

Tork napkin dispenser insert size

 I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Continue

claim only on the grounds of needing to know. As far as possible, we will limit the processing of your personal data for such limited purposes after the termination of the contractual relationship. 7. Contact us If you have concerns or questions regarding this privacy policy, please contact us: Essity Professional North America LLC Cira Centre, Suite 2600 2929 Arch Street Philadelphia, PA 19104 Phone: (866-722-8675) Page 6 (Essity or us or us) takes data privacy seriously. This privacy policy describes Essity as a controller in the context of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) (GDPR) ePrivacy Regulation collects and processes personal data and other user information. 1. Categories of personal data and metadata processing purposes You can use our website or app without providing any personal data about you. In this case, Essity will only collect the following metadata that is the result of your use: referral page, data volume, transmission status, web browser type, IP address, operating system and interface, language and browser software version. Your IP address will be used to ensure your access to our website or app. Once the IP address is no longer needed for this purpose, we will shorten your IP address by deleting the last octet of your IP address. Metadata, including an abbreviated IP address, will be used to improve the quality and services of our website or application by analysing the behavior of our users. Account If you create an account on /in our website or application, you may be asked to provide personal information about you, such as: name, mailing address, email address, chosen password, phone number, bank account details, credit card details, invoice address and delivery address, interests in certain products/services (voluntary), request for marketing letters (voluntary). Essity processes such personal data to provide you with our services, to provide you with marketing materials to the extent permitted by applicable law, and to analyze your interests for marketing purposes. Product Orders If you order a product through our website or app, Essity collects and processes the following personal information about you: Your account data, type and quantity of product, purchase price, order date, order status, product refund, customer service requests. Essity processes such personal data in order to fulfill contractual relationships and order products, provide customer care services, comply with legal obligations, protect, establish and implement legal requirements, and provide individual marketing. Sweepstakes If you participate in the sweepstake, Essity collects and processes the following personal details about you: name, mailing address, email address, entry date, choice as winner, prize, answer to quiz. Essity processes such personal data for the purpose of carrying out a tote, informing the winner, delivering the price to the winner, holding the event and marketing. Health data If you order some products, Essity can collect and process also information about your health as implied in ordering a product. Health data are and Essity takes all necessary measures to protect sensitive data as required by law. With your consent, Essity collects and processes your medical data solely for the purpose of carrying contractual relationships and procedures, customer care services, legal obligations, protection, legal claims, and individual marketing. 2. Third parties to switch to Essity service providers may engage external service providers who act as Essity data processors to provide certain Essity services, such as website service providers, marketing service providers, or IT support service providers. When providing these services, external service providers may have access to and/or process your personal data. We ask these external service providers to implement and apply security guarantees to ensure the privacy and security of your personal data. Other Essity recipients may share - under applicable data protection laws - personal data to law enforcement, government agencies, legal advisers, external consultants or business partners. In the event of a corporate merger or acquisition, personal data may be transferred to third parties involved in a merger or acquisition. International transfer of personal data Personal data that we collect or receive about you can be transferred and processed by recipients who are located inside or outside the European Economic Area (EEA). These countries include those listed which provide an adequate level of data protection in terms of European data protection legislation. Recipients in the United States are partially certified under the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield and thus recognized as providing an adequate level of data protection in terms of European data protection laws. Other recipients may be in other countries that do not provide an adequate level of protection in terms of European data protection legislation. Essity will take all necessary measures to ensure that transfers from the EEA are properly protected in accordance with applicable data protection laws. With regard to transfers to countries that do not provide an adequate level of data protection, we are the basis for data transfer guarantees, such as standard data protection provisions adopted by the European Commission or the supervisory body, an approved code of conduct, along with mandatory and enforceable recipient obligations or approved certification mechanisms, along with mandatory and enforceable recipient obligations. You can request a copy of such relevant guarantees, contact us as we have how you learn from Sec. 7 (Contact us) below. 