This map is part of a larger map of the world created by the Central Intelligence Agency using Robinson's projection. In addition, we have a CIA world map that can also be downloaded as a large PDF document. Check out the terrain of the continent with this physical map of Europe. At a glance, you can see many mountain ranges: for example, the Pyrenees, the Alps, the Carpathians and the Scandinavian mountains. The Ural Mountains in Russia, along with the Caucasus Mountains between Russia and Georgia/Azerbaijan, are two mountain ranges that serve as physical landmarks showing where Eastern Europe meets West Asia. Google Earth is a free program from Google that allows you to explore satellite images showing the cities and landscapes of Europe and the rest of the world in fantastic detail. It works on a desktop computer, tablet or mobile phone. The images in many areas are detailed enough that you can see houses, vehicles and even people on the city street. Google Earth is free and easy to use. Europe is one of 7 continents illustrated on our Blue Ocean Laminated World Map. This map shows a combination of political and physical features. It includes the country's borders, major cities, major mountains in shaded terrain, the depth of the ocean in the blue gradient, among many other features. This is a great map for students, schools, offices and anywhere that a good world map is needed for education, display or decor. If you are interested in the geography of Europe, our large laminated map of Europe may be exactly what you need. This is a large political map of Europe, which also shows many of the physical features of the continent in color or shaded relief. Major lakes, rivers, cities, roads, borders, lines and surrounding islands are shown on the map. Europe is a continent located north of Africa and west of Asia. Borders the Atlantic Ocean to the west north by the Arctic Ocean and in the south by the Mediterranean Sea.
