Commemorating Justice Clarence Thomas' 54th birthday today, we are sharing some of his most memorable quotes. "We should judge people not by the color of their skin or by their religious beliefs, but by the content of their character." "We can't stop the forward movement of time, but we can expand the circle of compassion. "We must see the world as one family. And we must love one another, like God loves us." "Everyone will have their own ideas about what is right. Everyone is entitled to their own opinions, but not to their own facts." "Whether it's a university, or a high school, or a middle school, I'm just saying, you cannot use your public education system to disparage another race of people." "We must challenge — and, yes, impeach — a president who abuses his office to serve the interests of himself or those close to him." "The Constitution is not a suicide pact. And if you can't figure out how to live by its terms, then you don't deserve to be citizens of the United States." "I like ice cream. The man on the street doesn't know how a Supreme Court justice likes ice cream. Maybe not even a Supreme Court justice." "You never want a serious crisis to go to waste. And what I mean by that is an opportunity to do things you think you could not do before." "The Court doesn't tell law schools what to teach. The Court doesn't make a decision about who to hire, or what to teach, or how to evaluate our students. That's the job of the American people." "I am not a proponent of political correctness. I am a proponent of honest dialogue 520fdb1ae7
