

Your Quest-Ion

Dear Friends,

We have been researching how to proceed on Your Quest. The first surprising thing we discovered is that Your Quest is not so much about you. It is about the kind of unanswered Question you intentionally hold inside of yourself as a nuisance.

Then, wherever you go, whoever you are with, whatever you are doing, this unanswered Question inside of you creates a Meta-Conversation, a 'Meta-Life', call it a 'Meta-Necessity' if you will. Holding your unanswered Question – not in your mind, but rather deep in your belly near your Energetic Center – causes your day-to-day life to split out into two lives!

One life is your ‘ordinary life’, which carries on as usual following the Traditions, Assumptions, Conclusions, and taboos of the ordinary world, fulfilling your ordinary needs.

Directly next to your ordinary life, at the same time and in the same circumstances, appears an extraordinary parallel life, thriving on the extraordinary need to call in answers, solutions, or possibilities to satisfy the requests of your extraordinary Question.

An excellent film to watch that demonstrates the value of having this parallel life is called Secret Society from Imogen Kimmel in 2000.

The unanswered nature of the Question generates a kind of magnetic force field, an ‘ionic’ charge – functioning as a ‘Quest-lon’ – which attracts or repels opportunities, coincidences, resources, clarity, and connections for the purpose of relieving the unbalance of carrying that unanswered Question inside you.

It is delightful to explore in your Possibility Team what sort of Quest-lon you might want to be carrying around within you. For example, if your Quest-lon is unconscious, perhaps formulated something like, “How will I survive this month?” or, “Why do things never work out for me?” or, “What’s for lunch?” then these are the sorts of resources that will be pulled into your world.

“How will I survive this month?” Same as last month: barely...

“Why do things never work out for me?” I don’t know...

“What’s for lunch?” Now that is an interesting question!

But if your Team can help you refine your Quest-lon to resonate with your Path and Your Quest, then you might start encountering more extraordinary opportunities. For example, if you carry a bold Quest-lon like, “Who wants to build a Bridge-House with me?” or, “What happens next in the transformational archearchy filmscript I am writing?” or, “How can I most effectively subvert this irrelevant corporate gameworld?”, suddenly forces beyond your imagination come to your aid, and the game is afoot!

Wishing you a high adventure!
