Bsa troop guide patch

These are patches that are usually found on a Loop 618 Scout's uniform. There are many other patches that you may encounter in Scouting. There are some exceptions, but most patches are not listed here are not worn on the uniform. (If you have any questions ask a Scouter, or click here to visit the BSA website for official information on all patches and insignia.) The right pocket (see note F) is the only location where a Scout can put a patch of his choice. In particular, any patches on the bottom of the front, sides or back of the uniform should be removed. Some scouts buy or make a red vest felt that they can wear to show off other patches. Previously held rank badges or office badges should not be worn on this vest or anywhere else. These images show a short-sleeved scout shirt. When sewing patches to a long-sleeved shirt estimate where the cuffs would be on a short-sleeved shirt and place the patch accordingly. Straight sleeve A. Patches American Flag comes included with uniform shirt. B. Patrol emblems go to the middle position of the right sleeve. Since January 2010, none of our patrols have used emblems, but if they adopt them, this is where they will go. C. If our troops win a prize for the quality unit, the patch is worn at the bottom of the right sleeve. D. Umar Loops front shirt indicates the branch scouting a boy is in, so Troop 618 members wear Boy Scout loops. The new Green Boys Scout loops are illustrated here. The old Red Boys Scout loops are also acceptable. E. Scouts who join the Order of the Arrow can place their OA Lodge insignia on the right pocket flap. Scouts who are not in OA should not have any patch on the right pocket flap. F. The right pocket is known as the Temporary Patch location. This is the only place on his uniform where a Scout can wear any scouting patch of his choice. Typical examples include Summer Camp, Camporee, Coastal Cleanup and Totin' Chip Patches. A single patch can be worn here at a time. G. A Scout who won Patch Recruiter, by bringing in a friend who then joins the Band, can wear this patch under his right pocket. H. World Crest is worn by all Scouting members to symbolize their membership in the World Scouting movement. It is worn above the left pocket. I. Scout's current rank badge is worn in his left pocket. The rows are (in order of advancement) Scout, Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star, Life and Eagle. J. If a Boy Scout has won the Arrow of Light award in the Cub Scouts, he can wear his boy scout under his left pocket. This is the only Cub Scout award that can be worn on a Boy Scout uniform. The left sleeve K. The Monterey Bay Area Count patch should be worn at the top of the left sleeve. L. The unit number patch should be worn under the Council patch. Our unit number is 618. Indicated is the older white number on red red patch style. The new style has green numbers on a tanned field. Any one of them is acceptable. M. Scouts who have assumed a leading role in the Troops wear the appropriate office badge on their left sleeve. Examples of office badges include Patrol Leader, Senior Patrol Leader, Den Chief and Bugler. N. Scouts who have won a trained patch by taking an official BSA training course (e.g. by taking Den Chief training at a Pow Wow Council) may wear patches to boottom of their left sleeve. I deserve the Sash O Badge. Other patches can be sewn on the back of the merit badge, but they may not include previously held rank badges or office badges. Click here to return to the Troop 618 homepage. The web page of Cirol Milazzo The placement of insignia on the uniform is important. The uniform inspection sheet shall have guides for the placement of insignia. There is also a Male & Female Leader Uniform Inspection Sheet.If you wonder where a patch goes, it's probably a temporary patch. See the scouting FAQ page for help – they can be displayed on a blanket, vest, display wall, shoebox, or the back of the merit badge scarf. See bSA Insignia Guide for more information about uniforms, patches, and such. The scouting program in America has always included uniforms for its members and volunteers to identify members and shows that they are part of the Boy Scouts of America. Scouts and leaders should wear their uniforms to all patrol meetings, troop meetings, and scout outings. Bronze and Green Scouts BSA uniform is a well-known symbol of American scouting. All the scouts in the program wear the same uniform, the major differences being the badges that each scout won and the band-specific necker. Most scout bands also have an activity uniform, which is often a custom T-shirt just for the band. Activity uniforms are worn for work projects, sports activities, and other events in which the dress uniform could get damaged. The official dress uniform is commonly referred