Ricky Griffin of Texas ASM University Dr. Ricky W. Griffin is An Emeritus Professor of Management and Blocker Chair of Business at Mays Business School at the University of Texas ASM. After earning his doctorate from the University of Houston in 1978, Dr. Griffin joined the Faculty of the University of Missouri for three years before moving to Texas in 1981. His research on problem design and dysfunctional work behavior has appeared in leading professional journals, including the Academy of Management Journal, the Academy of Management Review, Administrative Science quarterly and Journal of Management. He was the editor of the management journal and was chairman of the program and chairman of the organizational behavior department and chairman of the program of the Academy's Research Methods Division, chairman of the program and president of the Southwest Academy of Management, and a board member of the Southern Management Association. He is a member of the Academy of Management and the Association of Southern Management. Dr. Griffin taught organizational behavior, human resources management, management and research methods at all levels and has received several training awards. He is often the Speaker of the Executive and is the author of several widely used textbooks. Dr. Griffin was director of the Center for Human Resource Management at Texas ASM and had just returned to the faculty in May after 11 years of full-time appointment as head of the Department of Management, Executive Assistant Dean and Interim Dean. His current research interests include workplace culture, management skills development and decision-making during a crisis. I like all the end functions of the chapter, and I especially like the empirical exercises at the end of each chapter. I really like the self-esteem exercises at the end of each chapter. Students must do them every week to earn bonus points. It really helps them see how their personality and perception fit into the world of governance.
