

HONEY HEAD FILMS

WOMEN IN MEDIA ON A MISSION

COMPANY BIO

Honey Head is an award-winning production company founded by Kristi Ray and Erika Edwards in 2016 to address the lack of authentic storytelling and female representation in media - both in front of and behind the lens. Their counter-culture attitude combined with a daring sense of initiative has opened unconventional doors for these self-taught women. Two visionary creatives with a passion for the giving back, Honey Head has become a brand. A mission. A movement. Committed to creating unique, cinematic content while empowering female filmmakers and connecting the community at large to level the playing field for underrepresented crew, cast and characters in the industry. With women holding key roles of cinematographer, director, writer, producer and editor, their work has inspired others and garnered unmatched support.
