You understand how difficult it is for families to stay away from their inmates, and it's important to familiarize yourself with the basics of visiting inmates before planning a visit, as each facility has specific rules that you should follow. All visitors must be pre-approved; Your prisoner must put it on the pre-approved guest list for you to visit them, which is subsequently reviewed by the penitentiary. When considering approval, correctional facilities analyze many factors, as all formalities need to be done. Many facilities limit the number of visitors, so prisoners have to reduce the list of potential All correctional facilities have their own set of rules that you need to follow. You are expected to follow the rules of prison, no matter how arbitrary they appear, when you visit. O O you plan to visit should be able to advise you visiting hours for that prison, however, it is always a good idea to call the prison first to ensure that visitation is allowed and whether potential visitors are approved or not. After the visitor is approved by the penitentiary, they need to check with their inmate on what days they can visit. All prisoners are searched before and after any visit due to security reasons. Families visiting their inmates must abide by the prison dress code in particular, otherwise they may be refused visitation. All visitors must present a valid photo ID, issued by the government, and pigeonly also introduced video visitation to connect families and inmates when it becomes difficult for them to visit, you need to first schedule a visit and have it approved by the premises of your prisoner, while signing up with pigeonly video visitation your prisoner will be just a click away. Before visiting your prisoner check all the rules you need to follow. You can find an inmate at the Shawnee County Detention Center, using Pigeon Inmate Search if you need help before visiting.
