The giant screen is the same LED billboard technology that has been used with the largest Pac-Man in the world. This provides a high contrast of games that also cannot be accurately played on a home TV or mobile device. The game also re-uses gun technology and thrill-D sound system from the popular Jurassic Park Arcade. This means that easy-to-use controls that players of all ages will be able to get the hang of the hang instantly. They ate the guns a bit however - the tips now have a green LED mechanism to they feel the rays of the gun! Two available game modes: ticket mode and non-ticket mode in Players try to survive as long as they can against the ever aggressive hordes of invaders who will march to the bottom of the screen. The larger invaders will break up into smaller ones that move faster as the players progress. Shoot elusive bombs to help clear the screen and win tickets! Survive the longest for the biggest points and win that Hi-Score ticket jackpot! In Non-Ticket mode, the game takes on a more classic look as players have to survive 50 waves of enemies in their quest for Top Score. This makes it an arcade entertainment game, not a redemption game. UFO waves happen every 5 rounds. This mode stimulates head-to-head competition and also has a unique oatmeal vote. The Walking Dead Arcad taps into the endless popularity of thecoming zombie Apocalypse, and brings the biggest zombie franchise to TV now! Walking Dead Arcade puts players in the shoes of survivors trying to escape from a West Georgia correctional facility after it is captured by a zombie. At the disposal of the player is a realistic-looking crossbow controller, which is installed on the front. As expected, the zombies in the game can only be killed by headshots, so players need to make sure their sighting skills as they play. But the WalkingDead Arcade game takes some pity on the players by offering the occasional Bullet Time Event, which makes it easier for players to snipe certain zombies... Walking Dead Arcade gives players the chance to use any weapon at their disposal to survive, from axes, knives, hammers and crowbars to explosive arrows, propane tanks and more! This is for 3 lives only, two players of the game, a combined score. The machine can be installed on any number of men and extras, but the estimate will be taken at the end of the first 3 lost lives. All games must be shown from start to finish. The insides of the machine should not be shown. Message ViewPerforms in Funspot. John is left or red pistol and Greg is a right or blue gun. The two players presenting the thing are all messed up. This is my second attempt to do so and I'm not sure if it will appear right. This account was created under the name of John McAllister Greg Lau, but it only shows my name. Should let administrators see if they can do something with it. I JJT Johnny played the game that my nephews, Nieces, young cousins love it as well, Space Invaders Frenzy Trust: 23,003 Presentation Points: 12,067 and 60 for sponsor No. 12127 Originally published bensweenyonbass @reddef is this an alternative score for you? There's something wrong with that. I think you may need to download this through your own account if your name is on view. Hey Ben, I think it's a minor point as the same with Matthew's two player accounts, Felix Bros. The reason why it doesn't really matter is that a TG administrator can change the name in the accounts after they are contacted so they appear differently on the forums if necessary or requested. For those concerned about issues relating to two player submissions, please watch my post here: 1#post902276 thanks. -Duc My best streaming game Centpede: (786k, clean, don't swear for those who may be concerned) Nothing should be enough for people to vote world records or other entries. It's a crazy practice. -Janutzska I think it's about trying to live a life where I'm not contributing to cruelty in the world . . . As long as I'm on this planet, I want everyone I meet to know that I'm grateful to them for being here. - Jessica Chastain reached Kill Screen Score 967500 I JJT Got 1.1m Originally published by HugDD Hey Ben, I think it's moment, since the same is true of Matthew's two-player account, Felix Bros. The reason it doesn't really matter is that a TG administrator can change the name in the accounts after they are contacted so they appear differently on forums if necessary Requested. For those concerned about issues relating to two player submissions, please watch my post here: 1#post902276 thank you -Duc I agree now that I know John set up this account as a two-player account. The name display is like John McAllister made me think someone in Funspot set this up and presents a two-player score on John's behalf. That's why I tagged him to get his comment. I'm comfortable with people presenting 2p points as they see fit. The system does not accommodate them very well. Two players possess futuristic plasma cannons to defeat waves of downstream invaders to save The Earth and win big tickets! Larger than the life of the screen, (3 meter LED display), dual cockpit seating, more than 65,000 pulsating color, ultra-powerful blasters with special lighting effects, high reliability electronics, officially licensed by Taito Corporation Corporation
