It's a game that arrived on our smartphone a few years ago, but it has become one of the mythical devices on both iOS and Android. Actually playing a dash of geometry is not very difficult, we just have to click on our mobile screen to get different movements with vehicles. We cannot influence the speed of the vehicle, except for speed portals. While this may seem like a simple task, the truth is that this fun game has great difficulties. As with other similar projects, the first levels are simple, fast and practical. They help us gain self-confidence and gain certain skills with the dynamics of the game. However, as levels go, things get tricky. Geometry dash game that never dies There are 21 levels of the game plus added that is known as a challenge. Music accompanies us through these levels and time is an essential element. While the game is increasing its difficulty, you don't need to pass each level to try another, although effectively, if you don't have enough experience, it will be very difficult for you. If during the game you hit obstacles, you have to start the level from scratch. One of our goals is to get three secret coins that hide in each level. With these coins you can achieve new achievements. However, at this time the game did not receive a translation of the language. This means that it will only be available in English. Although this doesn't have to be an obstacle not to download it. In fact, the menu is very simple and we will quickly take advantage of the meaning of the various messages that will appear on the screen.
