Why we are different

Below lists the value propositions that kimbocorp.com has over corporate service providers. We position ourselves differently from them in the follow ways.

Why we are different	What others do	What we do
No Nominee Directors	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. They provide a nominee director arrangement 2. Banks tend to treat nominee directors with disdain 3. Nominee directors also do not proactively resolve issues or answer queries from banks 4. Neither do the companies themselves would actually know or have spoken or communicated with the nominee directors, as they are really shadows in nature 5. This means there is lesser probability to have any financial accounts opened 6. And in Singapore, there are a myriad of financial accounts that can be opened and suggested to the customer 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. We provide a resident director arrangement. 2. Resident directors have absolute duty of care and are involved in the management decisions actively. See virtual board meetings. 3. Resident directors show up with foreign directors together to explain the business to the banks and resolve queries proactively 4. This gives banks confidence that they are working with one team from the company and that there is someone in the business responsible for AML/CFT and other governance and statutory responsibilities
Real Virtual office	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. They provide a registered office address, usually at the corp sec office 2. This address is only for mailing purposes and to fulfil the main stat requirement of not using a P.O box address 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. We provide, in addition to the registered address, a virtual office address. 2. VO can be used for listings on google my business 3. VO is a physical location that your customers can visit, or you can use to meet customers if they are at the location 4. VO is staffed. That means there is physical presence during normal working hours and a number that can be reached and answered.
Virtual board meeting environment	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Normal CSPs do not provide an environment where corporate and board issues are discussed and resolved regularly. 2. They would usually be around during major corporate actions, already decided by the board, so all they do is to prepare the paperwork and file and charge 3. If there are no such corporate events, then they do not add any other value except to show up during renewals 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. We provide and initiate meetings to happen at the board level regularly 2. 2-4 times a monthly, the board will receive notifications to schedule the next board session 3. The sessions is attended by the resident director and used to cover topics such as stakeholder (incl banks) application and relationship-building, hiring, lead generation, contractual arrangement, company valuations and any other non-technical legal or tax issues. 4. There is absolute peace of mind that the resident director would advise and resolve problems, big and small, concerning the management of the business. 5. There is no withholding of information or force-selling, since the resident is part of the furniture and as a constitutional right to do his/her best for the business.
Lots of extras	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Normal CSPs do not do much more than provide, under a transaction environment, services related to pass, permits, accounting and similar applications. 2. They usually sell these type of services with the mentality that all of them can be resolved just by monetary exchange, which is not the case in many instances 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. We provide, under the virtual board environment, the advice and difficulties, of how applying for permits and passes and accounts 2. We also suggest other additional accounts and services that the business can set up with, such as with payment gateways, foreign currency remittance accounts, escrow accounts, even crypto exchange accounts. All the auxiliary services suggested are are merchant (corporate) level only. 3. We also apply milestone-based planning, usually starting with putting the company in the position to know who are the best stakeholders to engage with immediately. We perform a "niche marketing exercise" to position one product/service and identify who "should" show interest. And from this pool of people, we would also recommend thousands of leads so that the company can start engaging quickly
