Top positive reviewTo have been positive reviews from Jennifer Wilson5.0 out of 5 starsToy obsessed with this Cocoa! Reviewed in the United States on June 17, 2019 I love these things! First of all, for all that is superfood, organic and natural resource ingredients, and I think it tastes amazing. It is not a super sweet chocolate, it tastes like dark chocolate (yummmm), with hints of cinnamon and turmeric. I don't notice any strange aftertaste. Just a rich, black chocolate.... Sky. I have it every morning, either mixed in my coffee with decaffeinated milk, or I do it with water and add some almond milk or skim milk. Sometimes I'll add Sweet Leaf Organic Stevia, but I also love it without any added candy. It actually makes me smile every time I drink it, it's so good! It also gives me energy without the nervous side affecting too much caffeine. I used to get a Starbucks Mocha almost every day, and this has taken its place, which has saved me money. I highly recommend it. And if you go directly to your site, you can order in bulk and reduce the cost significantly per can. Cocoa Bliss IngredientsCacao Bliss is a danette May chocolate-flavored superfood powder supplement that can be added to any diet to enhance your well-being. Evergreen, CO, November 14, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Cacao Bliss is a chocolate-flavored superfood supplement that can be added to any diet to improve your well-being. This formula is not intended to induce weight loss, but would be effective if combined with any other diet. What is Cacao Bliss? Chocolate is one of the best favorite flavors of almost anyone in the country. This silky, creamy flavor has become a popular flavor for ice cream, cakes, cosmetics and more. As many sugar-filled treats as there are with this flavor, some people are still surprised to learn that it used to be healthy. A new Danette May product aims to make it healthy again. Cocoa Bliss helps users create a delicious chocolate drink that they can enjoy every day without packing in extra pounds. As sweet as you know, the ingredients make it incredibly low in sugar, making it an ideal formula for individuals with blood sugar problems as well. The thick texture is reminiscent of a good smoothie or a homemade hot chocolate. It can even be added to the coffee to turn a simple beer into a rich superfood. Danette May created this remedy, and has spent more than a decade as a professional fitness expert and nutritionist. With this remedy, the creator states that users will eliminate their excessive cravings for food, reducing their need to enjoy snacks and unhealthy meals. What are Bliss Cocoa Ingredients? Cacao Bliss stands out because a proprietary mixture that other formulas do not provide. This blend of ingredients provides users with a healthy and nutritious way to enjoy the many benefits of sugar-free chocolate that candy companies To her. It is indeterminate how much of each ingredient is included, however, each can make a difference. Cocoa Happiness Ingredients include:Organic Cocoa Bean PowderOrganic Coconut Nectar PowderOrganic Cocoa BeanOrganic turmeric rootHimalayan Sea SaltOrganic Cinnamon Bark PowderOrganic Monk Fruit ExtractOrganic Lucuma Fruit PowderOrganic Mesquite Pods PowderOrganic Black PepperLet's take a look at this formula to learn more about the ingredients involved.Organic Cocoa Bean PowderThe main ingredient found in this remedy is grain powder. Organic cocoa bean powder has been linked to decreased blood pressure and improvements in blood flow, mainly benefiting the heart and brain. The use of this powder has also been linked to a lower risk of diabetes as it improves the body's response to insulin.Organic Coconut Nectar PowderOrganic Coconut Nectar Powder is a rich source of amino acids, and contains an abundant dose of vitamins and minerals to support better health. It is often found in formulas that add sweeteners as it lowers the glycemic index of foods. Inherently, it helps the body consume less sugar without sacrificing sweetness.Organic Cocoa BeanA although most people recognize organic cocoa beans from cakes, brownies, and other baked goods, it has an impressive variety of health benefits. Since it promotes better levels of nitric oxide, it reduces the user's blood pressure, decreasing the risk of heat-related damage to the body such as strokes or heart attacks. It can also reduce symptoms associated with depression. Organic turmeric rootThe most popular use of organic turmeric root is to reduce inflammation, but it has many other benefits. Providing antioxidant support reduces the risk of cancer and can soothe skin problems. Himalayan Sea Salt is known for improving sleep quality, blood sugar levels, and even libido. Some research suggests that it may help people heal from respiratory diseases, while others suggest that it may positively affect pH levels. Cinnamon chemicals have a positive effect on blood sugar levels, working similarly to insulin. Other uses for cinnamon include soothing gas and spasms reduction.Organic Monk fruit extractLike other ingredients on the list, organic monk fruit extract can reduce inflammation, and is often used to relieve sore throat. It also