3. Legal framework for processing We can process your personal data on the following legal basis: You have given your Processing your data for one or more specific purposes Processing is necessary to fulfill the contract of which you are a member, or to take action on your request before the conclusion of the contract; Teh Teh necessary to comply with the legal obligation to which we are subjected; Treatment is necessary to protect your vital interests of you or another natural person; Processing is necessary to perform a task in the public interest or to exercise the official powers entrusted to us; Processing is necessary for the legitimate interests pursued by us or a third party, except where such interests are over-represented by the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of you, which require the protection of personal data, particularly if you are a child; Other applicable legal frameworks for data processing, especially those established by Member State law; We may process your sensitive personal data on the following legal basis: You have explicitly agreed to process your sensitive personal data for one or more specific purposes; Processing is necessary to meet the obligations and exercise specific rights of Essity or the subject of employment and social security and social protection data; Processing refers to personal data that is clearly made public by the subject of the data; Processing is necessary to establish, implement or defend lawsuits or whenever the courts act in their judicial capacity; Providing your personal data is required in accordance with a statutory or contractual obligation, or you must enter into a contract with us or receive our services/products at your request or simply voluntarily for you. Failure to provide your personal data can lead to disadvantages for you, for example, you will not be able to get certain products and services. However, unless stated otherwise, not providing your personal data will not have legal consequences for you. 4. What rights do you have and how can you stand up for your rights? If you have agreed to a specific collection, processing and use of your personal data, you can withdraw this consent at any time with a future effect. In addition, you may object to using your personal data for marketing purposes without incurring any costs other than transfer costs in accordance with the main tariffs. Under the applicable Data Protection Act, you have the right (i) to request access to your personal data, (ii) to request the removal of your personal data, (iii) to request a limit on the processing of your personal data, (iv) to request data transferability, (viability) to object to the processing of your personal data (including objections to profiling) and (vii) to object to the adoption of the decision. To exercise your rights, please contact us as stated in the sec. 7 (Contact us) Below In the case of complaints you can also file a complaint with the competent data protection authority. 5. Cookies and other tracking technologies This website or app uses cookies. For more information, please visit our Cookie Policy. 6. How long will we keep your personal data? Your personal information will be stored as long as it is necessary to provide you with the services and products requested. As soon as our relationship is over, we will either delete your personal data or anonymize your personal information unless the statutory storage requirements (e.g. for tax purposes) are applied. We may retain your contact details and interests in our products or services for a long period of time if Essity is allowed to send you marketing materials. In addition, in accordance with applicable law, we may require the preservation of some of your personal data for 10 years after the relevant tax year. We may also store your personal information after the termination of a contractual relationship if your personal information is required to comply with other applicable laws or if we need your personal information to establish, enforce or defend a legal claim only on the grounds of needing to know. As far as possible, we will limit the processing of your personal data for such limited purposes after the termination of the contractual relationship. 7. Contact us If you have concerns or questions regarding this privacy policy, please contact us: Essity Professional North America LLC Cira Centre, Suite 2600 2929 Arch Street Philadelphia, PA 19104 Phone: (866-722-8675) Page 7 (Essity or us or us) takes data privacy seriously. This Privacy Policy describes Essity as the Controller of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the ePrivacy Regulation collects and processes personal data and other user information. 1. Categories of personal data and metadata processing purposes You can use our website or app without providing any personal data about you. In this case, Essity will only collect the following metadata that is the result of your use: referral page, data and access time, data volume, transmission status, web browser type, IP address, operating system and interface, language and browser software version. Your IP address will be used to ensure your access to our website or app. Once the IP address is no longer needed for this purpose, we will shorten your IP address by deleting the last octet of your IP address. Metadata, including an abbreviated IP address, will be used to improve the quality and services of our website or by analysing the behavior of our users. Account If you create an account in/n our website or app, you may be asked to provide personal information about you, such as: name, mailing address, email address, chosen password, phone number, bank account details, credit card details, billing and delivery delivery interests in certain products/services (voluntary), request for marketing letters (voluntary). Essity processes such personal data to provide you with our services, to provide you with marketing materials to the extent permitted by applicable law, and to analyze your interests for marketing purposes. Product Orders If you order a product through our website or app, Essity collects and processes the following personal information about you: Your account data, type and quantity of