Doterra cost per drop 2020

What is the price of doTERRA per drop? DoTERRA essential oils may seem expensive when you first start looking at them. After all, they can cost more than your favorite pair of jeans just for a small bottle. But what you should consider is that essential oils are concentrated. One drop goes a long way. And a lot of small drops are placed in a small bottle of essential oils, so eventually make the doTERRA price per drop a lot less than you think. Also, not only doTERRA essential oils are concentrated, they contain nothing more in the bottle with them. Unlike many other essential oil companies, there are no fillers or additives added in with essential oils. Aren't essential oils expensive? Most people believe that they spend much less on health care when they start using essential oils. Why? Because essential oils are so powerful. One drop goes a long way, and each bottle lasts a long time. The oils are highly concentrated, which makes it a good thing, then you really don't need many drops when using them. You can also dilute it with the oil carrier, and that makes the bottle go a long way and it works just as well as undiluted oil. Another reason they are available is that they work. This means that you don't even spend a ton of money on supplements of this kind of work, but not quite. The chart below shows the cost per drop at the wholesale price, but that doesn't even include other ways to save, as with the monthly order you get up to 30% in free product points and can qualify for the free product of the month. Also, every few months DOTERRA has a special where you can get even more free oils. View the price list for all essential oils doTERRA View catalog products doTERRA To calculate the price per drop for the item not on the chart below, I will use copaiba as an example. Take the wholesale cost of $35 divided into 250 drops per 15 ml bottle. This gives you a price for a drop of 14 cents. True, if you look at the kit, it looks expensive, but when you share it, the updated 2019 DOTERRA essential oils price per drop ends up being very inexpensive. I use 2-3 drops per application, maybe 4-5 in my diffuser, even smaller than the roller bottle app. There are 250 drops in a 15 ml bottle, there are 150 drops in 10 ml roll-on. There are 80 drops in 5 ml. This means that ... doTERRA essential oils price for falling literally a penny per dose. Below, I've listed all and every oil that doTERRA sells (some just seasonally, plus one that is no longer available for purchase), including their retail and wholesale prices. DoTERRA essential oils price per drop is extremely important if you want to convince your spouse or family member that this is, in fact, a cost effective way to help your family feel better. DoTERRA Difference I recommend only one brand of essential oils: doTERRA essential oils. Please please don't use these tips and tricks with any other brand (it's not safe and you won't get the benefits you'll get from them). Because there is no regulation in the essential oil market, you have to do your research. After performing mine, I chose doTERRA essential oils for our family. To find out why, check out my blog about the Certified Pure Therapeutic Class essential oils. If you want to purchase this oil at retail value, you can do it here. However, if you want to purchase them at a wholesale price (think Costco or Sam's), check out this post on how to get memberships to pay 25% less than you might otherwise!
