

this summer, leave school year studying behind and learn by doing. For more than 25 years we've developed courses, activities, and trips that open your eyes to things new and different. You'll discover the world-renowned history and culture of the Northeast by living it. With students from 40 states and 40 countries, you'll solve problems through activities, expeditions, experimentation, and discovery. Challenge yourself on the campus of Yale University, Wellesley College, or St. Mark's School for an exciting summer of Exploration.

Toss Out the Map!

Explore uncharted territories leaving the “typical” behind. Your interests, curiosity, and instincts act as your guide toward new and different academic choices: Cinema Verite (Documentary Video Production); Playing God (Biomedical Ethics); Can I Have Fries with That? (The Sociology of Popular Culture); Zen and the Art of Sitting (Buddhism); Beams and Bridges, Columns and Cables (Structural Design); or—try Hawaiian hula dancing, visit the Guggenheim Museum, go clubbing at Toad’s Place, study CAT scans, stack the line in Ultimate Frisbee, debate immigration policies, see Broadway shows, experience the New York Stock Exchange. Request a catalog to see the rest!

Mirror, Mirror on the Wall

As learning evolves, so will you. And you can be yourself. The Explo community values the unique differences every person brings to the mix. Discover fresh ideas and new opinions by hanging out with students from the far reaches of our planet.

And all the while you’ll be tasting the college life. Rooming on Yale’s Old Campus is not only fun and exciting, it eliminates that “can I handle this?” hesitation. If you’re looking ahead to college, you can tour north-eastern campuses, prepare for SATs with Princeton Review, take seminars with visiting professors, and stop by our college fair.

Leap with Your Eyes Wide Open!

Welcome to a new way of looking at the world. At home, most of your friends think and act a lot like you because of your shared backgrounds. And that's good. But at Explo, you'll meet friends from Chicago to Shanghai, who definitely look at the world differently. And that's really good. To them, you're unique and different. . .while just being yourself. You'll teach your new friends and learn from them, without even trying.

So Much To Do. . .

Take the courses and trips you want: investigate a mock crime scene using forensic evidence to crack the case; rig and sail on Wellesley's Lake Waban; research, interview, write, and broadcast TV news; experience Boston: the Museum of Science, Blue Man Group, Six Flags and more; invent percussion instruments with kitchen utensils and Stomp Explostyle! Plus, collect protozoa, organize a fashion show, raft the Deerfield River, speak-up at a Speakout, design websites, print tee-shirts, ace your tennis serve, and swim till you prune. Send for a catalog to check out the rest!

The Explo Recipe

Take one part camp fun, add one part learning by doing, flavor with roller coasters, Red Sox games, whale watching and canoeing. . .ice it with easy-to-make friends from around the world, and chow down on the Explo experience. You (not your parents, teachers, staff members, friends, or your dog) choose what you want to learn and play. Because nobody knows what you like to do more than you. And what makes it even better. . .at Explo people get to know you for who you are. It's not about how much you know or what you can do. Don't waste a minute worrying about how you should act; spend your time thinking about new ideas, challenges, and discovery instead.

NOT Your Basic Camp Activities!

Study bugs, trade stocks, solve crimes, learn wilderness survival, try tae kwon do, race a street luge, make a movie, hip-hop dance, paint, make pottery, shoot rockets. . .okay, take a breath. . .swim, write, compute, cook, excavate artifacts. . . can you dig it? Incredible choices, too long to list, are yours for the choosing. And we didn't even mention the weekend trips! Ask for a catalog to learn about courses and weekend excursions. This is one summer you'll never forget!

parent notes

Committed educators spend all year planning each three-week session, ensuring that every child is secure, challenged, and engaged.

The health and safety of your child is our first priority. Each campus provides full access to professionally staffed health centers.

Leading undergraduate and graduate students, from many of the finest colleges in the country, staff Explo. Excited about their specific fields, they teach what they know and love with such passion and conviction, it's contagious.

senior For more than 25 years, Exploration has inspired students towards success. On the campus of Yale, your child will have access to the University's engineering, science and computer labs, drama and art schools, Sterling Memorial Library (10,000,000 volumes), and athletic fields and complexes. Our staff live on campus, and are an indispensable resource for college-bound students.

intermediate On the campus of Wellesley College, your student will make experiential choices and find the encouragement s/he needs to transition into high school fear-free and ready for anything. Students succeed at the Intermediate Program because we take them seriously in and out of the classroom. Our committed staff lives on campus and helps support, encourage, and guide your children through the world they live in. . . a world of transition.

junior At St. Mark's School, your children will make choices and feel independent. They'll investigate 250 acres of fields and ponds, but never alone. Students (especially first time sleep-aways) feel safe and at home. We foster your child's individual talents and self-expression. . . opening a new world of learning and discovery, sending them home with confidence and enthusiasm. Your biggest problem will be getting them back in the car at the Program's end!
