Fearless cooking from a tiny kitchen in New York City.

Tell Me More

The Smitten Kitchen is a 14 year-old food blog celebrating triumphant but unfussy cooking. It wants to be the place you go to find your new favorite thing to cook. Physically, the Smitten Kitchen is a kind of half galley with a wobbly, peeling cart used as a cooking surface. What it lacks in cabinets, a dishwasher that doesn't leak and refrigerator that doesn't freeze everything in the back, it makes up for in streams of light from the door on the side that goes to [drumroll] a terrace, where I attempt — with varying degrees of success failure — to grow tomatoes, herbs and whatever other mystery seeds my kids find at the playground and stick in the soil.

Nakasoft is the leading developer and publisher of PC utilities. It all started with a web browser that was a simple, fast, and easy to use. This web browser is now also available as a smartphone app. This browser gives you a way to navigate the World Wide Web and it also can send and receive mail. It's completely free and available to all. You can enjoy your surfing experience with many nice web browsers. But the browser on your smartphone may be different. If you like to surf the Internet from your smartphone and you need a browser to work fast, easy to use, and to find the information you want on the Web, you can download the Browser Simulator for your Android phone. You can test your browser in different browser settings and try out your favorite browsers. Browser Simulator makes it very easy to switch between different web browsers. There is no need to uninstall or reinstall the whole browser or install a new browser. You can also test how your browser works with different browser settings, like HTML5 or javascript. Browser Simulator is free to download from the Google Play store. Please note that Browser Simulator is an app that mimics browser behavior. It does not actually open web pages. Don't open this app if you want to visit a specific URL, you'll need to use your real browser. If you have any questions or want to report a bug or a new feature request, please visit the Browser Simulator forum on our forum or on Google Groups. Our forum can be found here: We are constantly adding new features and working on bug fixes. We appreciate your support and hope you enjoy our app. To get the latest news, visit our blog here: This is an easy to use and lightweight app for creating iOS and Android alarm clock screensavers.
