Just equip a "Chocobo Lure" materia and go to the Chocobo tracks near Gold Saucer or Mideel. Run around on the tracks until you meet a enemy, you're not guaranteed to meet a Chocobo so if you meet normal enemies just fight them to earn some EXP. If there's a Chocobo amongst... kula shakerz 2003-03-03 This guide (part 1) will help you defeat the bosses that you'll encounter on your journey in Final Fantasy VII. 01 Guard Scorpion The best method for defeating this boss is to have Barret attacking with his gun and having Cloud using Bolt Magic. However if the scorpions raises its tail do not attack, or it will attack you with... kula shakerz 2003-03-03 This guide (part 2) will help you defeat the bosses that you'll encounter on your journey in Final Fantasy VII. 11 Gi Attack Do not attack this boss with Fire, because it loves it! Use any other magic as well as Summons and Limit Breaks. Ignore the two flames as just go all-out attack on the Gi. When its dead... FINAL FANTASY VII > General Discussions > Topic Details How do I solve the Mayor of Midgar's Password? Walk to the upper right room, alsoknown as the 'Space Dev. Research Library', which has a blue floor and greenshelves. Check the file on the LEFT of the MIDDLE shelf and consult the tablebelow for the password.2 Economic report: Space Dev Program -- BEST1 Results of failed space mission "YA-79" -- KING1 Breakdown of SOLDIER members by class -- BOMB10 New plans for urban planning -- MAKOYou will get an Elemental Materia from Mayor Domino on your first guess of the password. So there is no simple "this is always the password" solution. But some help from my guide should see you through. You come across the Shinra Mayor on Floor 62 of the Shinra HQ on Disc 1. If you get his password right first try, he will give you an Elemental materia as well as his Keycard. To work out his password, visit the 4 libraries on this floor. The sign outside each room tells you what the Topic of the room is. View the various books in the library and see which one doesn't belong in each room according to the Topic of the room. After each book title is a number. This number corresponds to a letter in the book's title. So if the number is 9 for example, you want the 9th letter. Once you have all 4 letters, unscramble them for the password. So, for example, if the Topic of the room is "Scientific Research Library", the odd book out is "The Ancients in History" . If the number is "14", you want the 14th letter of the book title; in this case, "H". If the Topic of the room is "Peace Preservation/Weapon Dev. Research Library", the odd book out is "Reactor Construction Chart" (as this would belong more correctly in "Urban Dev. Research Library)". Recognizing that you want to access the 63rd, 64th, and 65th floors, he will offer you his keycard if you can guess his password. The problem is that the correct answer is randomized. You can continue to guess from the list of answers that you can pick from until you discover the correct one, but, if you get it right on your first try, Mayor Domino will throw in the Elemental materia as a bonus reward. For those that want to work out the correct answer, it lies in the four research libraries that are on the same floor. After reading the plaque that is outside each research library, you will be told what books to expect in each room. There is one file that has been misplaced from another library, and, collectively, these will read the password. For example, one misplaced book could be "7 Diminishing Mako energy and Planet movements." The number is the first clue, indicating that we need to look for the seventh letter in the title – which, for this file, would be "S." That means that the four-letter password must contain an S. After you have worked out what the four letters are, return to Mayor Domino who will present you with six answers to choose from. It's now time to unravel the word scramble, working out which password matches the four letters that you have uncovered.