to as the Class A uniform and the Class B activity uniform, even if they are not correct BSA terms. The best place to buy custom scouting t-shirts is ClassB.com website. ClassB.com is an official licensee of the Boy Scouts of America and is actually led by several Eagle Scouts. Each scout belongs to a patrol within the band. To promote the identity of the patrol, each patrol chooses a patrol patch and creates a patrol flag, name and stp. Sashes and SuchThe BSA Insignia Guide discuss all the uniformity, placement, and other use badge. The placement of the merit badge on the scarf depends on the scout. Badges can be displayed in rows of two or three, starting three centimeters down from the top of the scarf. No badges required. Scout can put all silver-bounded silver-bounded badges first, followed by elective badges with green edges. Or, display them alphabetically, or by preference, or by color, or in the earned order (which is most common). When the front of the scarf is full, additional merit badges can be displayed on the back or on a second or third scarf. The merit scarf is worn draped over the right shoulder and left hip. Only one scarf is worn at a time. The same goes for the Order of The Sagittarius. Scout wears either a merit scarf badge or a scarf, but no more than one scarf at a time. These two scarves show merit badges in rows of three. They're my two sons, Eagles. One has all of Eagle's badges-required on top, the other just won them as won. Comments: January 26, 2017 - DCScoutMomQuestion: my son recently passed his board review and will receive His Eagle Scout award this weekend. I discovered too late that his bronze class A is far too small. But he's got Venture's shirt from which he works in the summer camp at Spanish Peaks. He is now over 18 and his COH was rushed and planned very quickly with no time to get a new Class A tan. Is it appropriate for him to wear his uniformed green shirt with his merit scarf or OA scarf for Eagle's ceremony? January 29, 2017 - Scouter Paul@DCScoutMom - He shouldn't wear his OA scarf at an Eagle ceremony because it's only for when he's performing an OA function. He can wear the venture uniform, or borrow a more suitable boy scout uniform from a friend. Mar 03, 2017 - LynnWhen is the right time and place to where the badge of merit is? Where find the official policy in this regard? Mar 03, 2017 - Scout Paul@Lynn - The merit badge can be worn whenever the uniform is worn, but it's not practical to wear it most of the time because it gets in the way. Honor courts, review boards, and other more formal events are when scouts usually wear a scarf. If you follow the link to BSA BSA Guide in the content of the page above, you will find the official BSA policy - which does not mention when to wear and when not to wear a scarf. May 30, 2017 - District CommishCan a Scout who is not a U.S. citizen wear their nation's flag on the boy scout uniform, and if so, where? I know the American flag has been on the BSA uniform since 70's. Many non-American scouts, who are part of a local package, troops, or crew here in Europe do not regard the flag and national anthem of feet, but do not greet (although some do). I checked and there is no specific mention of this in any of the BSA guidelines that I checked. June 19, 2017 - Fabel Konicke My son returns from Camp Geronimo with a whole bag of badges and rings... I don't know what to do with them? three badges, Camp Geronimo 2017, Rainbow Trail and for Tenderfoot Run; as well as rings. Big G Gold, Brave, Tiger Eye, East Webber, Geronimo Trail Tenderfoot Run, Turkey Springs and one with just symbols (??) can Scout at Tenderfoot? Anyway - Any help is appreciated. June 20, 2017 - Scouted Paul@Fabel - the best thing to do about you is to have the scout ask his scout where the patches are going. There is probably a document patch scheme in the camp that explains where they go and you might even find that on the camp site, of which they have one. Dec 21, 2017 - EliWhere do the fireman go on the putty, totin chip and cyber chip? Dec 21, 2017 - Scouter Paul@Eli - All are temporary patches and one at a time can be displayed centered on the right pocket. Dec 26, 2017 - LisaWould she wear a scout uniform to a Scout camp interview? Dec 27, 2017 - Scout Paul@Lisa - If you are a registered BSA member, then it seems a good idea to wear your interview uniform. April 11, 2018 - Larry CoxHi I'm 62, an Eagle, and they're returning to Scouting to help their 2 older grandchildren in their troops and the 2 youngest still in the Cubs. A silly question, but I can't remember wearing a colorful tee under my uniform. Now I'm almost blind... scan through all the posts on your site... lol, but please what is needed, or what works best? Is it different for adults? And as a foot note... we all wear clean pressed