Dear Possibilitators,

Three amazing things are happening:

1. Archarchy Teamwork Cultures have started in the WhatsApp groups for online Rage Clubs, Fear Clubs, Study Groups, and Possibility Teams.

Participants take a Stand to differentiate between Feelings and Emotions each time they occur in their everyday life.

- When Feelings come up, the intelligence and energy is used as Conscious Feelings of anger, sadness, fear, and joy, and then they vanish as an experience in your 5 bodies.

- When Emotions come up, at first they feel like anger, sadness, fear, or joy, but they stay in your 5 bodies as an experience longer than 3 minutes, and they have other purposes...

Feelings are for handling things. Emotions are for healing things.

In the WhatsApp groups, participants make the agreement that WHENEVER someone experiences an Emotion, they choose any two other members of their Team and immediately have a call where they go through the Emotional Healing Process together, usually taking 10 to 30 minutes. This is working fantastically for people all around the world!

Providing Emotional Healing Processes for each other builds up valuable skills which can also offered to others. Participants are actually moving into authentic Adulthood and Presence!

PROCESS: A Process is a facilitated healing or transformational change experience that has a start, a middle, and an end.

A typical Process will last from 30 to 120 minutes.

This website provides hands-on nuts-and-bolts hints and procedures for navigating successful emotional healing processes as a Possibility Coach.

Almost always a Process will involve the experience and expression of Feelings or Emotions because in Possibility Management it is understood that if there is no Liquid State (in any of the 5 Bodies) then there is no change.

RE-WATCH: INNER NAVIGATING THE FALLING APART with Vera Franco and Habet Ogbamichael

It's obvious but often overlooked that between one condition and another - hopefully better - condition, there is a stage when there is no condition. It is the in-between state. Actually being in the in-between state can feel groundless. In fact, it is groundless. You can think of it as a 'Liquid State', a very accurate term if you notice the tears coming out of your eyes and the lack of a solid foundation to stand on.

Making good use of the Liquid State involves new skills, just like swimming is different from walking. In this case, the new skills include lowering your Numbness Bar, experiencing low-level feelings, clearly distinguishing one feeling from the other, and sensing the difference between feelings and emotions.

This 2-hour session is a feet-on-the-ground, hands-on-your-heart, and sounds-through-lips guided experience after which you will have new maps in your body for navigating the Liquid State.

RE-WATCH: CONFLICT ALCHEMY with Anne-Chloé Destremau and Vera Franco

Subtle conflicts are more abundant than most people think.

Each conflict is a doorway to a new possibility of co-creating if you approach it as a Conflict Alchemist.

This clear space of practice empowers you with 5 nonlinear Conflict Alchemy tools for use in everyday life.

CONFLICT TRANSFORMATION SUMMIT:

A world in which conflicts are used as transformational gateways is possible. We have seen that individuals and societies are able to overcome conflicts about our identities, relationships or structures if we nurture ways of seeing and being with conflicts that make use of upgraded human thoughtware.

We already see enough people applying understanding and abilities to navigating conflicts so that they manifest their precious underlying essence. There is a rapidly growing movement towards healthier and more regenerative cultures such as Next Culture, Archarchy.

This summit's journey invites you to set your feet on the ground in the new territory, fall apart, nurture the soils from which life emerges, seed the future with newly acquired skills and bring people with you along emerging pathways.

A TRANSFORMATIVE EDGE

Forty collaborating edgeworkers reveal their hard-earned secret tools and processes for navigating individuals and organizations along a transformational path.

This free-to-download online book is a treasure chest rich with practical resources to experiment with. You may be surprised at how easily seemingly impossible situations turn into doorways for a bright future together.
