Provocative + insightful, Sarosh delivers interactive talks and games for entrepreneurs that delight and empower your audience to tap into their Inner Badass power so they can create a life and a business they love.

What people are saying: "You made a dream of mine seem like a real possibility in a matter of minutes. You really inspired me." "What resonated most with my soul was Sarosh's stories. I found myself sitting with shivers throughout them and feel very grateful that they were shared." "It was exactly what I needed today and I felt very held in exploring new ideas and practices." "Collaborative, engaged, interesting."

Signature Talks

From Feeling Like a F-up to Owning Your Inner Badass (45 minutes)

Learn about the 5 main causes of entrepreneur self-sabotage—and why it seems so impossible to solve (spoiler alert: it's not!) This interactive presentation is all about getting to the root of your fear and taking the right steps to eliminate it. A fun round of my signature "Delete Your Inner Critics Card Game" will take the pressure off and help you get your mojo back!

Mindset Hacks to Get Paid What You're Worth (20-45 min)

How often do you play down your value and (therefore) your prices? Learn to find and transform your own mindset traps around your value—so you can finally feel confident in your worth AND portray it to clients with ease. Get rid of the stubborn thoughts keeping you trapped in fear around charging higher prices—once and for all.

About Sarosh

Sarosh Anwar is a Badass Entrepreneur. She immigrated to Canada on her own, fresh out of university. Within 3 years of arriving in a new country, she had amassed a real estate portfolio worth over $2.7 million built on hustle and self-belief—all while working in the non-profit sector earning peanuts! Her passion is working with entrepreneurial women who feel held back by their old emotional wounds. She helps them clear their "old crap" so they can build a life and a business they love.