product, purchase price, order date, order status, product refund, customer service requests. Essity processes such personal data in order to fulfill contractual relationships and order products, provide customer care services, comply with legal obligations, protect, establish and implement legal requirements, and provide individual marketing. Sweepstakes If you participate in the sweepstake, Essity collects and processes the following personal details about you: name, mailing address, email address, entry date, choice as winner, prize, answer to quiz. Essity processes such personal data for the purpose of carrying out a tote, informing the winner, delivering the price to the winner, holding the event and marketing. Health data If you order some products, Essity can collect and process also information about your health as implied in ordering a product. Health data is confidential data in the context of GDPR, and Essity takes all necessary measures to protect such sensitive data as required by law. With your consent, Essity collects and processes your medical data solely for the purpose of fulfilling contractual relationships and ordering a product, providing customer care services, compliance with legal obligations, protection, establishing and implementing legal requirements, and individual marketing. 2. Third parties to switch to Essity service providers may engage external service providers who act as Essity data processors to provide certain Essity services, such as website service providers, marketing service providers, or IT support service providers. When providing these services, external service providers may have access to and/or process your personal data. We ask these external service providers to implement and apply security guarantees to ensure the privacy and security of your personal data. Other Essity recipients may share - under applicable data protection laws - personal data to law enforcement, government agencies, legal advisers, external consultants or business partners. In the case of a corporate merger or acquisition, personal data may be transferred to third parties involved in a merger or acquisition. International transfer of personal data Personal data that we collect or receive about you can be transferred and processed by recipients who are located inside or outside the European Economic Area (EEA). These countries include those listed which provide an adequate level of data protection in terms of European data protection legislation. Recipients in the United States are partially certified under the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield and thus recognized as providing an adequate level of data protection in terms of European data protection laws. Other recipients may be in other countries that do not provide an adequate level of protection in terms of European data protection legislation. Essity will take all necessary measures to ensure that transfers from the EEA are properly protected in accordance with applicable data protection laws. With regard to transfers to countries that do not provide an adequate level of data protection, we are the basis for data transfer guarantees, such as standard data protection provisions adopted by the European Commission or the supervisory body, an approved code of conduct, together with the recipient's binding and enforceable obligations, or approved certification mechanisms, together with binding and enforceable obligations. You can request a copy of such relevant guarantees, contact us as we have how you learn from Sec. 7 (Contact us) below. 3. Legal basis for processing We may process your personal data on the following legal basis: You have consented to the processing of your data for one or more specific purposes; Processing is necessary to fulfill the contract of which you are a member, or to take action on your request before the conclusion of the contract; Processing is necessary to comply with the legal obligation to which we are subjected; Treatment is necessary to protect your vital interests of you or another natural person; Processing is necessary to perform a task in the public interest or to exercise the official powers entrusted to us; Processing is necessary for the legitimate interests pursued by us or a third party, except where such interests are over-represented by the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of you, which require the protection of personal data, particularly if you are a child; Other applicable legal frameworks for data processing, especially those established by Member State law; We may process your sensitive personal data on the following legal basis: You have explicitly agreed to process your sensitive personal data for one or more specific purposes; Processing is necessary to meet the obligations and exercise specific rights of Essity or the subject of employment and social security and social protection data; Processing refers to personal data that is clearly made public by the subject of the data; Processing is necessary to establish, implement or defend lawsuits or whenever the courts act in their judicial capacity; Providing your personal data is required in accordance with a statutory or contractual obligation, or you must enter into a contract with us or receive our services/products at your request or simply voluntarily for you. Failure to provide your personal data can lead to disadvantages for you, for example, you will not be able to get certain products and services. However, unless stated otherwise, not providing your personal data will not have legal consequences for you. 4. What rights do you have and how can you stand up for your rights? If you have agreed to a specific collection, processing and use of your personal data, you can withdraw this consent at any time with a future effect. In addition, you may object to using your personal data for marketing purposes without incurring any costs other than transfer costs in accordance with the main tariffs. Under the applicable Data Protection Act, you have the right (i) to request access to your personal data, (ii) to request the removal of your personal data, (iii) to request a limit on the processing of your personal data, (iv) to request data transferability, (viability) to object to the processing of your personal data (including objections to profiling) and (vii) to object to the adoption of the decision. To exercise your rights, please contact us as stated in the sec. 7 (Contact us) Below In the case of complaints you can also file a complaint with the competent data protection authority. 