supports levels Organic Lucuma Fruit PowderOrganic Lucuma Fruit Powder regulates blood sugar levels with lots of antioxidants. This ingredient also supports the heart, although it is mainly found in supplements. Still, consumers who want to get nutrients from the source can buy fruit Mesquite Pods PowderOrganic Mesquite Pods Powder provides the user with a lot of healthy vitamins and minerals. It's one of the many ingredients that offer a bit of sweetness, but it doesn't increase sugar levels. Instead, it helps the user's blood sugar levels remain stable, promoting a more satisfied appetite. Organic black pepper Black pepper may seem like a foreign ingredient to include in a chocolate supplement, but it's not necessarily for the taste. This extract has been linked to improvements in the bioavailability of all ingredients. It helps make the formula more easily accepted by the body, allowing it to survive through the digestive system as it is absorbed. Cocoa Bliss IngredientsBuy Cocoa BlissThe only way consumers can buy Cocoa Bliss is through the official website, which offers some different packages. Choose from:A bag for $53.95Three bags for $149.95Five bags for $199.95 Users can subscribe to the one-time package for a lower price, although all options specifically come at a price for a single order. Frequently Asked Questions about Cocoa Bliss Can Cocoa Bliss be used safely with medicines? While this product is made with many natural ingredients, consumers who currently take medications should speak with their doctor before integrating any supplements, whether it is Cocoa Bliss or something else. Any user who has complications with their purchase can get a refund. What is the best number of bags to order? Each person requires something different. The number of packages to order would depend on how often the user wants to consume Cacao Bliss in other recipes or while drinking is intended for. The company recommends stocking enough of the bags that won't run out, and they offer an incentive by reducing the price as the package increases in quantity. How long will Cocoa Bliss users have to take before seeing a change in their bodies? Most users begin to experience improvements within the first part. Most people see a significant change within three weeks of use if they eat a healthy diet. However, each person is different, so some users may see a difference much earlier than others. Will users lose weight when consuming Cacao Bliss? If the user combines the supplement with a healthy diet, they may see improvements in their weight, but that is not the primary purpose. The purpose of this formula instead is to put the user in a better mental place for healthier habits in general. Weight loss is only an additional benefit. How many tablespoons of Bliss Cocoa should be consumed daily? That depends entirely on the user. consumers will use it only once a day, while others will integrate it into various meals and treats to continuously support it. This is not a weight loss supplement, but it is a healthy alternative to many other foods that consumers may be currently eating. Currently, you can decide at any time of the day to use Cocoa Bliss as there is not enough caffeine even to affect the user's sleep towards the end of the day. How many portions are in each package? Each package contains 30 portions, which means that users who only take one portion a day will be able to pass all month before they need to order a new supply. For any other questions, customers can call 855-221-1588 or email support@mindfulhealthlife.com.Final ThoughtsCacao Bliss allows consumers to enjoy a flavor they love, making it a healthy option that promotes improvements. The remedy works with any diet, although one is not obliged to make a difference. With the proprietary blend, consumers are not aware of the concentration of any of the ingredients, so it's hard to say what benefits they'll reap. However, many of the ingredients help reduce blood sugar levels and inflammation with each part. Story.KissPR.comAttachmentsCacao-Bliss-01Cacao_Bliss_ReviewsU.S. President Donald Trump has signed a bill calling for the downing of foreign companies that do not adhere to the same accounting transparency standards that securities regulators impose on U.S. public companies. Why It Matters: The Foreign Business Responsibility Act aims at Chinese companies and garnered strong bipartisan support in the U.S. Congress before reaching Trump's desk. The law says the drop could occur if a given company does not comply with audit inspections three years in a row. The Chinese government does not allow the board to conduct audit inspections of Chinese companies listed in the United States. Audit inspections are conducted at other companies listed in the United States by the Public Company's Accounting Oversight Board, established after accounting scandals such as the one exploited by Enron in the early 2000s. Chinese companies listed in the United States have been awarded in financial scandals in the past -- including Luckin Coffee Inc - ADR (OTC: LKNCY) this year, leading to an elimination of Nasdaq list. Sixteen Chinese companies have desaed since February 2019, according