Salve ReginaComposition for the organ of Olivier LatryThe Great Organ of Notre Dame de Paris, where the composer premiered and recorded a piece of TextHymn Salve ReginaLanguageLatinPerformed9 October 2007 (2007-10-09); Notre Dame, ParisPublishedby Gerard Billaudot (frDuration23 minutesMovements7Scoring Organ optional: voice (s) Salve Regina (Hello, Holy queen, literally: Grad, The queen) is a composition for the organ of Olivier Latry, a meditation of the Latin hymn Salve Regina. Each of the seven movements reflects one line of the hymn, which can be sung at will in a chant in front of a related movement. at Notre Dame in Paris, recorded there and published by Gerard Billaud. The story of Latry, an organist at Notre Dame in Paris, is known as an improviser. He realized the idea of commenting on the Gregorian chant of Marian's hymn by organ music first in improvisation in Lawrence at the University of Kansas in 19952 in the final concert of the church music conference. The composer performed the work for the first time in the Grand Orgue of Notre Dame on October 9, 2007 with singer Emmanuel Bouquet and Matrix Notre Dame de Paris. It was published by Gerard Billaudomo. fr. Latry recorded it along with other contemporary compositions associated with Mary. He played the U.S. premiere at St. Ignatius Loyola in New York City on April 15, 2009. Each of the seven movements reflects one line of the hymn, which can be sung in a chant before the associated movement. Singing can be performed by a female or male soloist, a shoal or a children's choir. The movement contrasts in nature. I Salve Regina - Avec la liberte du chant gr'gorien (With freedom of Gregorian chant) II Vita dulcedo - Calme (Calm) III Ad te clamamus - Martel, sauvage (Hammered, wild) IV Ad te suspiramus - Grim, unapologetic (Dark, relentless) v Eia ergo - Profond (Profound) VI Et Jesum - Comme une lente procession (How a Slow Procession) VII O clemens Work takes about 23 minutes to perform. Latry expresses various emotions from the calls to Mary, noting that more attention is paid to mood than pace. Salve Regina (Hello, The Holy queen, Mother of Mercy) has the freedom of Gregorian chants. Vita Dulcedo (Hello, our life, our sweetness and our hope) is calm. Ad te clamamus (To you we cry, poor exiled children of Eva) is an exclamation, a hammer and wild. Ad te suspiramus (To you we send forward our sighs, mourning and crying in this valley of tears) seems dark and relentless. Eia ergo (Turn then, the kindest lawyer, The Thin Eyes of Mercy to us) is profound. Et Jesum (And after this our exile, show us the blessed fruit of your womb, Jesus) is a slow procession. Last Call O clemens (O Clement, O loving, O sweet Virgin Mary) has no It all ends like bells. The composer wrote notes for the American premiere of Christians in moments of deep faith, joy, doubt, misunderstanding, despair, rebellion, hope, bliss and bliss expressed in reflections on the call to Mary. Reviewer of the november 7 presentation in Saint-Bonifatius, Wiesbaden, interpreted by Gabriel Dessauer, described the work as a wonderfully retrospective (erstowmallich ruquertsgevandt) and noted that it made the listener feel the full cosmos of humanity, including the cruelty and violence from which prayers should be released (den gesamten Cosmos de Menschlichen nachempfunden lie, einliesch'lich der Grausamkeit and Gewalt, aus der diesem). This is because the first VESPERS always happens the night before the holiday in question. (TRINITY SUNDAY is coming Sunday, so Trinity Sunday's first evening takes place on Saturday night.) Salve Regina has an obsessive Solemn tone, but most people sing a simple tone. Veronica Brandt published both versions in 2017. The Nova Organi Harmonia website has a ceremonial tone, but what about a simple tone? Here are twelve organ accompaniments you might want to explore: PDF Download version 1 (Jeff Ostrovsky) - Jeff tried to make this 2011 version as humanly as possible. Dans ses 'uvres pour orgue, Najj Hakim tire souvent son mat'riau th'matique du chant gr'gorien, thesaurus de l'glise catholique romaine, s'inscrivant ainsi dans l'esprit du Concile Vatican II. Cette nepe'dpaapnyya de l'antienne a-n Vierge. Salve Regina, est 6etr-cop-ne-tem-de-npocro-chant (row solenne). La Linier gregorynn est inchange: - elle se d'rulle lentement sur une harmonie expressive. Le texte de la pri're est soulign par le caract're recueilli, doux et paisible. In his organ works, Najj Hakim often draws his thematic material from Gregorian chants, the thesaurus of the Roman Catholic Church, located in the spirit of Vatican II. The Gregorian line has not changed; it slowly develops over expressive harmony. The text of prayer is not flooded with a meditative, gentle and peaceful nature.
