoyed me the most: - First, inappropriate topics. The novel was full of extra scenes that were too boring to read so the reader could skip these parts and could move on. This can have a negative impact on the writer. (Sans Sakin thi, Karakoram ka Taj Mehel)-Some parts were too exaggerated and phainkoo. When Hea first called mehdi, he was watching her next door. Did I mean seriously? In bandy itney clever banti thi, Pinky co pehchan Lya. Why couldn't she recognize Jihan as Dolly? Jihan escaped from an Indian prison. Kiddin?-Suleman Sahab knew the reality of Jihan, why the hell didn't he tell his family?-Extreme level of evil-like handan and bewildered relationships (tai, fof, cousin), not just JKP, but in Mushaf and KKTM too.-Excessively discussed outfits (chooridar pajamas, takhne tak ati, dress, baal kandhe se aagey iey, blue, white. -Jihan was a major and a spy in order? How the hell does he have enough time for these riddles? -Some phrases that were overly repetitive and really made me puke. (Shaanei uckhan, Muskurahat dabaye bolna, hafgi se dehna, hant bhinchi dehna, halak mai ansun ka fanda lanya) Aaaand Ayeshey and Baharey are in Egypt, Jihan has received a new assignment and Hana is still in contact with them. Wait for the sequel guys :D Ohri baat e major Jihan Sikander Ahmed jesy Loug world sey koney mai miltey qit:3 :P ... more I read more of the first time such a novel that covers many genres. It was a bunch of mystery, suspense, love, teachings and exotic travel spots. But there were a lot of things I didn't like about JKP. JKP was written by the very famous writer Nimr Ahmed. There were many disputes related to the treasure riddles of this novel. People have even stated that the content is not original, but I will not focus on these issues. As long as the novel captures and teaches you a lot about Islam we could ignore these. The main theme of this novel could be explained from the perspective of the main characters Haya and Cehan. One side of the history story around the theme of Hijab and how one verse of the Koran can change her life forever. The transformation of a modern girl (Haya) into a girl from Hijabi became the main essence of this novel. The other side of the story depicts the life of spy guy Cehan and his duty of harsh and stringent demands. Not revealing the story, but giving a major introduction :)Mr.Suleiman has two children, Guy and Rohail.Rohail was studied in the U.S. and Hea was selected for a scholarship from the European Union and she leaves for Turkey within five months. The main reason Haya apply for this scholarship is Cehan. These two characters are connected to each other by a sacred child's bond, i.e. Niccoa, who has been forgotten. Cehan's mother (Foso Haya) Sebain lives in Turkey.Beautiful LocationThe amazing and magnificent image of Turkey will actually make you add this country to your tourism list. The Bosphorus Bridge, one of two suspension bridges covering Istanbul, connects Europe and Asia. I knew a lot about Turkey through this novel and I thank Nimr Ahmed for this pleasant introduction. Confusion and detective touch has been added to this novel. The arrival of Flowers and to congratulate Haya for a scholarship from ARP was very shocking. It actually made me feel like someone was spying on Haya.Many characters such as Major Ahmed, Khawaja Syrah, Pinky and Dolly added to the suspense element of the story. It was pretty amazing to actually see that whenever Haja was in trouble Major Ahmed, Khawaja Syrah, Pinky or Dolly would help her. They were like a disguised blessing. But I personally thought they were obscure. Major Ahmed was revealed as an employee of the Cybercrime Agency. He deleted Haya and Irum's dance video from the net and actually gave her strange advice about jannat kay pattay. Dolly saved her from Waleed's trap and it was spot on and he hit her, saying: Be-haya, Be-haya. There were so many characters added just to create suspense and mystery, but in my opinion, the novel would have been much more fascinating and enjoyable without this many characters. This created a lot of skepticism. Halay was another positive character added. Ayesha Chail and Baharai were my favorite characters as they helped Haya understand and direct her life according to the teachings of Islam.The best scenes collected the pearls and riddles of Sura al-Ehzb. This was when Hea made the decision to wear a hijab meaning the riddle appeared and the unanswered part was solved at the end. The adventures of Turkey and the great lessonstury forever and forever changed Haya. Travel Problems took a very interesting turn when she reached Turkey with her DJ boyfriend. The flight scene and the introduction of the ARP made me feel some danger. ARP (Abdul Rehman Pasha) was pictured as a famous smuggler and Raya was warned take care of yourself against him. Haya's meeting with Cheyan was formal. Hea and THE DJ showed really good chemistry and became very good friends. It was the DJ who took Chehan with her and Haya to travel Turkey.The scene when the hotel was destroyed made me feel for Chehan Alot. The scene of the DJ's death was truly heartbreaking, and it was superbly associated with this philosophy of Cheezain waqti hoti hain, toot jaati hain bikhar jaati hain,rawaye dayimi hote hain apna asar chor jaate hain, and another lesson was hidden in the terrifying Natasha part where Haya got burned and she felt tortured ad-fire. These were lifelong lessons for Haya. The adventure of Haya to find Cehan and enjoy the Hot Air Balloon ride was sweet. Treasure Hunting Riddles It was the most interesting part of the novel. Treasure Hunting Riddles has added much more to the mysterious content of this novel. In my opinion, it was really exciting and exciting while Hea tried to solve them. Herazite's famous quotes were very well presented, and the puzzle box was my favorite. It was a very clever way to use these riddles in appropriate situations. Cehan Sikander - The other half of NovelOh, this character recently the heartbeat of many girls after Salar Sikander (Oh, they are both Sikander). The reason for this is its mesmerizing, charismatic and alluring character. He understood the Koran very deeply, and it was very beautifully shown by Nimra Ahmed in the tafser Sura al-Falk. The early period of his life and his concept مرة جميلة (very beautiful) was well written. He was a spy, and part of the torture chamber showed his clever mind. He loved his country and served him well. He did not want Haya to come to Turkey because she knew about his secret. The way he helped Hea was out of this world and a bit filmy at times. He doesn't like Haya because she didn't do what مرة جميلة Sehan demands, but he later admires her. The part of the restaurant was not impressive at all. It looked like a big drama, and his friendship with Hammad was very sweet. Connecting Charactersit was confusing because, as I mentioned above so many characters, so many things happened at the same time. but I have a confession Nimr Ahmed made bound them wonderfully and at the end of the novel everything fell into perspective. All and all, It was a good novel was a lot of drag, and it made the novel boring at times. Especially when the Hea period was suspended and Cehan's life began was too long and there was so much to digest. It was a long affair and it had a happy ending. Another thing, the forced hijab and restrictions in The Haya family exposed the dirty actions of some character. Like Haya it was the decision of the heart that she loved and respected him, and the way she fought alone, without uttering anything to Chehan, showed the strength of her character. It was hard to consider such a rich novel, but I tried. Looking forward to your feedback Special thanks to Nur-nas-SaadASma Jamali Jamali jannat kay pattay drama episode 1. jannat kay pattay drama serial
