View PDF files with Lumin PDF You have (at least) two options for viewing .pdf files on Chromebook: Google Chrome PDF Viewer (default viewer) and an app called Lumin PDF. Both viewers will make it easy to navigate in long documents (such as IRS Pub 4012). Some people prefer the Google Chrome PDF Viewer because it is usually faster to download and requires fewer mouse clicks to display the file. With this viewer, you can annotate the file with a pen and backlight, and you can save the file with these annotations. However, the pen is controlled by the mouse and this leads to a horrible 'pen'manship (pun intended). Other people prefer the Lumin PDF Viewer because it has more editing tools. With this viewer, you can annotate the file with a pen and a marker. You can also add text, add a signature (from the file) and add comments. In addition, it allows the manipulation of the page: turn the page, delete the page, move the page (reorder), insert a blank page, and harvest the page. You can save a file with these annotations. Perhaps the most important feature of Lumin PDF is the ability to create and save personal bookmarks. This feature is not available from Google Chrome PDF Viewer. Choose which viewer to use up to you. One thing to consider is the Lumin PDF server often does not respond. If you find that this is the case, and if you need to view the file right now, you'll have to use Google Chrome PDF Viewer. Continue on this web page to learn about the Lumin PDF Viewer. Go to this page to learn about Google Chrome PDF Viewer. Using the Lumin PDF Viewer to view the .pdf file using the Lumin PDF Viewer it should exist in your personal online store (Drive and Docs folder on the dashboard). If you haven't stored the .pdf files on this drive, you can't use the Lumin PDF Viewer. If you want to open a .pdf file in an online store, go to the Dashboard tab in your web browser and then click on Drive and Docs. Click the right button on the file name. In the pop-up menu, select Open with, then Lumin PDF. When you request, click on the Connect button to Google Drive. (The first time you do this procedure, you will now see four more small windows in a row in which you have to agree to terms to continue. Depending on the speed of your Internet connection, it will now take about 30-60 seconds to open and display the file. Once the document opens in Lumin PDF viewing, there is a toolbar at the top of the document window. Click on the 'Panel' icon on the left end of the toolbar. On the left side of the document window will open a vertical panel. The new panel has four types: Thumbnails - a mini-view of each page in the document. - Think of it as a table of content. The symbol to the left of the section name will expand the contents of this section when you click the icon. Notes-These -These red-ink notes added by NTTC. Bookmarks - You can add bookmarks to the document by visiting the page and clicking on the bookmark symbol at the top right-right of the page. Give the bookmark a name and then click on the bookmark to add a bookmark to the list in the left panel. If you've made any changes to your file (annotations, bookmarks, etc.) and want to save them, go to the top of the page and look in the toolbar with the blue share button. To the right of this button is a button with a cloud symbol and an up arrow. It's a synchronization team. Click on the synchronization button and follow the steps to put a copy of the file back in the dashboard (google drive). You can rename a copy with a name that you will immediately find out, otherwise the name of the copy will essentially be the same as the original file name, and it can make life difficult when deciding which file (re)open.
