When we hear our favorite artists sing lyrics that we find relatable, it strikes a nerve somewhere deep within us! Even science has proven that music changes the way our brains operate. It activates our gray matter in a way that is still not fully understood. We're not talking about songs that make you think of your ex, or songs that remind you of a good time in college. We're talking about a song that sums you up better than your own mother could. We're talking about the song that paints your portrait and the way you live your life. A song that can never be written about anyone else! With an untold number of songs out there that might, sort of, kind of describe you, it's hard to know which one is really your own song. This quiz is designed to help you navigate music for decades to determine exactly which songs are written about you and just you! Get out of your earbuds because you'll be listening to them for the rest of the day! PERSONALITY Which Famous Song Is Written About You? Bob Marley sang these famous words in his hit song Trench Town Rock from his 1976 album, Rastaman Vibration. Since then, the phrase has been quoted and repeated by many as an expression of the power of music. The right song can change our lives, that is because it can so powerfully capture ordinary moments. Songs have been written about achievements in professional life, memorable fun with friends, and other memories that form the foundation of our life experiences. Hit songs need to follow a musical formula so that they can be consumed and convey the message. Some songs have infectious electric guitar riffs - Seven Nation Army from The White Stripes comes to mind. Others are known for having choirs that you can't help but sing along to. Have you heard of Wonderwall and not being drunk out of restraint? But the most important part of a song is what it writes. When we know the subject of the song, we know its essence. Step right into this quiz, and we'll tell you which songs are written about you. You might even get an interesting choir! Lyndel Rhodes, a 92-year-old Lexington, Tennessee native and mother of famed music producer Buddy Cannon, was recently thrilled to hear Willie Nelson himself sing a song he wrote called Little House on the Hill, according to People. Her son captured the sweet and emotional moment when he heard the country music icon crooning his lyrics in a video he shared on YouTube. Lyndel wrote a song about his home in the town where he lived for 60 years. She was inspired to pen country songs when she drove from Lexington to Nashville to visit her son many years ago – and now that song will be on Willie Nelson's upcoming album! About a month ago, his son recorded the song and sent a demo to Willie. He responded within 15 minutes saying he liked the song, Buddy told People. He's like, 'Let's get it on tape!' After the song was produced, Buddy went home to visit his mother and played Willie's version for him. He's very excited about the whole situation. This content is imported from Facebook. It's a very personal song, so he's very happy to hear it done right, Buddy said. He can't stop smiling and his legs won't stop writhing! To be able to see my mother's face when she heard it was amazing. Hundreds of people took to Twitter, posting photos of themselves dressed as red-headed strangers from past Halloweens. In his post, Willie also connected to his online store, where he sold a hand-braided Willie Nelson wig for $14.99. If you're hoping to catch one for your Halloween costume this year, act fast! The fake braids quickly sold out after Willie posted about them on Facebook, although they were recently restocked. WillieNelson.com But just in case the online store sells out again, you can always look into this amazing Willie Nelson wig that's available on Etsy for $49. Alternatively, you can skip Willie's costume and take some inspiration from this little girl, and go as our other favorite country music icon, Dolly Dolly Country singer Emily Ann Roberts recently posted a video of her boyfriend's niece, 4-year-old Peyton Graham, wearing a homemade 'many color coat' while performing her best Dolly impression, guitar and everything.