to a government report in October. Carson Block, which has become a short-sales star through its investigations into Chinese companies, has called for the elimination of Chinese companies, telling Bloomberg last month: This is China and the promotion of Chinese stocks, a manipulation fraud machine laughing in front of the SEC. What's next: Markets now any news about the specific registration. The bill could affect 217 Chinese companies, including popular stocks such as Alibaba Group Holding Ltd - ADR (NYSE: BABA), JD. Com Inc (NASDAQ: JD), Nio Inc - ADR (NYSE: NIO), Xpeng Inc - ADR (NYSE: XPEV) and Li Auto Inc. (NASDAQ: LI). But due to the three-year compliance schedule on the spot, the lists of de-elections may not be imminent. But the bank might expect its forecasts to do better than in 2020.Hedge fund investor Ray Dalio has tweeted about the death of his 42-year-old son, killed this week in a car accident. The group offers good appreciation potential, while providing some down protection if the stock market falters in 2021.Traders waiting for a better time to enter bank stocks may have gotten one. What happened: The U.S. Federal Reserve Board issued a statement after markets closed Friday clearing the way for major banks to restart share buybacks. The decision was part of the Fed's stress tests of banks amid the economic uncertainty of the pandemic. The board, seeing healthy capital reserves among banks, approved the 33 companies it tested, while allowing them to restart limited share buybacks. Those purchases had previously stopped at the pandemic. Why it matters: Although they haven't done it wrong, bank stocks haven't benefited from both the 2020 bull market and other industries. The decision could change this in the new year, as share buybacks add support to stock prices by boosting demand. According to Bloomberg, six largest U.S. banks could re-buy up to $11 billion in the first quarter of next year. Commercial action: The Fed announcement came at 4:30 EST on Friday. Investor Business DiaryThe stock market rally is healthy without leading tech titans. Nike and JPMorgan are ready to jump on Monday. Tesla joins the S&P 500.Sometimes, following a leader makes the best investment strategy. And corporate experts have long been popular leaders to follow. Its combination of shareholder responsibility and access to information under the hood about its companies gives your personal investment options an air of authority. The most important thing about these experts is that whatever else they do, they are expected to shepherd their companies to profitability. Shareholders want a return on investment, the Board of Directors want responsibility and the company's executives are in the hands of both standards. Therefore, when they start buying their own company's shares, it is a sign that investors should investigate further. Government regulators, in an effort to level informational playing conditions, have demanded that experts regularly publish their stock transactions, making it a simple matter for investors to follow them. Even better, TipRanks collects the information on the Insiders Hot Stocks page and provides tools and data filters to easily navigate through raw data. We've chosen three stocks with recent informational purchases to show how data works for you. Del Taco Restaurants (TACO)We will start with the popular Del Taco, the California-based taco chain. Del Taco has a market capitalization of $344 million, more than 600 restaurants, and a loyal fan base, giving it a solid foundation in the fast food franchise market. Most of the company's locations are west of the Mississippi, but the company has been making raids in the east of the United States. Like many traffic-dependent businesses, on which they depend on traffic, the slirthing has had a difficult year. The coronavirus crisis had dampened traffic, social and economic blockade policies have reduced revenue streams. However, the company has begun to recover. After heavy net losses earlier this year, EPS has returned to positive figures, and revenue in the third quarter, 120 increased by more than 15% sequentially. The share price, which fell by two-thirds at the height of last winter's economic crisis, has recovered its losses. TACO now trades 17% for the year. Experts have access to an action or bearish. The most recent purchase, which helps tilt the needle of feeling in positive territory, is from Board member Eileen Aptman, who bought 88,952 shares, bombing more than $650,000. Wedbush analyst Nick Setyan covers Del Taco, and outperform (i.e. Buy). His $13 shows the extent of his confidence, indicating room for upward growth of 40%. (To view Setyan's history, click here) Supporting his position, Setyan wrote: We believe that TACO's current assessment is based on an overly pessimistic assessment of its medium- and long-term foundations in a post-COVID QSR environment... Even with what we believe to be comp conservatives, unit growth, and margin assumptions through 2022, we estimated 12% ePS growth in 2022. We estimate that 1% of incremental comp would equal $0.04-0.06 in incremental EPS and every 10 bps of incremental margin equals $0.01 in incremental EPS