Compared to previous editions, this edition focuses on teaching students to think like organizational behavior experts by providing them with the basic materials and expertise they need to become effective, experienced managers and good staff. The following improvements have thus been made: evaluations and debriefing have been amended to accelerate the development of expertise by emphasizing the recognition of the patterns and texts it evokes. Two new chapters have been added — decoding human behavior, chapter four, and creativity, chapter 12. The focus has even been on intercultural issues. A major revision has been made in each chapter, with the results of recent research, new information on companies and, in some chapters, new processes added.
