

William Yale

Research Fellow

William Yale (Will) is a Surface Warfare Officer (SWO) in the U.S. Navy currently serving as a Naval Expeditionary Analyst at Headquarters Marine Corps (HQMC), Programs and Resources (P&R) Department. He also serves as a detailee to the National Commission on the Future of the Navy and as a Research Fellow at the Yokosuka Council on Asia-Pacific Studies (YCAPS). Previously, he was stationed in Japan for six years, serving aboard a forward-deployed amphibious ship, destroyer, and cruiser in Sasebo and Yokosuka.

Will earned an MA in International Economics and Strategic Studies from the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS), a Certificate in Chinese and American Studies from the Hopkins-Nanjing Center (HNC), and a BA in Public Policy & Law from Trinity College. He also completed a year of intensive Mandarin Chinese study in Beijing at Beijing Foreign Studies University and Minzu University of China.

His writing has appeared in Proceedings, The Diplomat, and the Center for International Maritime Security (CIMSEC). Will is a term member of the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR).