If the figure has half a red heart or no red hearts after damage is done, it triggers the necronomicon effect and injures all enemies in the room. Allows entry to the darkroom after beating the devil ripe by touching the chest. Comments[Edit | Edit Source] This item is a guaranteed drop from mom alongside Polaroid, provided they're unlocked. However, they are mutually exclusive: once one of them is collected, the other will disappear. With the use of a teleportation item or 5 Pip Dice room or forget about me now, either Polaroid and the multiple negative copies or copies of Polaroid or negative can be obtained. The negative always triggers when taking damage like characters that don't have heart containers, such as azazelle (by default), ??? (Permanently), or any other character who has chosen to trade her heart containers in deals with the devil, the black markets, or with the foot of my body or potato peeler. The negative would be the right item after defeating Mom, in case the curse of the blind is active. Two negatives can be achieved by obtaining one as a Eden Start item. Obtaining multiple copies of the negative does not cause its effect to stack up. [Edit | Edit Source] Trivia [Edit | Editing Source] Negative allows access to the darkroom, which is also the name of a room used to develop images (darkroom). Negative is a piece of film that was used to take a picture but was not developed into a finished picture. Negative has inverted shades as well as reverse lightness. However, due to the immediate nature of a Polaroid versus a regular film, it was generally impossible to see the negative of Polaroid and a dark room would not be required to develop such a film, which questions its relationship to Polaroid. However, this could probably explain the fact that the two items cannot be collected together in a run (unless forget about me now or the 5-pip Dice Room is used). But to my surprise the negative never goes down? I've had it with Isaac before, with both Negative and Polaroid coming down at the same time. They both drop the same time with all the other characters but not Isaac. I tried googled it, but I couldn't find anything. I play Nintendo Switch. Am I missing something or is it a glitch?
