ANBIMA CPA-20 is very important for those who want to become a bank manager. First, it is worth understanding what ANBIMA is. It is an acronym for the Brazilian Association of Financial and Capital Markets, better known as ANBIMA, is an association that acts on behalf of investment products distribution agencies. Such as banks with investment products, qualified investors with distribution of products, managers, investment funds, securities brokers, securities, distributors and administrators. CPA-20 (ANBIMA Professional Certification - Series 20) certifies professionals who perform activities in bank branches or service platforms when selling investment products. Or in servicing portfolios in high-income retail segments, private banking, corporate and institutional investors. If you want to become a bank manager, you need CPA-20 because it is the one that allows you to become a bank manager. When I told my story, I talked about how you should start thinking and acting as a manager before becoming one. Therefore, try to act and take on the duties of the manager, as well as get certificates that managers should facilitate this professional transition. Therefore, having an ANBIMA CPA-20 certification is one of the most important steps for you to be prepared when growth opportunities arise. In fact, it is important to note that by receiving the CPA-20, you can automatically perform all activities covered by the CPA-10. The CPA-20 is an advanced investment certification that can bring a good zest to the banking program. If you have a CPA-20, your chances of being called up to work at the bank increase significantly. In the vast majority of banks, the ANBIMA CPA-20 is a mandatory certification for managers, especially PF and low-income managers. Now, for senior management positions, you need a more advanced certification than the CPA-20, meaning you need an ANBIMA CEA. ANBIMA CEA is a certification that makes you an investment specialist. If you work at a bank and get a CEA, it shows that you have ambitions such as becoming a PJ manager, a high-income manager or even a general manager. 2.2. Technical differences test CPA-20 has 60 questions, testing time 2h30 and current registration value for members: R$429.00 and unrelated: R$514.00. The CEA test has 70 questions, a proof time of 3h30 and the current registration cost for members R$717.00 and unrelated: R$860.00. The contents of the CPA-20 exam include: National Financial System; Investment principles; Principles of economics and finance; Ethics; Preventing money laundering, managing an investment portfolio; Investment funds and fixed income products and variable income and derivatives. The CEA test has the same themes as the CPA-20, and only one module, which is investment planning. But the content of the test is much more complex and deeper. You can even use the HP12c calculator on the day of the CEA test and no calculations are charged on CPA-20. To get an ANBIMA CPA-20 certificate, you must study the items and take the test. But don't worry, I'll give you all the exam information. And help you prepare to move from the top and not waste time or money. There are no restrictions or prerequisites for passing the certification exam. For example, no schooling, position or connection with any institution is required. So, just access the ANBIMA website, sign up, pay for a sick or credit card and schedule an exam. As I mentioned above, who applies this ANBIMA exam yourself and you can sign up for the test through the association's website as soon as you feel ready. The CPA-20 exam lasts 2h30min and has 60 questions. At least 42 questions must be answered for approval, i.e. 70% of the test. The exam is being held at FGV testing centres throughout Brazil. As well as on the membership site you can see the exact days, time and location of the test. To study: Check the contents of the CPA-20 Exam Value exam: for participants: R$429.00 and unrelated: R$514.00, for each attempt. Partners: if you work for a company that has a connection with Anbima. Want more? Get a free, optimized story summary for CPA-20. Care!! Did you know that over 50% of people don't test because they use ineffective teaching methods, or try to learn alone? So be very careful not to lose money. Have you ever imagined having to pay hundreds of reais to sign up again? Warning: The failure rate in the test is high because many people do not know how to learn or try to learn alone, and ultimately failed. Instead of making these mistakes, I You follow my advice below in this article. ANBIMA CPA-20 is that certification that will take you away from the bank's original positions such as cashier, assistant manager. And it will allow you to give great flights to the bank such as PF manager, PF High Income manager, in some cases even PJ manager. That is, it is a certification that requires you to invest in yourself about R$1,000.00 as long as a good course that guarantees your approval, more enrollment in certification, so then you earn about R$4000.00 or more in your salary each month. Now you invest about R$1,000.00 and then earn R$4,000.00, or even more, each month. WHAT INVESTMENT DO YOU APPLY ONCE R$1000 TO EACH MONTH R$4000? Fortunately, today's college and graduate school is something that more and more people can get started and finish. So unfortunately even with big investments in time and money for you to make your college, probably