

Amid the genocide and systematic crimes committed by the regime of the Islamic Republic in Iran, doctors and healthcare workers are risking everything to save lives.

Despite the constant threat of arrest, imprisonment, torture, violence and death , they continue to treat hundreds of thousands of injured people with courage and dedication.

The situation is dire. Medical supplies are scarce, hospitals are under immense pressure, and repression makes even basic healthcare a dangerous act of resistance. Yet these professionals refuse to turn away from those in need.

They cannot do this alone.

Your support can help provide essential medical resources and protect those who are risking their lives to care for others.

Please consider making a donation—every contribution, no matter the size, can make a life-saving difference.