complete uniforms to each band and function pack. And it's awesome! I was taught to lead by example. and we had remarkable leaders. thank youApr 13, 2018 - Scouter Paul@Larry - you can wear another layer under the uniform shirt if you want. It is not part of the uniform, but it is useful when outdoors in colder weather, or just for comfort. April 17, 2018 - Larry CoxScouter Paul,Thank you! Our band doesn't wear (or require) a neckerchief with the uniform that makes certain tees, well... as a choice. With no guidance the boys tend to go for any tee, often their brightest neon colors from their closet, which keeps them warmer and more wearing a tee, but looks yucky... Of course, the simplest answer is to just wear neckchiefs that hide tees, so hopefully the band will reconsider one day! May 10, 2018 - Scothy EdHi Everyone, I'm looking for bSA language that addresses shoes. Currently, I have two brothers in my band, who, in my opinion, are lazy, they refuse to wear shoes to troop meetings and wear white socks with flip flops and on the night of uniform inspection wearing black shocks and black Nike shower type slip on the slips, what more they can not participate in troop games or activities when we climb a catch tower. There are rules that we can make you wear closed toed shoes next to a rule of troops because my committee fears kickback. Thank you and look forward to your email -Scouty Ed- Troop 111May 14, 2018 - Scout Paul@Ed - You can see in the uniform inspection sheet that BSA socks and brown leather shoes or cloth are expected. But there is no requirement for scouts to wear uniforms to be BSA members. When adult volunteers start inventing rules for scouts, it tends not to work well. If their lack of appropriate footwear causes their patrols to perform poorly in competitions with other patrols, then maybe their patrol colleagues would encourage them to change. For example, a simple recognition for the patrol with the highest percentage of tower climbing scouts or participating in the game - their patrol could not get without participating them. Or maybe there's another reason besides laziness why he wears what he's wearing. A caring adult volunteer might try to find out why. Dec 15, 2018 - LLM@ Mother Scout, old-fashioned 02/21/12 - I came to this page to read more about ordering Uniform Scout pieces and unfortunately at the top of this thread I ran into a post from Scout Mom questioning a photo of a possible Scout or model? (rhetorical statement), Mother Scout writes a long post lectures her own parents and growing into a Dutch household... No other comment I ran over covered a topic like that and asked me why the admin left this on the thread. I would like to read comments based on real questions and answers (Q & A) not a thread comment ... My point is, does this thread have an admin that removes posts that are not relevant? Dec 16, 2018 - Scouter Paul@LLM - Sometimes comments are just comments, not questions or answers. If someone has a view or comment, and is related to the content of the page and is not inflammatory, then do no harm. I try to remove off-topic, meaningless, or inappropriate comments. March 1, 2019 - XineMy daughter is a member of a new BSA Scouts band. I'm getting ready to finish his uniform, and I want to make sure I put the items right on my sleeve. I can't find anywhere to show the Founder's red bar. Should they hit troop numbers? Also, her shirt is one of the those with a cuff of sorts around the bottom of the sleeve. There doesn't seem to be much room for her council patch, troop numbers, founder's bar, her position patch, and her trained patch. Can the trained patch go on top of the cuff? March 2, 2019 - My husband's wife wants to sew the Eagle Scout patch on his jean jacket. Is it appropriate? If so, where is the appropriate placement? He's not involved in a band anymore. He just wants to wear the patch. Thank you for your feedback. March 4, 2019 - Scouter Paul@Wife - No, it is not appropriate to display uniform BSA patches on other clothes. March 4, 2019 - Scouter Paul@Xine - Yes, the Founders' Bar goes directly under the unit numbers, the touch is finally. The trained patch can be sewn on the side of the cuff. April 3, 2019 - My son DHMi has been at every BSA meeting for over a year and there is a presence pin/medal you can get to do so. It wasn't granted to him, so I have to buy it? Also, where should igo? April 3, 2019 - Scout Paul@DH - If you're asking about the Participation Pin, then it goes over the left pocket. There are no requirements set to win it, so it is up to the Scout's troops to decide to win it. And, anyone who can purchase from Scout Shop.If your scout is interested in winning, he should ask Scoutmaster's what the requirements the troops have to win. Scout On! April 24, 2019 - Ken's a BSA Scouts rank the