The screenshot shows the web3d consortium website. The header includes the logo "web3d CONSORTIUM" and the tagline "Open Standards for Real-Time 3D Communication". A navigation menu contains links for Home, X3D Documentation, X3D Markets, News & Events, Membership, and Contact. The main content area is titled "VRML Archives" and contains several sections:

- VRML Archives: A general introduction stating that X3D is the enhanced successor to VRML, but VRML97 specifications and tools remain useful.
- VRML97 Functional specification and VRML97 External Authoring Interface (EAI) International Standard ISO/IEC 14772-1:1997 and ISO/IEC 14772-2:2002: A link to the specifications.
- VRML Viewers, Utilities & Applications: A link to a list of applications ranging from viewers to developer tools.
- VRML Public Email list: Information about the mailing list, including instructions on how to subscribe and unsubscribe.
- VRML Public Email list Archives: Information on how to retrieve archives from 2004 onwards and from 1995-2002.
- comp.lang.vrml - VRML Usenet News Group: A link to a Usenet group for VRML discussion.
- Tutorials and Books for learning VRML: A link to a collection of tutorials.
- VRML Objects, Sounds, & Textures: A link to a list of resources for VRML97 projects.

On the right side of the page, there is a search box and a section navigation menu with links to "VRML97 Specification" and "VRML Applications & Tools".
