Remind is a communication platform for teachers and students to talk to each other. Web software also has several useful features, such as sharing files and translating messages. This platform is designed for both offline and online teachers. As a teacher, you can send schedules, photos, files or even quizzes through messages to all students. Remind acts as a social network for educational purposes. Professors can easily contact their students as well as their parents without having to request personal numbers or emails. The website can also tell you if all your students have received your message or if someone is missing it. Educators start by creating a class that can function as a group in certain social networks. This is where teachers message everyone in the classroom. The platform also allows you to send private messages to a student or his parents. Parents make educational resources such as Powerpoint lessons accessible to everyone. Parents can also see your messages. All documents, spreadsheets, and other files are available under the Files tab for everyone in the class to access. Integrated Platforms and Other Features Educational Platform also supports other resources to help you with class abilities. This includes a Google class that provides students with course jobs and their grades. You can also use a monkey quiz and review for exercise or after-school activities. Another way to recall can help you is the translation feature. You can translate any posts on the site into some of the most commonly used languages, such as Spanish, French and Korean. This can help you understand what your students can say. It also allows you to communicate with people who can only speak a particular language. Where can you run this program? The Remind website is available through any browser. You can also use a mobile phone app that is compatible with android 4.4 or better phones, as well as iOS 10.0 and up. Is there a better alternative? A good alternative to Remind is Twiducate. A social media app that provides a private platform for both teachers and students. The app is compatible with Google Docs and YouTube. Remind fulfills its goal of providing you and your students with a social media platform for effective messaging and sharing. It also goes beyond its function with integrating other websites and platforms such as Google Docs. You can also contact international students or teachers with Remind. The only limitation of the site is the 140-character limit, which is similar to Twitter, before it doubled the character limit. Should you download it? Yes, a free account provides teachers with the tools they need to communicate and provide resources to the class. Watch videos from the Internet from YouTube for Android.