all your competitors will also be at the same level. However, certificates, with much less investment, are even rarer than colleges. And so it can even bring much more significant returns. Often with the potential to more than double your salary. Based on approximate salary in state banks: Clerk R$3,000.00 - no need for assistant certification: R$5,000.00 - only with ANBIMA CPA-10 PF Manager : R$9,000.00 - only with ANBIMA CPA-20 PJ Manager: R$12.00.00 - only with ANBIMA CE Should Be Estimated Investment, In Time and Cash, important lines in the bank or banking correspondent's training program. Follow: University: R$24,000.00 and 4 years after graduation: R$24,000.00 and 2 years Certification: R$1,000.00 and 10 days Here we already see as investments, both in time and in money, certification mocking close to other investments much more common in the quarry. Watch the video to understand: Thinking about learning the handout for ANBIMA CPA-20 certification? DON'T DO IT, DON'T DO IT! Handout is actually a less effective method that exists to study financial certificates, since the method is already boring, so the cold letter handout brings a lot more difficulty for you to focus on. Below I have tips to help you learn much faster and safer for your certification! According to the ANBIMA report, about 40% of people do not pass the ANBIMA CPA-20 certification exam. That is, for every 10 people who passed the exam, only 6 will be approved. In this article I will talk about the main mistakes that people make in their studies, and how you will avoid them to pass the exam first and be part of the group Let's go to bugs and tips: 1. Learning in too long when you overspace your research, you have a great chance to forget many parts of the content studied on the day of the test, besides being unmotivated and spending a lot of time. I know how worried the bank is, and how often it is difficult to find the time and energy to study. There are so many things to do! That's why I always point out a simple online course that you study in just 10 days, about 2 and a half hours a day. In this way, you greatly reduce the chances of forgetting subjects other than saving time and feeling more motivated to study. I WANT TO BE OK (A) FAST! We, bankers, already have a busy routine with many hours of work and often we have little time and energy to study. The Apostle does not make you enjoy your time studying properly, because in addition to using only one feeling (your vision), this is something that relates to the content in a boring and complex way. Thus, learning more effective methods such as an easy-to-understand online course where you will find it much easier to stay focused and actually learn. So forget about that super free handout online. 3. Complicate research Although the content contains some somewhat more complex topics, what the FACT ANBIMA requires for the examination of the contents of the day-to-day bank work. That is, many people end up doing too many learning problems, using, for example, boring handouts and training with super qualified teachers. Remember: DO NOT use handouts for study, as they are an ineffective method of research. My advice: Simple. Bring all the knowledge you need for day-to-day situations, learning techniques that keep your attention, such as interactive video tutorials. Additional advice: If you're having trouble on one or two topics, just skip them. Once 70% or 100%, you will get the same certification. Don't get stuck in the hard parts of the case! Viewing the content you're learning is important in your research. But you have to do it right. In a simple online course, for example, I recommend that you do an intelligent review of the module you've studied before you start the next one. The easiest and fastest way to do this review is stories through Mind Maps that optimize resumes that generate connections in your head and make you record the content studied. You can get our Mind Cards for free by clicking here. 5. Having a passive attitude when studying this advice will make you virtually fail the evidence. Many people attend a class, or read a handout page, and just because they've read or watched that content, they think they've already and that they will remember that content during the test. This passive attitude in the study leads to the fact that many people fail the ANBIMA CPA-20 exam. Learn actively! When watching a video lesson or tackling exercise, imagine that you need to teach that content to someone in the next 24 hours, and look for a friend to teach the subject (or even teach yourself in the mirror!) for example, deciding exercise justifies why it is the right answer, and why other answers are wrong. You can also create your own mind maps. Do you have any questions about an ANBIMA CPA-20? Talk to your consultant via WhatsApp and ask your questions now! Financial certificates are essential for your career as a banker. But in order to pass the ANBIMA CPA-20 exam first, you need to be ready, as 49% of candidates do not cope. So I'll show you why the preparatory course for the anbima CPA-20 exam claims banking is called a simple online course. There are 5 reasons: 1. Forget handouts handouts are the least effective method of learning, and ultimately hinders your learning. Here we use uncomplicated mind cards that are intelligent optimized resumes that condense over several pages of all exam content.
