Business accounting and finance catherine gowthorpe pdf

Kathryn Owthorpe BA FCA is a chartered accountant with more than thirty years of experience as a teacher and researcher in higher education. She is currently an expert in one of the UK's leading professional accounting bodies. It has published many articles on accounting and related areas, such as auditing and professional ethics. Business accounting and finance for non-graduate professionals are designed for students of accounting and finance in the first year of this subject. It conducts a lively and extensive survey of the basic principles of financial, financial accounting and management accounting. The unique approach taken in the first section of the book is to look at small and medium-sized business organizations and their role in the economy? how they are created, the factors of their success and failure, and how they are the source of funds for expansion. This leads to a discussion of the role of financial markets and their need for financial information. Sections 2 and 3 then give a report on the financial and management accounting principles, respectively. The text is clearly written, and the technical jargon is minimal - clearly explaining any technical terms and being granted a glossary of terms. The book does not represent the timing of double entry of accounting at an early stage? students can progress through the book without double entry. Illustrative case studies and references to real business examples are used to bring technical information to life. Business accounting and finance for non-singers includes a large number of well-worked examples to give students valuable practice in using their new skills. Other pedagogical elements include goals and learning outcomes, resumes, case studies with questions and solutions, individual learning activities, self-in-chief questions with answers presented in the book, and exercises - answers that are shared between the Lecturer's book and guide/site.
