SitchinStu InformationBirth July 11, 1920Baco, Azerbaijan RSSFall October 9, 2010 (90 years)New York, U.S.Andeany, Israeli and Soviet nationalitySed education at the London School of Economics and Political Science University LondonSportation InformationCupation Writer, journalist and historian Area writer, known for the ancient theory of astronautsWebSite www.sitchin.com, Azerbaijan RSS, July 11, 1920 -New York, United States, October 9, 2010) was a writer and pseudo-scientist, author of a series of books that promote the pseudo-scientific theory of ancient astronauts, the supposed extraterrestrial origin of mankind, which attributes the creation of the Sumerian culture of Anunnak (or Nephilim, or giants) that will come from a planet named Nibiru, which supposedly would exist in the solar system. His assumptions were rejected by scientists, historians and archaeologists, who disagreed on both the translation of ancient texts and his delusion of physics. Biography was educated in the British Mandate of Palestine and graduated from the London School of Economics in Economic History, he knew something about classical and modern Hebrew, and a little Sumerian; and other ancient languages of the East. He translated and reinterpreted ancient tablets and inscriptions (many of them did not exist or were not documented by any archaeologist or specialist in Sumerian and Assyrian-Babylonian languages) of the peoples where the first civilizations originated. For many years he was one of Israel's leading journalists and editors. He lived in New York, where he participated in television and radio programs. Sitchin's work has been translated into twenty-six languages and published in pocket editions, including Braille for the Blind. Sitchin's theories are based on personal interpretations of Sumerian, Babylonian and Middle Eastern mythologies, archaeology and the Bible, comparing it to Old Testament books, the Book of Jubilee and Sources. Speculations Sitchin: the creation of humanity by aliens Sitchin interpreted translations into modern languages of texts written on various clay tablets found in different museums around the world, although many of them are false or non-existent, undocumented in any verifiable source, the external Sitchin himself. From the existing tablets he came to confuse Akkadian texts with texts in Sumerian language, freely inventing translations. According to this interpretation, we should be talking about a new version of human creation, according to which extraterrestrial beings will be responsible for the origin and evolution of the human species (through genetically modified intervention). These interpretations were discredited by experts in ancient languages. Thus, the expert on ancient language Michael S. Heiser faced many errors and inaccuracies in Sitchin's translations. While Professor Ronald H. Fritze, in his book Invented Knowledge: False History, False History, False Science and Pseudo-Publishing, mentions as an example of the historical forgery of Stychin's assertion that the Sumerian sign of Dean-Gere means cigars of smoldering rockets, adding that Sitchin's appropriation of meanings to ancient words is biased and often forced. Fritze also criticizes Sitchin's methodology, saying that when critics tested Sitchin's references, they found that this quote was often taken out of context, or dotting his quotes to distort the evidence and prove its claims. Evidence is presented selectively and all conflicting evidence is removed. He was the author of The Chronicles of the Earth, a series of seven books in which he presented his ideas: the 12th Planet (represented in 1976) was the first of them. In addition to these copies, another 7 volumes accompany the series, adding the latest research, discoveries and new exhibitions about their inventions. Their interpretations provoked a very diverse reaction. According to his reinterpretation of translations by experts of Sumerian, Akkadian and Assyrian and Babylonian languages, there is a planet in the solar system called Nibiru, which approaches every 3,600 years, causing positive changes or catastrophes. The size and orbit with which Nibiru (The Crossover Planet) enters our solar system (in favor of clockwise, unlike other planets) will cause such events. According to Sitchin's theories based on his personal interpretations, and what he believes should be read in Sumerian writings about the origin of planet Earth, Nibiru (Marduk for Babylonians) was captured by the orbit of Neptune (EA). He came in. The solar system, contrary to the direction in which other planets rotate (against clock hands) and several satellites of the intruder planet got to Earth (Tiamat), dividing it into two parts, and moving it from a natural orbit. After all, our planet will take shape as we know it today, and the remnants of the collision will belt asteroids. According to Sitchin, Sumerian texts would talk about the extraterrestrial race (Anunnaki), which would create people to work as slaves in their mines in Africa (and elsewhere on earth, such as South America and Mesoamerica), in order to obtain minerals and metals, mostly gold. According to his reinvention, The black head of Schumeria was created by these creatures, mixing the essences of life of the male/female monkey and Anunnak. The process was to fix on the existing creature image (genetic, internal composition) Anunnaki; that is, exercise improvements in male/female monkeys through genetic manipulation and thus moving ahead of evolutionary events, bringing to human life, Homo sapiens. The term black head is autonomous that Sumerians are used to refer to themselves. They considered themselves slaves in the service of the gods, who would create them to work for them. All this, according to Sitchin's personal interpretation. The Sumerian plates refer to black people who were created in a geographical region called Apsu (AB.SU, Lower World or Southern Hemisphere), Sitchin thought it was in line with West Africa. However, apsu or AB.SU, for Sumerians, is not a geographical region, but the basic male principle of fresh water of underground aquifers. Sitchin says the Mesopotamian royal family is a combination of gods and humans, or that they were direct descendants of the solar god, Shamash.