badge centered vertically as well as horizontally, as described on the Uniform Inspection Sheet (www.boyscouttrail.com/docs/uniform_boy.pdf), or is positioned just below the pocket flap as described on page 32 of the Prizes and Badges Guide (filestore.scouting.org/filestore/pdf/33066/33066_Scouts_BSA_Insignia_WEB.pdf)? Both appear to be official sources, but clearly contradict each other. Thank! April 24, 2019 - Scout Paul@Ken - Both those who have said, and anyone else that I have seen, say centered on the left stan pocket. I think the placement in the images you mentioned is just the artist's interpretation of the center. Some shirt pockets are now flat rather than pointed. Some are billowed rather than sewn flat. So the exact vertical center is different on different pocket types. Centering the patch in the available horizontal and vertical space is the objective. April 24, 2019 - Ken@Scouter Paul, thanks for the quick response and good information! Now my son (a 4th generation Scout) will be officially for his first band campout this weekend! April 24, 2019 - Ken@Scouter Paul, I looked at them again, and in both cases the pocket is the same, but the patch is positioned differently. If the BSA Scouts have an official position on the position, they should describe that in all official materials. I understand that the pockets have changed, but in this case Scouts BSA specifically demonstrates two different ways to vertical center patches on same pocket. I'll make a decision so that my son can wear his rank, but BSA Scouts can't expect a demanding outcome quite in line with is inaccurate instructions. Centered between the top and bottom of the pocket would result in the flap overlapping rank on a pocket square. The official guide to the insignia and inspection sheet describes the same pocket, but with the rank insignia in different positions, one centered between the tip of the flap and the bottom and one even below. I stand by notation Scouts BSA is disseminating conflicting information. Thank you for your work on this question, but it seems that we get to choose individually what it means, because vertical centering is not even well defined by official Scouts BSA rules and literature. But to be clear, I have to take that we cannot trust the official rules of the BSA Scout badge and the guidelines and instruction sheets, nor the inspection sheets, because these are just interpretations of the artist? I think our children and we, as scooters, deserve more than that for the direction on badge placementApr 24, 2019 - Scouter Paul@Ken - Using your judgment is a good idea. Center the patch as best you can, and I think it will be fine. I think BSA is not too concerned about a patch being 1/4 or 1/2 inch off center, but if you think this lack of specific information needs correction, please contact BSA at this address. April 25, 2019 - Ken@Scouter Paul, thanks, and I hope I didn't call as I was downloading on you. You're innocent! I am frustrated that the BSA Scouts would issue a regulation for placing patches showing where to put it and then provide an inspection sheet that each Scout gigs that followed the regulation. I will contact them and request standardisation of the direction. Thank you, @Scouter Paul! Your site is priceless to me! April 25, 2019 - KenAnd just for giggles, Scouts BSA requires Service Stars to be 3/8 inches above square knots or your pocket if you don't have knots. I would argue that with this level of specificity at eight of an inch that BSA Scouts can do for service stars, they can do better than 1/4 to 1/2 of an inch on the badge placement. I'll contact them. October 9, 2019 - JenDo uniform female tops must be hidden in because theyâ€™ are cut with the rudder that will not allow to remain hidden inOct 11, 2019 - Jane@Jen - As of October 1, 2013, the official position on the Boy Scouts of Americaâ€™ uniform policy is that shirts and blouses must be worn in tucked in, whether the wearer is a Cub Scout, Scout, Sea Scout, Venturer, or adult scout. In the past, the guidelines have simply stated that the uniform wearer be cared for in appearance. Smoothness includes tucking in shirt or blouse. This update will appear in related resources, such as uniform inspection sheets, as they are reviewed and printed. BSA Guide for prizes and insignia: insignia: Policywww.scouting.org/resources/insignia-guide/BSA says that uniform shirts should always be hidden inblog.scoutingmagazine.org/2013/10/09/tuck-everlasting-scout-uniform-shirts-should-always-be-tucked-in-bsa-says/Oct 19, 2019 - Heather Cullen My son is the band bugger. Where does this patch bugler GREAT go? October 19, 2019 - Scouter PaulThe 3-inch diameter bugler patch goes into the badge on the office spot (also referred to as heading 3) - see Insignia Guide. October 24, 2019 - Mick Epperson To