Charlie B wrote a review february 2020Melbourne, Australia54 posts10 useful votes We had a great winter visit to Hawaii and decided to go here. Winter is definitely the best time to visit Wet n Wild. Basically no queues with all rides available. We prodigally took care of the premium luxury package which included transport, entrance, very good lunch, locker and good towel. There were quite a few locals and lots of staff but it wasn't crowded so you could ride whatever you want often as you wanted. You can't bring food or drinks (except water), but that's fine if you don't want to make a package. We had a lot of fun and it was one of the highlights of our visit to Hawaii, much to our surprise. ... Experience Date: December 2019Betsy wrote a review November 20195 posts2 helpful votes We had the best time to celebrate birthday weekend at Wet N Wild. The premium deluxe package includes a locker, souvenir towel, da flowrider, soft drinks throughout the day and a delicious lunch buffet which I would definitely recommend. No outdoor food or drinks allowed, check bags! Da flowrider was so fun, it was hilarious to watch your friends on it! I will definitely come back, I can't wait to spend another fun day at Wet N Wild.... Overall, the family enjoyed that it was the most important thing to me. However, I noticed a lack of land maintenance and overall we felt that land care and training was lacking. Parking was dirty and some pools were too. I also noticed it wasn't busy and just opened the walkways and the stairs were very dirty. Lots of rocks and plant debris caused our feet to hurt while climbing the stairs. Overall there were no lines to talk about when we were there which meant we got to a quick ride several times. Unfortunately for Wet N Wild we compare our cleanliness experience to dollywood water park which was spotless and packed.... This is the best way to spend a holiday on an island like HAWAII away from tourists who flock to the beach with extra fun!, if you are looking for some more water activities away from the beach, this is one for you. It's a very family run place. Children and adults can even learn to surf. All the staff are very helpful and provide great service and assistance....