in our model. Overall, there is little street action heading to Del Taco right now, with only one other analyst singing with a view of the actions. An additional retention rating means TACO qualifies as a moderate purchase. The average price target is $11, and implies a potential advantage of 19%. (See TACO share analysis in TipRanks) CuriosityStream (CUR)Next up is CuriosityStream, an online video streaming channel in the educational segment. CuriosityStream specializes in factual video content and offers subscription services. The channel claims more than 13 million subscribers worldwide. Its founder, John Hendricks, gained fame for the first time by creating Discovery Channel, a similarly themed cable television channel, in 1985.CuriosityStream is new to public markets, having gone out into intellectual property earlier this year through a merger with Software Acquisition, a special purpose acquisition company (SPAC) formed as a 'blank check- company to make the deal. No wonder experts make big purchases on new stocks, but movements on CuriosityStream deserve note. John Hendricks made three major purchases earlier this month, buying blocks of 15,473 shares, 26,000 shares and 11,684 shares in a four-day period. Hendricks paid $473,561 for the new shares. Covering B. Riley's actions, analyst Zack Silver wrote: We see CURI so well positioned to capitalize on the burgeoning global streaming market by establishing itself as the leading factual programmer for the post-party television era. CURI's subscription video-on-demand (SVOD) service differs not only by the large volume of selected fact titles available on the platform, but also by its attractive price... we hope that CURI's strategy of monetizing its content across multiple revenue streams will enable a more efficient path to scale... Silver rates the action of a purchase, and its goal $16 price involves 40% of a year up. (To view Silver history, click here) CURI has a consensus rating for Moderate Buy analyst based on 2 recent reviews about Buy. The average price target is $14, suggesting that this stock has room to grow 23% from the current trading price of $11.50. (See CURI share analysis in TipRanks) Allegheny Technologies (ATI)Last but not least it is Technologies, a metallurgical company based in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Allegheny has two business segments: High Performance Materials and Components, which specializes in titanium and nickel-based alloys, and Advanced Alloys & Solutions, which includes stainless and special steels, electric steels, duplex alloys and zirconium, hafnium and niobium alloys. The company's metal technology is used in the electrical industry, automotive, aerospace and oil and gas production. Allegheny's income and stock have dropped this year, as the company has been hit by the crown crisis. Disruptions to supply chains, distribution networks, and customer orders have had a negative impact, as have social and economic closure policies. Quarterly revenue has fallen by 37%, from $955 million in the first quarter to $598 million in the third quarter. Shares have fallen by 21% to date. All of this would seem to make ATI a poor stock choice, but the company has used the time to retrain wisely, and reorient its production models. Benchmark analyst Josh Sullivan noted this when he took his stance earlier this month from Neutral to Buy. Wrote: We are upgrading ATI to Buy from Hold after the planned departure of the Stainless Steel Company. This movement alters ATI's historical risk profile by eliminating the most volatile vertical... Separation with ATI's stainless steel heritage has been a target of highly coveted investors; exit now also allows ATI to avoid maintenance and possible inventory over-construction during the recovery phase. In addition, Sullivan notes that the business in the aerospace sector will likely recover soon, providing a blessing for Allegheny; with the return to 737-MAX service, upward pressure on Airbus A320 production, and hand-vaccinated vaccines, the more focused aerospace ATI core will directly correlate with aerodynamic recovery. Sullivan's purchase rating comes with a $21 price target that involves room for 27% growth over the next 12 months. (To view Sullivan's history, click here) Returning to internal operations, we found that the company's CFO and SVP, Donald Newman, bought 12,500 shares this month, paying more than $210K for the block. Its total share is now 80,042 shares, valued at $1.3 million. All in all, Allegheny gets a moderate purchase consensus rating, based on a uniform split between 4 reviews, 2 purchases and 2 withholdings. Shares are priced at $16.32 and the average price target of $18.25 implies upward potential of 12%. analysis of ATI stocks in TipRanks) To find good ideas for stock trading at attractive valuations, visit TipRanks' Best Shares to Buy, a newly launched tool that brings all tipranks equity ideas to a whole. These think SoBak pros in 2017, Tilson said bitcoin was showing signs of a classic market bubble. One of the biggest red flags at the time was the kind of investors who were asking questions about bitcoin. Tilson noted that bitcoin investors in 2017 