How to pack a punch ascension

Original updated Black Ops III Tank Dempsey, Nikolai Belinski, Takeo Masaki, Edward Richtofen November 6, 1963 (Original chronology) survive as long as possible against the boundless waves of the undead Free Gersh zombie_cosmodrome (Black Ops) zm_cosmodrome (Black Ops III) Resurrected dead overtook the Soviet Cosmodrome and all hell broke. The countdown to the zombie apocalypse has begun. - Description of the Level/Mission Briefing Ascension is the eighth zombie map in general and is available in Call of Duty: Black Ops and Call of Duty: Black Ops III. First released in the First Strike card package for Call of Duty: Black Ops, the map takes place at an abandoned Soviet cosmodrome in the Soviet Union. The map introduces some new components into zombie mode, including Space Monkeys, which replace Hellhounds from previous maps, and the first Easter egg quest. A remastered version of the map is available in the mapping zombie Chronicles package for Call of Duty: Black Ops III, along with seven other classic maps. Content show ReviewElit Ultimis crew went to the Soviet Cosmodrome in 1963 from the group 935 to the Cinema facility through a lunar lander to restore The Richtofen's diary. The group also needs to free a Soviet scholar from the Ascension Group named Gersh from the Kazimir Mechanism, along with the fact that they must face boundless hordes of the undead as they continue their journey. GameplayEdit Among the new additions to the zombie mode are two Wonder Guns, Gersh's Device and Matreshka Dolls (replacing monkey bombs). Double Tap Root Beer does not appear, but two new privileges are introduced: PhD Flopper and Stamin-Up (in the remastered version in Black Ops III, Widow's Wine replaces the PhD Flopper, and the Der WunderFizz machine is added to include Double Tap Root Beer 2.0 and Deadshot Daiquiri, as they are not physical machines in the cards). A new enemy, Space Monkeys, also appear on this map, replacing the Hellhounds and Pentagon Thief. A new Power-Up bottle, Random Perk Bottle is also available. WeaponsEdit PC Code Weapons Add a Photo to this Gallery PerksEdit New PerksEdit Ascension features two new perks as costing 2,000 points. However, Double Tap Root Beer does not make an appearance in the original map in Black Ops. Each player can only have four perks at a time, except for already having four and getting a random Perk Bottle to receive all five (now six) perks immediately as seen here. Main article: PhD Flopper PhD Flopper; located outside near the launch pad D Lunar Lander (only version of Black Ops), which has shrapnel grenades. This enthralled force the player to create a small nuclear when immersed in the exposed. A nuclear bomb will only take effect if the dive in the exposed usually hurts the player (almost nothing above the flat ground). Also, landing right on the zombies, neutralizes the effect effect A nuclear bomb kills all nearby zombies up to the 1920s. In addition, the player cannot take any fall damage and is not immune from any explosive damage inflicted on the player, including ray gun's burst of damage, damage when the launcher or Mustang and Sally fired too close (e.g. M72 LAW, or Lake China), shrapnel grenades, and Matryoshka Dolls. The player can still take explosive damage after the space monkey throws back the grenade. The player can also overcook his own grenade without getting hurt. PhD Flopper Theme Home article: Stamin-Up Stamin-Up; is located next to the AK-74u, to another launch pad of the Lunar lander. This weighting gives the player an increased speed of movement and the duration of the sprint, both marathon and light. Since Ascension is a fairly large map, it is more useful than one might think, especially during Space Monkey rounds, where the player may have to reach the Perk-a-Cola machine that was attacked. It can also benefit the player when running away from zombies. This is even more useful in Call of the Dead. Stamin-Up Theme DoorsEdit Centrifuga Floor 1 - Door (750) Centrifuga Floor 2 - Door (750) Staircase Floor 3 / Base Level - Door (1250) Lunar Lander B0) Lunar Lander F. - Access Door (1250) Pack-A-Punch Access Gate (1250) Power Room Door (1000) Power Room Gate (1250) Pack-a-Punch Machine Room to access Pack-a-Machine Punch, all landing pads of lunar landing modules must be used. After the player has driven all three back to the centrifuge, the player can activate the rocket by pressing the button to the right of the power switch. After the rocket has taken off, a large door hiding the launch pad will open and the Pack-a-Punch machine will be on the right. It costs 5000 points as usual. Unlike Kino der Toten, players can stay in the Pack-a-Punch room as long as they want. There are two barricades out there to make camping harder. In addition, if a player shoots a missile and blows it up, Double Points will appear in this room. The Easter Eggs Three teddy bears holding sickles are located around the map. Activating them all causes a song called Abracadavr Elena Sigman to play. Location of teddy bears: Centrifuga number. When the player climbs the stairs, turn right, and at the end of this track is the first bear. Next to the lunar lander, the gate closest to Stamin-Up is located. Under the red star is a teddy bear. Near the lunar lander past Speed Cola, there is a teddy bear sitting on top of the wall. There are matryoshka dolls of characters scattered all over the level. They will say something to the player when the action button is pressed, depending