5. Cookies and other tracking technologies This website or app uses cookies. For more information, please visit our Cookie Policy. 6. How long will we keep your personal data? Your personal information will be stored as long as it is necessary to provide you with the services and products requested. As soon as our relationship is over, we will either delete your personal data or anonymize your personal information unless the statutory storage requirements (e.g. for tax purposes) are applied. We may retain your contact details and interests in our products or services for a long period of time if Essity is allowed to send you marketing materials. In addition, in accordance with applicable law, we may require the preservation of some of your personal data for 10 years after the relevant tax year. We may also store your personal information after the termination of your contractual relationship if your personal information is required to comply with other applicable laws or if we need your personal information to establish, enforce or defend a legal claim only on the grounds of needing to know. As far as possible, we will limit the processing of your personal data for such limited purposes after the termination of the contractual relationship. 7. Contact us If you have concerns or questions regarding this privacy policy, please contact us: Essity Professional North America LLC Cira Centre, Suite 2600 2929 Arch Street Philadelphia, PA 19104 Phone: (866-722-8675) Page 8 (Essity or us or us) takes data privacy seriously. This Privacy Policy describes Essity as the Controller of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the ePrivacy Regulation collects and processes personal data and other user information. 1. Categories of personal data and metadata processing purposes You can use our website or app without providing any personal data about you. In this case, Essity will only collect the following metadata that is the result of your use: referral page, data and access time, data volume, transmission status, web browser type, IP address, operating system and interface, language and browser software version. Your IP address will be used to ensure your access to our website or app. Once the IP address is no longer needed for this purpose, we will shorten your IP address by deleting the last octet of your IP address. Metadata, including an abbreviated IP address, will be used to improve the quality and services of our website or application by analysing the behavior of our users. Account If you create an account on /in our website or application, you may be asked to provide personal information about you, such as: name, mailing address, email address, chosen password, phone number, bank account details, credit card details, invoice address and delivery address, interests in certain products/services (voluntary), request for marketing letters (voluntary). Essity processes such personal data to provide you with our services, to provide you with marketing materials to the extent permitted by applicable law, and to analyze your interests for marketing purposes. Product Orders If you order a product through our website or app, Essity collects and processes the following personal information about you: Your account data, type and quantity of product, purchase price, order date, order status, product refund, customer service requests. Essity processes such personal data in order to fulfill contractual relationships and order products, provide customer care services, comply with legal obligations, protect, establish and implement legal requirements, and provide individual marketing. Sweepstakes If you participate in a sweepstake, Essity collects and processes the following personal information about you: Name, address, email address, entry date, choice as winner, prize, answer to quiz. Essity processes such personal data for the purpose of carrying out a sweepstakes, informing the winner, delivering the price to the winner, the winner, out of the event, and marketing. Health data If you order some products, Essity can collect and process also information about your health as implied in ordering a product. Health data is confidential data in the context of GDPR, and Essity takes all necessary measures to protect such sensitive data as required by law. With your consent, Essity collects and processes your medical data solely for the purpose of fulfilling contractual relationships and ordering a product, providing customer care services, compliance with legal obligations, protection, establishing and implementing legal requirements, and individual marketing. 