Secret neighbor apk download

Secret Neighbor is a survival horror stealth game developed by Russian video game studio Dynamic Pixel and published by TinyBuild. The object of the game is to successfully sneak into the basement of a neighbor's house to reveal the secret. The artificial intelligence of the game changes the behavior of the neighbor based on the player's past behavior, such as the player setting traps along the path that followed in the previous attempt at Secret Neighbor, and the player seems to be moving to a new house on the other side of the street from a mysterious neighbor be acting paranoid and keeping a secret in his basement. The player's job is to break into a neighbor's house and unlock his basement and solve a series of puzzles to collect the items needed to access. As players explore neighbor's houses, they must not be discovered by mysterious neighbors, or they will be cornered and captured if the player is not fast enough to hide or escape. The player can also stand out the neighbor by throwing an object at him for a simpler escape. If a player is caught, they will be sent back to their homes and will have to break in again. When starting again, the player must be more careful because the neighbor guesses the movement from the last attempt to set the trap. However, the player can turn on friendly neighbor mode using the game settings, prevent neighbors from setting these traps and are not too aggressive in his pursuit. The game is played from a first-person perspective, and players must aim at the reticle on a specific object in order to manipulate a specific object or to throw or use an item that is currently held. Up to four items can be stored in the inventory space. Items of the same type can't be stacked together in a single slot. U.S. Theo Doi Chung Toy Chú Game Secret Neighbor Secret Neighbor is a multiplayer social horror game set in Hello Neighbor Universe. A group of children try to sneak into their creepy neighbor's house. The event of the game will take place between the first and second acts of the original Hello Neighbor game. Six players are sneaking into the house and trying to get into the locked basement door - just to recognize that one of them is a disguised neighbor. As a neighbor, you choose from several classes and use everything in your power to prevent intruders from succeeding. At first you're disguised, and it's up to you to earn the trust of other players, pull out the group, and go missing. Your weapon consists of useful gadgets such as bear traps, secret control rooms, smoke bombs, and many more. The best player in the game is to convince a group of people that someone else is a neighbor. It feels like a scene in The Thing where characters test each other who the traitor is.