were among the least knowledgeable investors imaginable. This time, Tilson said many more investors and conventional companies are involved in the bitcoin rally, suggesting that the 2020 profits may be more likely to hold. How to play: While 2021 can't bring another bitcoin bubble like 2018 bursting, Tilson is still not recommending investors buy bitcoin. I would never short-cut back from any cryptocurrency, ironically, for the same reason I would never have one: there is no intrinsic value, Tilson said. With no intrinsic value, Tilson said the price of bitcoin could literally go anywhere from $100 to $1 million and anywhere in between. Tilson said it's never a good idea to shorten an open situation like that, but there's nothing to support bitcoin valuation down either. In short, I think you'll lead a happier, more prosperous life if you avoid cryptocurrencies altogether, Tilson said. We take Benzginga: Stocks, bonds, real estate and even gold have long and well-established investment performance records, but bitcoin and other cryptocurrencies have only existed for just over a decade. The supply of a cryptocurrency is fixed, does not have the intrinsic value of a stock or a plot of real estate, and does not have the return of a bond or certificate of deposit. With these retail investors chasing the capital rally along with institutional professionals, the S&P 500 is trading with a multiple of sales of about 16% above the 2000 peak. Everything's going up. A Goldman Sachs basket of Russell 3000 has increased by about 40% this quarter, three times the largest rate. High beta stocks are close to their highest against low volatility since 2011.Every time the Russell 2000 has increased by more than 95% in its run, it has gone on to lose money in the next three months, according to SentimentTrader. He has now been charged at approximately 100% since his March low. Options FrenzyBullish retail investors have immersed the the complex world of derivative derivatives never before this year. In the last 20 days, a record average of approximately 22 million call contracts have been traded every day on U.S. exchanges. Choe's put-call relationship has fallen nearly a decade low -- a sign that traders have rarely been so hellish in pursuing up in individual stocks. ManiaAnimal's spirits of fusion in corporate boardrooms are another infamous sign of a top of the market. This quarter is lousying to be the strongest for trading activity since 2016 after a record third quarter. S&P Global Inc. purchasing IHS Markit Ltd. and Advanced Micro Devices Inc. taking control of Xilinx Inc. are among the blockbusters. With the increase in corporate cash balances in recent years and the volume of transactions as a percentage of market value still below a long-term average, recent activity may be just the beginning. Europe joins the IPO market of InEven Europe, which is much smaller in size than the US market and less accustomed to the big pops of the first day, it is becoming bananas. Among the 44 companies listed on european stock exchanges since November 9 -- the day-to-day news of a coronavirus vaccine deciphered a run of bulls in equities -- the average earnings have been 16%, according to data collected by Bloomberg. About 70% of them are trading above their IPO price. Given the increased stock valuation, IPO is once again a viable exit route for sponsors, said Darrell Uden, ECM's global co-boss at RBC Capital Markets.Credit ReboundIn a world of nearly $18 trillion of negative-yield debt, investors have been forced to parade risky corporate bonds in record valuations. In the United States, junk bond yields have fallen well below the levels at which high-grade borrowers could issue earlier this year. Even Carnival Corp., the fallen cruiser operator, has progressively cut funding premiums this year. The negative return corporate debt arsenal now stands at more than $3 trillion. Emerging marketsNaturally their boom times for emerging market nations that sell more than $730 billion in dollars and euro bonds in 2020, more than in any previous year. Even with political turmoil, Peru sold the lowest-century bonds in the history of a developing economy government. Ivory Coast at euro-denominated debt prices with a lower return than last year, despite its participation in a G20 debt relief initiative and an ongoing programme of the Fund International. Bitcoin's stance BackTo, the increase of more than 200% of Bitcoin this year in a wave of new money shows that the crypto time has come. For many on Wall Street, it's just the last sign of irrational exuberance. We see it and other cryptocurrencies as 'digital tulips'. We have no way to value them, Yardeni Research analysts, including Ed Yardeni, wrote in a note. We see bitcoin price action as an indicator of speculative excesses. Its volatility is a difficult pill to swallow for most, but the likes of JPMorgan Chase & Co. and Nomura Holdings Inc. have observed from family offices to those who follow the trend. The virtual currency is surfing a wave of speculation over long-term assets, from solar power to Tesla Inc. stocks, as investors seek a stake in tomorrow's technology -- valuations will be condemned.
