This fly trap is favored by reviewers for its quantity and effectiveness in catching a lot of flying insect species. Starbar Fly Terminator Pro can catch up to 35,000 flies, horse flies, deer flies and mosquitoes before it must participate. This is a serious fly trap that is designed to be used outdoors. It has a strong smell that can be uncomfortable to pets and small children who can get close to it. Install it close to where you have most problems, such as by a back door or in the corner of a small yard. Just don't rest it close to a wall, or it will fill with cockroaches and other creepy crawlies that are attracted by its significant smell. Spending money on a fly trap is not usually a top priority. That's why this top pick has so many stellar reviews-it can remove up to 20,000 flies, is sanitary, and comes at a bargain of a price. Just hang these traps in your backyard, add water, and watch them flock to this appealing. No toxins are used in this, so they are safe around pets and children, but they produce a strong smell. When the trap is full just sew it (without coming into contact with the dead flies) and you are done. What more can you ask for? Attractive and efficient, the FlyFix Fruit Trap looks great on your tabletop while clearing your indoor space of these small germ carriers. It's available in four colors that can fit into your home as you attract fruit flies through a narrow funnel and into the FlyFix hollow core. The small globe uses a small piece of fruit of its choice and some water under its crystal-like top to lure flying pests. Lock it in place and set it out to rid your rooms of fluttering fruit flies. It can rest nicely in a bowl of fruit to grab fruit flies at their home base or placed neatly on a kitchen countertop. FlyFix comes in a three-pack of jewel-toned colored balls so you can spread them around the home to catch any creatures that have traveled beyond the kitchen. Victor Fly Magnet is a tidy container that uses a non-toxic bait to lure flies under its tent lid and into the depths of its glass chamber. The flies are drowning in the jar, which can accommodate hundreds of winged insects. Bees and wasps are repulsed by the smell of this compact outdoor fly trap, too. Small and white, the Victor Fly Magnet Fly Trap is relatively harmless in its style, so it can be tucked behind a plant on a table or put on a porch under a chair to keep flies from ruining your outdoor experience. Bait squares are made from dehydrated food-grade products and you will need to cover them in water to activate the trap. When the jar is full of flies, which should take at least a week for typical Environments. When it's full, you just want to stitch the content Activate another bait square. Catchmaster Clear Window Traps are non-toxic and easy to install. They come in a handy four pack and stick to any glass, wood, metal or plastic surface. They work best in windows that naturally attract flies of all species. The sticky fabric is laced with a fragrant lure that flies can't resist. When the clear rectangle of the film is full of fruit and house flies, gently pull it away from the window and replace with a fresh one. The sticky fabric left from the glue is easily removed with a swipe of alcohol. If you have a serious fly problem outdoors this trap is the one for you. Perfect for barns, houses with chickens, and more this trap can house thousands of flies and does not need to be changed in 30 days. Like most traps on this list, it's pesticide free and you don't have to touch any of the dead flies for when you throw it out. Reviewers give this top marks to eradicate serious fly problems in a short time. One reviewer commented that their dog liked the smell of the attraction, so be sure to hang it out of reach of children and pets. The days of high pops and electric snaps as flying insects fall to their deaths at the bottom of a bulky electric bug zapper are over. Discreet, sleek and attractive, this indoor and small outdoor device lures small flying insects into its sticky chamber never to be heard from again. Hoont Wall Sconce Sticky Fly Trap Killer quietly attracts flies, mosquitoes and fruit flies with its UV light and scented glue board. The limb boards attached to the inside of this machine can be easily removed and replaced every week or as needed. Reviewers bought this for its non-toxic, odourless pest control, which took care of flies as well as winged beetles, mosquitoes and other small airborne pests in small spaces. Biting horse, deer and yellow flies can destroy a backyard barbecue or make working in the yard a painful experience. Bug Ball baits those biting bugs to their sticky death. The 18-inch ball is made of PVC and slathered with a non-toxic formula that is designed to lure large, biting insect animals. The bullets are weatherproof. Critics found that the buoyancy ball stood up to strong winds and rain when secured properly and continued to attract horseflies and other winged insect animals. The downside is that the ball requires some work to set up. It comes with needles to inflate the ball as well as a suction cup and loop for hanging. The smelly liquid that lures the horse or yellow flies that you need to coat the ball with is sold separately. When it is bloated, apply lure, such as Tangle Trap Sticky Coating. Users like that they can use their own bait on the Bug Ball, but it works best with viscous commercial food-grade fly bait than DIY bait, which can be considerably thinner.
