

Ngozi

Ngozi Dike is a dynamic leader in global workforce transformation. As an entrepreneur, speaker, and certified Scrum Master, facilitator, and leadership coach, she has empowered over 3,500 leaders across 28 countries, equipping them with the skills, confidence, and emotional intelligence to thrive in today's evolving industries.

Her journey began in the nonprofit sector, where she co-designed four impactful programs under the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA), helping women, dislocated workers, and young adults gain essential life skills, vocational certifications, and sustainable careers.

As CEO of Premiere Services LLC (dba Ngozi Global), Ngozi specializes in leadership development through soft skills training, Artificial Intelligence Literacy, human capital growth, entrepreneurship, and workforce sustainability. Her engaging presentations and facilitation style make her a sought-after voice at schools, universities, global conferences, and leadership events.

Ngozi's life-giving encouragements and empathetic teaching style allowed me to fully embrace her informative and practical tips. It was a highly relevant and engaging session filled with a lot of learning (and unlearning) in order to build a stronger and more intentional approach to my tech career.
