PROFILE

Joanna is a highly experienced Senior Content Producer & Project Manager, specializing in live-action TVCs, B2C social video content marketing, live event production, large-scale campaigns, and client-direct work. She has successfully led and managed 360-degree full life-cycle creative development and execution of video productions and strategies. Her expertise includes working directly with cross-functional teams and clients in the dynamic social media space, developing and executing short and long-form advertising content for YouTube, TikTok, and Facebook, as well as short-series and promotional work for television and online consumption.

Joanna excels in lifestyle storytelling and has a strong focus on entertainment verticals, automotive, food/spirits, and women-empowerment content. Her exceptional verbal and written communication skills ensure that initiatives are delivered on time, on budget, and on strategy, both creatively and efficiently. With a meticulous eye for detail and a superior creative editorial sensibility, Joanna has proven leadership skills in both large and small organizations. She is passionate about her work and dedicated to driving brands into the future of advertising.
