Take a deep breath, and think back to high school dance and try and remember what they like. Anyone who is pre-teen might remember the slow dance of awkwardness, peaks a new tank from the mall, and scream along with every word of pop-radio hits. Songs from the late '90s and early 2000s may seem like memory far now, but at the time, many of them were iconic. Looking back at that era, there's definitely some song lyrics that you forget completely exist until now. Each and for a while one of these songs will be played, in a clothing store or on a radio or on an ironic party playlist, and those words will take you back to that middle school auditorium. Several genres thrived in the late '90s and early teaching, and both decades are periods of growth for alt-rock, rap and hip-hop, and pop music. While some of the more popular songs don't exactly reinvent the genre or experiment in a new way, they're definitely fun. Whether it's Anna Nalick's soft rock or one of Enrique Inglesias's slow dance staples, you might forget some of these songs. There is no time like now to hear again and remember the lyrics that, for better or worse, shape your teenage years. 1 Outrageous Little, Too late - JoJoLong before Taylor Swift declared that she never got back together with the former, JoJo was waiting for a pop break-up hits. Every seventh-placer definitely hears this one after the middle of school breaks down, which everyone knows means no longer sitting together in a cafeteria or group dates for a movie. Things were tough at the time. Unforgettable lyrics: I'll say this now/Chance you've come and gone / And you know / It's just too little, too late / A little too long / And I can't wait for 2Hanya Girls – Click FiveAtlantic Records on YouTubeIf you forget, the interest in the love of protagonists in this song runs at 100 evidences therefore, she is still aspiring after all these years. It's everywhere from the movie's opening credits to the background of your 2000 fave television show, and even now it's a hard song to escape. Unforgettable lyrics: Closing time/Turning on the lights on each boy and every girl/closing time/One last call for alcohol so finish whiskey or your beer/ Closing the time / You have to go home but you can't stay here /I know who I want to take me home. 4Big Girls Don't Cry - the song FergieThis, which is one of Fergie's first post-Black Eyed Peas tracks, is a slow dance staple.