everyone out there, that's all in weapons about centering. Take a catch. Choose the center vertically, make it look good up and down a let your son go to the meeting, exit, ceremony or whatever. Scouting is about building youth to be good citizens and ready to face the world. Not to prepare them to be in the Russian army. Relax, Ken. The premises has enough to worry about bankruptcy, gender equality, two adults in each tent, shoes or slippers (really)? Make them make a 10-mile hike on a super rock trail). October 29, 2019 - Richard WilsonI understands that it is important to be prepared and dress according to weather conditions. However, is there an official BSA/Orientation rule that states Boy Scout shorts don't have to be worn as part of an official uniform after daylight saving time? I can not find any information on this question, any information is highly appreciated. October 29, 2019 - Scouter Paul@Richard - No, there is no such rule or orientation. Dec 06, 2019 - Svitlana Bls is there specific color for Boy Scoutsocks socks? I canâ€™ find this writing anywhere. Last night, my son had his board review at Tenderfoot and he didnâ€™ pass because he didnâ€™ wear green socks as part of the uniform class A. I am very sorry for him so much for two great reasons: 1. He was preparing himself at this very far. And being his mother, I'm telling you it meant a lot to him. I was delighted for him, too, that the power of faith had. And reason number two. I feel horrible because I didn't give him the right things that I should be doing. Thanks a lot December 6, 2019 - NavyboneDec 27, 2019 - Ruthlve just attended an Eagle CoH for 4 Eagle Scouts at a band of friends. I was quite shocked by the uniform standard at such a prestigious event.... no neckchiefs and scouts wearing jeans. As a former ASM to a band of high standards and the wife and stepmother of the Eagles Scouts, I was disappointed see such a drop in standards. Even the scoutmaster wore jeans as she officiated CoH (does that speak volumes?). Her son was one to touch Eagle and at the end of the ceremony she announced she was stepping down as SM. I got the bloater hit in the new SM and was glad to see him at least wearing green pants. I asked him about the neckerchiefs and he said that they were now optional and the band voted not to wear them. Even for Class A occasions. Also for pants, green were optional, jeans were acceptable even for Class A. This is the new Standard BSA or is it just that troops?! Does anyone else think this is a terrible drop in standards? Thank. January 5, 2020 - JohnRichard,Down here in Florida, shorts are very common all year round. Scout or green (almost color) shorts are pretty much what my band of 25 wears all year round. January 5, 2020 - JohnRuth,My band hasn't had a neckerchief for years. As a Scout-run organization, the Band decided they didn't want to have them several years ago (before my oldest joined) and each so often have another vote. And as far as I can tell, that's perfectly allowed. In the area (SW Florida), I'd say less than half don't have neckchiefs. Jeans are frowned upon; if no Scout shorts/pants, then at least green shorts/pants almost in color. Could it be an economic problem? January 6, 2020 - Cole KiserMy son just worked as a coach for winter NYLT. They were given special patches, slides, kerchiefs, belt buckles, nametags and epolets, all of which were mandatory for trainers. My question is whether the epolets, who are a futuristic silver net, are legal because they were scout issued at the camp? May 13, 2020 - JoeDo you know what signs/patches are required for boy scout uniform shirt? I can find a bunch of examples of where they should all be placed on the shirt, but nothing that provides what is needed on the shirt. Thanks, JoeMay 13, 2020 - Scout Paul@Joe - The only insignia needed are the U.S. flag and BSA strips that come included on the shirt. Usually, the following are the key elements that a scout would have displayed:- Loops shoulder identification program (Cubs, Scouts BSA, Venturing) - Council emblem-numeral unitThese elements act a kind of scoutaddress, so others can see that the scout is in scouts BSA Troop 123 in XYZ Union.Sep 20, 2020 - Gale StanfordI have been told, but can't find in writing that the new BSA women's shirts are made in the style of military shirts and are not to be worn hidden in the shirts are short and tucking them in is almost impossible. You can confirm whether this guidance is official or not. I understand old uniform shirts are made to be hidden in but I think that's not true for new ones. Sep 22, 2020 - Scouter Paul@Gale - Currently, all BSA publications and uniform inspection sheets require that the shirt be hidden. When you can find a BSA source approving untucked t-shirts, you tell me and I'll help spread the word.