on who the player is. Each of Matreshka's dolls can be found in the places below: the doll tank on top of the flaming barrels right to the left of the Nicholas's doll is at the top of the shelf right to the left of Speed Cola. Takeo doll is on the shelf right to the left of the PhD Flopper. The Richtofen doll is in a room right under The Stakeout, and can be found on a large table in the corner. There are three red phones similar to the ones in the Five scattered all over the map. When these phones respond, you can hear a line that is made by a character from the Five. These phones will not ring until a specific event occurs. Once they answered, they won't call again. To answer, the player must use the calling phone (this can be done by holding usage while the phone is in the players' crosshairs). Treiarch confirmed that The Five and Ascension occur simultaneously, meaning the heroes of The Five were somehow able to name the heroes of Ascension, chasing away zombies. Phone location: To the left of the lunar lander in the centrifuge room, between several fuse boxes. To make this phone ring, either the musical Easter egg must be activated or the player must receive ten kills (only in Solo). When responding, President Kennedy can be heard saying: Need beans for chowder here!, as well as dry shooting from an empty gun. He said that in five when he ran out of ammo. To the left of the power switch, through the chain fence, down the stairs, turn right to the left of the Mystery Box spawn point. This phone rings during a fire sale. When responding, the player hears Nixon firing a weapon (FN FAL) and howling like a wolf. He did it at five when he killed several zombies. Located to the right of PhD Flopper/Widow's Wine. This phone rings when the player receives Ray Gun from the mystery box. In response, the player hears Fidel Castro say: Come to me, the revolution dies without Fidel Castro. He said it at five when he was hit. In the remake of Call of Duty: Black Ops III, the quotes are replaced by quotes from Ultimis characters when they are trapped outside the door in Call of the Dead. A pair of car batteries found under the stairwell in the centrifuge/spawning room has a Cyrillic inscription written all over the front. If transliterated, it will read Groyaku It is probably a reference to the 90 second Death Machines players get to complete the Kazimir mechanism. (They're 'spark' engraved in them) Strangely, as used by q, when this letter is only used in Macedonian. The batteries should speak to zenith, since the zenith is equivalent to the z. This translates as a charge, which makes sense, since it is a battery. When a missile is launched, you can destroy it with a high-uh explosive gun such as Ray Gun or China Lake. If it is destroyed, it will be under it. Casimir MechanismEdit Home article: Kazimir Mechanism Man speaking at the beginning of Gersh and actually gives players a mission to complete the node puzzle to repair the Kazimir mechanism. Once the mechanism is restored, players will receive a Death Machine that lasts 90 seconds (and will also receive all the perks on the card in the remastered version of Black Ops III). This serves as the main Easter egg card and requires four players to complete. Call of Duty: Black Ops III Edit remastered version of Ascension is available on Call of Duty: Black Ops III if the player has purchased a package of zombie Chronicle cards. The map was designed to look very high quality while maintaining the look of the original. Differences include new better zombie artificial intelligence, and futuristic Black Ops III-era weapons now available in Mystery Box and Walls instead of Cold War weapons (although some are back in the field), as well as original wonder weapons. In addition, Ray Gun Mark II can now be obtained from a mysterious box. The characters revisited the Ultimis version of Tank Dempsey, Nikolai Belinsky, Takeo Masaki and Edward Richtofen. It's part of the main body. It may also indicate that the Pentagon was originally connected to the spaceport through this teleport, but was never completed. On the Ascension loading screen, the shadows of the three rockets form the number 115, a reference to element 115. There are several storage tanks outside the map. They're written on them. In Ukrainian it translates as Infected and Control-Dosimetry point child. A control dosimeter is a device used to measure background radiation in a given area. The update changed the image of the map to look statically filled and slightly distorted, as if viewing it from a bad reception TV. The characters got a visual update with this map looking over beat and covered in blood, with Richtofen also having a completely different outfit. Everything the player sees is in black and white until the force is turned on. Ascension initially started development much more than the finished product. Ascension's poster shows Dempsey's Tank holding a Wunderwaffe DG-2 while Takeo Masaki holds a winter howe. However, none of them can be obtained during the gameplay. It was believed that the bald man on the First Strike poster was Richtofen, but it has since been confirmed by Jason Blundell during an interview that it is not Richtofen. In a remastered version, he showed through Dr. Monty that the bald man in the poster is indeed Gersh. Although Der Wunderfizz is available in the Black Ops III edition of the card, it will only issue Double Tap and Deadshot Daiquiri. Once the player has purchased both, the machine cannot interact with.
