Chad Brand taught Bible, Theology and Church History at North Greenville University for three years and at Southern Baptist Seminary for fifteen years. He is currently an associate professor of apologetics at Oklahoma Baptist and Pastors of Cumberland Manor Baptist Church in Crossville, T.N. Eric Mitchell is an associate professor of Old Testament and Archaeology and Chair of the Archaeology and Biblical Backgrounds Division of the Southwest Baptist Theological Seminary. Dr. Mitchell's research and writings focused on Old Testament narrative and biblical (Old Testament) archaeology. He is most interested in how the author of the Old Testament forms the text to convey meaning and how the combined ancient contexts of Scripture, historical event, culture and language inform the interpretation. Dr. Mitchell is the author of a literary examination of the feature satire in Mispat Hammelek I Samuel (Mellen Press) based on his thesis led by Daniel Block in Southern Seminary. He is also the co-author of the Old Testament Review 2d Edition (B and H) along with another of his doctoral professors, Paul House. Dr. Mitchell works with the SWBTS Dead Sea Scrolls project and edited a fragment of FrgDSDeut4 (Deuteronomy 12:11-14). He has now researched a commentary on the 1-2 Kings in the Kerux Kregel series aimed at whistleblowers. Dr. Mitchell also directs the archaeological project in Israel: the Tel Geser Regional Survey and is working on the publication of the results. Dr. Mitchell served as a youth minister in two churches for seven years, as a business administrator for the department's apprenticeship, and has often taught the Bible in churches for the past 25 years. He currently teaches a young adult Sunday School class at Travis Avenue Baptist Church. He was educated at Baylor University (B.B.A.), Middle America Baptist Theological Seminary (M.Div.) and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary (Ph.D.). v Packed full of new information, this book has become one of the Bible's bestselling reference tools since its publication in 1991.
