Many of its features are based on WordPress most popular features, but you can still use them to your advantage. Customizr has a large number of features and plugins, this is why I've made this list and highlighted the ones that are useful for you as a blogger.

1. Custom Header Custom header features are very useful for bloggers who like to attract visitors and get their name to be famous. You can use your logo or other graphics and customize them to match your blog's theme and colour. This is my personal favourite feature and it's recommended to use a custom header to get more organic traffic.
2. Custom Post Type The Custom Post Type features allow you to create custom post types and make your WordPress site search-engine friendly. This will improve your website's usability and get more visitors. You can use it for events, audio content, polls, businesses, reviews, courses, courses, and even an online store, and you can even brand them to your company.
3. Custom Breadcrumbs Breadcrumbs are important in WordPress because it is part of your navigation bar and is responsible for directing visitors to certain parts of your website. The breadcrumbs can be used to present the location of your site as well as to present information on your site or blog page, so you can make use of it in a number of ways.
4. Custom Quick-Views If you love to view posts quickly on your blog, the Quick-Views is a great feature for you. This will allow you to view posts directly without leaving the page and the full text will be displayed.
5. Custom Slider When people see the word "slider" they instantly think of visual effects, especially on websites that have a large amount of content. The WordPress Customizer Pro comes with a slider feature and you can use it to your advantage. You can use it to display the latest posts, collections of videos, audio or audio posts, or any post type you choose.
6. Custom Sort By If you have a lot of posts on your blog, the Custom Sort By feature allows you to specify the order of your posts by the criteria you choose. You can list them by category, title, date, date published, or custom category as well. It's useful in order to categorize your posts