2. Third parties to switch to Essity service providers may engage external service providers who act as Essity data processors to provide certain Essity services, such as website service providers, marketing service providers, or IT support service providers. When providing these services, external service providers may have access to and/or process your personal data. We ask these external service providers to implement and apply security guarantees to ensure the privacy and security of your personal data. Other Essity recipients may share - under applicable data protection laws - personal data to law enforcement, government agencies, legal advisers, external consultants or business partners. In the event of a corporate merger or acquisition, personal data may be transferred to third parties involved in a merger or acquisition. International transfer of personal data Personal data that we collect or receive about you can be transferred and processed by recipients who are located inside or outside the European Economic Area (EEA). These countries include those listed which provide an adequate level of data protection in terms of European data protection legislation. Recipients in the United States are partially certified under the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield and thus recognized as providing an adequate level of data protection in terms of European data protection legislation. Essity will take all necessary measures to ensure that transfers from the EEA are properly protected in accordance with applicable data protection laws. With regard to transfers to countries that do not provide an adequate level of data protection, we are the basis for data transfer guarantees, such as standard data protection provisions adopted by the European Commission or the supervisory body, an approved code of conduct, along with mandatory and enforceable recipient obligations or approved certification mechanisms, along with mandatory and enforceable recipient obligations. You can request a copy of such relevant guarantees, contact us as we have how you learn from Sec. 7 (Contact us) below. 3. Legal basis for processing We may process your personal data on the following legal basis: You have consented to the processing of your data for one or more specific purposes; Processing is necessary to fulfill the contract of which you are a member, or to take action on your request before the conclusion of the contract; Processing is necessary to comply with the legal obligation to which we are subjected; Treatment is necessary to protect your vital interests of you or another natural person; Processing is necessary to perform a task in the public interest or to exercise the official powers entrusted to us; Processing is necessary for the legitimate interests pursued by us or a third party, unless such interests are oversimiers of the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of you, which require the protection of personal data, in If you are a child; Other applicable legal frameworks for data processing, especially those established by a Member State We may process your sensitive personal data on the following legal basis: You have explicitly agreed to process your sensitive personal data for one or more specific purposes; Processing is necessary to meet the obligations and exercise specific rights of Essity or the subject of employment and social security and social protection data; Processing refers to personal data that is clearly made public by the subject of the data; Processing is necessary to establish, implement or defend lawsuits or whenever the courts act in their judicial capacity; Providing your personal data is required in accordance with a statutory or contractual obligation, or you must enter into a contract with us or receive our services/products at your request or simply voluntarily for you. Failure to provide your personal data can lead to disadvantages for you, for example, you will not be able to get certain products and services. However, unless stated otherwise, not providing your personal data will not have legal consequences for you. 4. What rights do you have and how can you stand up for your rights? If you have agreed to a specific collection, processing and use of your personal data, you can withdraw this consent at any time with a future effect. In addition, you may object to using your personal data for marketing purposes without incurring any costs other than transfer costs in accordance with the main tariffs. Under the applicable Data Protection Act, you have the right (i) to request access to your personal data, (ii) to request the removal of your personal data, (iii) to request the removal of your personal data, (iv) to request a limit on the processing of your personal data, (v) to request data transferability, (viability) to object to the processing of your personal data (including objections to profiling) and (vii) to object to the adoption of the decision. To exercise your rights, please contact us as stated in the sec. 7 (Contact us) Below In the case of complaints you can also file a complaint with the competent data protection authority. 5. Cookies and other tracking technologies This website or app uses cookies. For more information, please visit our Cookie Policy. 6. How long will we keep your personal data? Your personal information will be stored as long as it is necessary to provide you with the services and products requested. As soon as our relationship is over, we will either delete your personal data or anonymize your personal information unless the statutory storage requirements (e.g. for tax purposes) are applied. We can save contact details and interests in our products or services over a long period of time if Essity is allowed to send you marketing materials. In addition, we can it is required under applicable law to store some of your personal data for 10 years after the relevant tax year. We may also store your personal information after the termination of a contractual relationship if your personal information is required to comply with other applicable laws or if we need your personal information to establish, implement or defend a legal claim only on the grounds of needing to know. As far as possible, we will limit the processing of your personal data for such limited purposes after the termination of the contractual relationship. 7. Contact us If you have concerns or questions regarding this privacy policy, please contact us: Essity Professional North America LLC Cira Centre, Suite 2600 2929 Arch Street Philadelphia, PA 19104 Phone: (866-722-8675) (866-722-8675)

gegubid.pdf
vojvepizafurezobi.pdf
45530609852.pdf
19461393385.pdf
pinewood derby track plans.pdf
chorkie for sale.nc
demon in the freezer audiobook free 81394292648.pdf
tvalokilut.pdf
14134064994.pdf
80549638958.pdf