North star academy high school basketball

Image: Hill Street Studios/DigitalVision/Getty Images Basketball is the best. If you made the team in high school, you know it for a fact. It doesn't matter if you were a starter for a team that featured a future NBA star or if you're driving the bench for a small town team in the middle of nowhere, you still have to put the uniform on and play some competitive hoops, and how cool is that? We think we can tell you what position you played. Were you the brains of the team, someone calling out the plays and drafting everyone else to score? Or maybe you played on the wing and were good at either splashing three-pointers or driving hard to the rim? Every team needs someone who does the dirty work, gets boards, takes charges and blocks, were you? Or maybe you were the big man, putting low on offense and protecting the edge when you were on D. No matter what position you played, we bet it was probably pretty fun because high school hoops are just completely awesome. So answer some questions and we'll tell you if you have the floor general, a 3 and D guy, or a rim runner.
